SECOND WORLD WAR LOOMS IN BOLSHEVIK PERIL

'HARRY DIDN'T KNOW!' WEEPS ACCUSED WIFE

Devotion to Husband Led Her to Life of Evil to Obtain Money for His Education, Says Young Mrs. Ruth Bell

"I Told Him I Was Working in Restaurant," She Says; Used Her Earnings to Send Her Spouse to University

A girl's great love for her young husband and her ambition to secure for him the education which would place him in the seats of the powerful, was her undoing, according to the story which Mrs. Ruth Bell, wife of Henry E. Bell, University of California student, related before United States Commissioner Thomas E. Hayden this morning. All of the tale was not told and tomorrow the narrative will be resumed. In the meantime Sergeant Hinphill will investigate the veracity of what the weeping woman declared today.

"Harry did not know that the money I gave him came from my living a life that I should not," asserted Mrs. Bell, whose plans had failed so woefully, when on Wednesday night she was arrested by Police Officers Fahey and Connelly at the York hotel, 530 Thirteenth street, on a charge of violating the federal vice regulations.

TOLD HIM SHE WAS WORKING IN RESTAURANT

"Harry wanted to finish his studies as a mechanical engineer," she explained, "and we were poor. I told him I was working in a restaurant and he believed me. All the money that I earned I gave to him to put him through his course.

"My wife must have done these things while I was attending my classes," commented young Bell. "I really believed she was working in a restaurant."

Bell himself is held for the department of justice. He came into court this morning to tell how he was taking the course which would prepare him for a position as marine engineer with the Shipping Board.

"I left the Hall-Scott plant at the beginning of the machinists' strike on January 17 to enter the university," he said. "Before that I was employed at the Moore & Scott yard as a riveter's helper."

HAD TO HAVE HIS CHANCE," HER DEFENSE

"Harry had to have his chance," defiantly declared his wife. "It was the only way I could give it to him."

The pretty home of the couple was at 2811 Seventh street, West Berkeley.

Mrs. Bell solicited an operative of the bureau and accompanied him to the Thirteenth-street address. She gave the name of Ruth Arbeiter at the police station, where she was booked. Mrs. Bell admitted that she was married and said that she was residing at the Clay Ten. She is said to have confessed that her husband had knowledge of the life she was leading. The following day Bell was placed under arrest on the charge of having knowledge of his wife's means of livelihood from which he accepted money.

Two Men Love Same Woman Sixteen Years

CONSTANCE CRAWLEY

Constance Crawley Center of Unique Romance

How two men may love one woman and how even the beloved woman may love each man and yet harmony prevail in the Eternal Triangle has been revealed in the romantic story of the late Constance Crawley, beloved by both J. S. Crawley and Arthur Maude. Constance Crawley a few years ago was an idol in the bay cities when she came with her troupe of artists in "Everyman," her Shakespearean revivals, her "Pelleas and Melisande." Society crowded to welcome her in the Greek Theater and once in the gardens of Mrs. Henry Wetherbee for charity's sake she brought her company to present "As You Like It." She was one of the first to give her plays under the skies in sylvan spots, which were adapted to them.

But now Constance Crawley is dead after seven years of desperate ill health and the story of how well two men loved her, sacrificing themselves to "make her dreams come true," came to light today in despatches from Los Angeles. Arthur Maude will never appear on the speaking stage again, the death of Miss Crawley ending his career as an actor. Crawley has not said what he will do. With a service identical in detail to that which was held a year ago for their daughter, Miss Bere Crawley, the woman about whom their passions circled has been laid to her rest.

LOVED HUSBAND'S CHARACTER.

When Maude returned from South Africa to London, sixteen years ago, he met Miss Crawley. Miss Crawley was star in "The Second in Command." Her husband was in the cast. Maude was one of the stage managers.

"She loved Crawley for his beautiful character," explains Maude. "She loved me for my strength of purpose and capacity to care for her and aid her in creating the career which was her life's ambition." This is the way the unique story is told by Maude:

"Crawley agreed during that season to relinquish the management of Miss Crawley to me in order that those plays she wished to produce could be produced. We both took this course because of our love for her and I use the word 'love' in its highest sense—that of devoted sacrifice and beauty of service.

NO WORD OF DIFFERENCE.

"In all these years there has not been the slightest word of difference between the three of us. Many times Crawley has played in our productions. He is now staying in Miss Crawley's home. Fortunately I had the resources to care for her and largely, if not cure, at least control and diminish her sufferings of the past seven years. Both Crawley and myself felt that all we must do was to render service to the woman whom I believe had the greatest soul in the world. We saw no necessity to take the public into our confidence. We believed that she could not live if she did not realize her aspirations and we determined to make her dreams come true."

Maude has won distinction from the British Government for the work which he has accomplished with the British Mission in securing enlistments in this country. Three times he was refused active service at the front by Colonel J. S. Dennis, second in command of the British Commission to the United States. The refusal was confirmed by Brigadier-General W. A. White, G. O. C., of the British Mission, who acknowledged that he was more needed in the recruiting work.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Total marine corps casualties numbered 11,309 up to March 19, the Navy Department announced today. Dead totalled 2518; wounded 3576, and missing 215.

The dead of wounds numbered 723 and those killed in action 1507.

GIRL KIDNAPED NEAR PRESIDIO HELD 4 DAYS

Two Men and Woman in Auto Boldly Abduct Lillian Russell, Pretty Brunette: Clothing Hidden by Her Captors

Victim Escapes by Sliding Down Improvised Rope; Found Wandering in Sad Plight; Taken to Hospital

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—Found wandering in an hysterical condition in the Richmond district clad only in a night gown, over which a wrapper had been thrown, Lillian Russell, 19, 1836 Geary street, was found by Policeman H. Coombes and taken to police headquarters, where she told a story of having been kidnaped last Thursday night.

According to Miss Russell, who is a very pretty brunette, she was leaving the Hahnemann hospital, where she had gone to visit a friend, and was waiting for a car near the Presidio gate. A touring car containing two men and a woman drove up to the curb near her and one of the men jumped out. As he approached her she jumped to one side, slightly turning her back, and she was struck on the head and rendered unconscious and knew no more until she regained consciousness in an unknown house, where the woman in the machine was her guard.

Her clothing had been taken from her and for four days she was made the victim of the two men, whom she says she believes she can identify. At 2 o'clock this morning, while she was pretending to be asleep, the woman guard left the room. Improvising a rope from the bed sheet she slid to the ground and made her escape. Miss Russell was taken to the Central Emergency hospital, where her condition bore out her story that she had been assaulted.

Night Captain of Detectives Cliff Field said this morning that arrests might be expected today of one or all of the trio responsible for Miss Russell's kidnaping. The descriptions of the men answer those of the two men who kidnaped Mrs. E. F. Clark, wife of the Southern Pacific agent of San Luis Obispo, at Geary and Van Ness avenue, earlier in the month, she being found in a similar condition lying beside the great highway in San Mateo county.

Although the detectives scoured the entire neighborhood in the vicinity of the Presidio in company with the girl, they were unable to find the house. Later the girl became hysterical and collapsed.

STRINGENCY IN WAR BUREAU FUND RELIEVED

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Financial stringency of the war risk insurance bureau was relieved today by a message from President Wilson to Secretary Glass saying the President had made an allotment from his emergency war fund to pay expenses of the bureau until Congress appropriates at the next session.

This means the work of caring for soldiers' and sailors' allotments, already suffering from delays, will be allowed to continue. Some 2000 employees of the bureau had been discharged before the call for help was sent out by Glass and the answer received.

The President's cable did not make clear the amount which will be apportioned to the war risk bureau, officials stated.

Secretary Glass said, however, approximately $5,000,000 will be required to tide the bureau over until July 1.

The funds required are for administrative expenses of the bureau. Direct payments on allotments, allowances and insurance were not effected by the failure of Congress to pass emergency appropriation measures.

Officials said that had not this fund been made available by the President, there was a grave possibility that the bureau would have had to suspend its work about May 1.

Senate Passes Bill to Stop I.W.W. Work

SACRAMENTO, March 24.—The senate passed today without debate the criminal syndicalism, introduced by Kehoe. There were no negative votes. Kehoe said the measure was indicated primarily to "stop the propaganda of an organization known as the Industrial Workers of the World, which seeks to accomplish its objects by acts of terrorism."

The Breed primary election bill, authorizing courts to fill vacancies occurring after or as a result of primary elections, passed the assembly today by a vote of 58 to 10.

AGED WOMAN KIDNAPED AND HELD, CHARGE

Writ of Habeas Corpus Issued for Mrs. Sarah E. White, 81, of Alameda, Who Is Said to Be in F. Maybury's Custody

Mrs. Florence Hardwick Alleges That Agent Took the Woman to Record Deed and That Neither Has Returned

What promises to be one of the most sensational cases in the bay courts was inaugurated this morning, when Frank Maybury was accused by Mrs. Florence Hardwick of kidnaping Mrs. Sarah E. White, an aged woman of Alameda, widow of the late Marcus S. White, residing at 2253 Lincoln avenue. On behalf of Mrs. Hardwick, Attorney John C. Scott, with offices at 1007 Broadway, this morning filed an application for a writ of habeas corpus in the superior court of San Francisco. Judge Frank H. Dunne granted the application and set the hearing for April 3.

According to the application, Maybury went to Mrs. White's home, and by some method obtained deeds to valuable property. According to the story which Mrs. Hardwick tells, he later returned to the White residence and admitted that he had recorded the deeds and property in his own name.

Mrs. White, who is 81 years of age, protested this action on Thursday last. Maybury invited the elderly woman to motor with him, telling her that while they were out he would secure the deeds for her. Neither Maybury nor Mrs. White has been heard of by Mrs. Harwick since. Mrs. Hardwick lives in Sacramento.

"Maybury came to Mrs. White's home and in some manner obtained the deeds to valuable property," Mrs. Hardwick said. "He later returned and said he had had the deeds recorded in his own name. Mrs. White protested against this action last Thursday. He finally invited her for an automobile ride, saying he would get the deeds while they were out. I have not seen either one of them since and I believe Mrs. White is being held a prisoner against her will."

Convicted Captain Is Brought From Russia

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—Captain William H. Bittenbender, Field Artillery, convicted of embezzlement while stationed in Siberia with the American Expeditionary Forces, arrived in San Francisco yesterday aboard the United States transport Sherman from Vladivostok. Lieutenant Herbert Cole, head of the provost guard of the Western Department, escorted him to the United States Disciplinary Barracks at Alcatraz.

The sentence in the case of Captain Bittenbender, who was tried by court-martial at Vladivostok on January 7, has not yet been announced by the judge advocate's office in Washington. Four to five years at hard labor and dishonorable discharge from the service is the usual punishment. Bittenbender is a native of Louisville, Ky. He rose from the ranks.

Reds Try to Convert British Prisoners

LONDON, via Montreal, March 24.—Forty British naval and military prisoners, captured in Northern Russia, are captives in Moscow, according to a British refugee from Russia.

The refugee says the Bolsheviki apparently are trying to win the men over by giving them a certain amount of freedom while imprisoning the officers in small cells.

The men are allowed to walk about the streets in Moscow and to visit British residents there. They also are better fed and clothed than the officers. The refugee says the men show no signs of joining the Soviet ranks.

Mexico Threatens Oil Prospectors

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The State Department was advised today that the Mexican government had issued a circular threatening to punish companies and individuals who engage in petroleum development work without permission. The threat is said to be aimed particularly at companies which have not complied with President Carranza's decree of last July.

Debacle in Hungary Means Offensive By Powers to Head Off Soviet Armies; Allied Monitors Started For Budapest

Red Coalition Declares War on Entente and Russia Sends Troops to Support New Government; Bohemia, Austria and Germany in Danger From Terrorism; Poland May Be Cut Off

BULLETIN.

PARIS, March 24 (4:30 p. m.).—The allied mission has left Budapest, according to advices received from that city this afternoon. French troops have been disarmed by the Hungarians, the despatch said. Revolutionary tribunals have been organized throughout the country.

PARIS, March 24.—Hungary's alliance with the Bolsheviki and declaration of war against the allies renders necessary the occupation of strategic centers in central Europe, unless peace is speedily signed. This belief prevailed here today when leaders of the associated powers met to discuss the new crisis.

Spread of Bolshevism into Austria will mean the severance of allied communications with Poland and Czecho-Slovakia, both of which are regarded as certain to join the Bolsheviki if the steady flow of food is interrupted.

Prospects that American troops would be sent home soon have decreased in consequence of the outbreaks in Hungary and the spread of Bolshevism in central Europe. With the peace conference delay President Wilson and his colleagues are finding the job of making the world safe for democracy more serious than was first supposed.

Allied monitors have started up the Danube from Belgrade in an attempt to reach Budapest, it was announced today. American diplomatic advices said that despite the fact that there has been firing and disorder in Budapest, allied and American representatives are safe. Communications have been interrupted between Vienna and Serbia.

GRAVE CONCERN IN WASHINGTON OVER ALLIANCE

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Grave concern was evident in official and diplomatic quarters here over the news of the seizure of the government in Hungary by a Bolshevik regime, which has inaugurated its advent by declaring a state of war with the entente powers and seeking an alliance with Russian Bolsheviki.

No one in authority would attempt to forecast the result or discuss what measures might be adopted by the associated powers, chiefly because the state department is without official advices on the subject. With President Wilson and Secretary Lansing in Paris, the attitude of the American government toward any measures that may be proposed will be determined and announced there.

The reports of a declaration of war against the entente are certain to have a strong tendency to solidify the union of the great powers—the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan.—Senator Hitchcock, Nebraska, retiring chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, declared today upon his return here from an extended vacation in the south.

Hitchcock said he believed that the spreading of Bolshevism from Russia to Hungary would cause the great powers to hasten the formation of a League of Nations, dominated by them—a League of Nations that by economic pressure would be in a position to deal successfully with Bolshevism more than if it resorted to military measures.

The Senator expressed the opinion that, with the United States and Great Britain insisting upon a League of Nations, neither France, Japan nor Italy would be in a position to refuse to join such a league or to unite with this country and the British in lining up against the spread of Bolshevism.

Only 12 Bills Have Passed Both Houses

SACRAMENTO, March 24.—Up until today the senate had passed 116 bills and the assembly 143. Twelve of these have been sent to the governor, but the only measures which he has signed are the seven sent to him during the first half of the session, which ended January 24. The total number of assembly bills introduced today is 1074, and 732 have been introduced in the senate.

Early Hearing Asked for O'Connell Appeal

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The government filed motions today asking the Supreme Court to hear as soon as possible arguments and appeals brought by Daniel O'Connell and five other men from San Francisco, convicted under the espionage act on charges of attempting to prevent military enlistments and also with having failed to register under the selective service act.

SUPREME COURT TO RECESS.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The supreme court announced today it would take two weeks' recess beginning next Monday after rendering opinion

BERLIN, March 24.—The new Hungarian soviet republic has formed an alliance with the Russian Bolsheviki and declared war on the entente, Budapest despatches announced today. Bolshevik forces were reported to be moving into Hungary to aid the new government against French and other allied troops which are scattered throughout the country.

The action of the Karolyi ministry in resigning and turning the country over to communists was said to have resulted from dissatisfaction with the allies and proposed adjustment of the Hungarian frontiers by the peace conference.

Representatives of Premier Lenine are reported to have assisted in forming the new Socialist communist ministry, which is constituted as follows:

Alexander Garbai, president; Eugen Barga, minister of finance; Josef Poganny, minister of war; Wilhelm Boehm, minister of socialization, Bela Kun, minister of foreign affairs.

The new cabinet has issued the following proclamation:

"Uniting with the world's Bolsheviki, we rise against the entente and imperialism and proclaim general mobilization. All opponents will be executed."

ARMY OF 70,000 IS ALREADY AVAILABLE

The Hungarian Bolsheviki have quietly raised an army of 70,000 well-equipped men, commanded by Major Glezy, grandson of a general who took part in the revolution of 1848, according to information received by way of Vienna.

Major Glezy recently reached Budapest from Russia, where he has been in prison. Most of the soldiers are said to be former Hungarian prisoners of war in Russia who were armed by Leon Trotzky, the Bolshevik minister of war at Moscow. Non-Socialists in Hungary are said to be supporting the new government because of their hatred of the entente.

ALLIED ARMY WILL BE SENT INTO ACTION

Official announcement was made in Vienna that a strong Czecho-Slovak army is being raised and will be sent into the field against the Hungarians.

Quiet prevails in Hungary under the dictatorship of the Workers and Soldiers' Councils. All of the newspapers here are filled with Bolshevik news and the spread of the movement in Hungary.

The Berlin Zeitung, in commenting upon the Bolshevik movement in Hungary, calls it merely a "scare" on the part of Hungary to avoid payment of her debts to the entente. This view is humored here because of what the German papers are saying of the situation in this country.

RUSSIAN REDS MOVE SOUTH INTO HUNGARY

COPENHAGEN, March 24.—Detachments of the Russian Bolshevik army were reported in a Berlin despatch today to be marching toward Budapest to aid the new soviet republic established in Hungary. The despatch said a state of war has been declared against the entente and that a general mobilization has been ordered in Hungary.

The Hungarian soviet republic, according to a Budapest despatch, has sent a wireless message to Premier Lenine asking him to come to Budapest and personally take charge of the situation. Lenine was

REVOLT CAUSED BY ALLY TERMS IN EAST, CLAIM

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LONDON, via Montreal, March 24.—Hungary's adoption of Bolshevism is regarded most seriously by the Anglo-French press, chiefly as endangering the efforts of the entente to build up the Rumanian, Polish and Czecho-Slovak states as bulwarks against German domination of Central Europe. All these three states are menaced by advancing Bolshevik armies.

According to a Vienna despatch it was the establishment of the neutral zone on the Hungarian-Rumanian frontier which the peace conference had decided upon which precipitated the crisis. This zone was intended to make the Hungarians desist from attacking the Rumanians and to close the gap between Rumania and Poland.

The entente note defining this zone was dated March 19, the Vienna advices state. The zone was fixed as a belt 110 miles long and 40 miles wide, virtually shutting Hungary behind the rivers Theiss, Szamos and Maros and including the towns of Grosswardein, Debreczen and the entire country behind them.

The note required the withdrawal of the Hungarian troops behind the western boundary of the belt within ten days and authorized the Rumanians to advance to the eastern boundary. The civil government of the neutral zone was to be exercised by Hungarians under allied control, but the important points would be occupied by allied troops.

Statements issued at Budapest accuse the entente of forcing a revolution, but the crisis is held here to be more probably due to the occupation of parts of Hungary by Czecho-Slovaks and Rumanians, while commentators declare the signs are not wanting that Germany is in collusion with the Bolsheviki.

Welsh Coal Miners Go Out on Strike

LONDON, March 24.—Twenty thousand coal miners went on strike today, said an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Cardiff. The strike is unauthorized.

CARDIFF, Wales, March 24.—Six thousand Welsh miners went on strike today as a protest against the action of the coal inquiry commission in not making a favorable report on all of their demands.

Women's 8-Hour Law in Arizona Is Upheld

COPENHAGEN, March 24.—Germany cannot and will not sign a peace which involves the annexation of Danzig by Poland, President Ebert declared in a speech Sunday, a despatch from Berlin says.

The German president added that Germany could not give up West Prussia or part of Upper Silesia.

Ebert spoke at a meeting called to protest against annexation of Danzig by Poland. He declared Germany was prepared to agree to neutralization of the Vistula, which would include Danzig, as a free port.

PARIS, March 24. — Premier Clemenceau had a long conference with Stephen Pichon, foreign minister, yesterday on the Hungarian situation, which will come before the supreme council today, when immediate steps will be taken, according to Marcel Hutin of the Echo de Paris.

It is understood, for one thing, that General Haller's Polish divisions will be shipped at once to Danzig and landed whether the Germans like it or not.

The League of Nations commission will reassemble at 3:30 o'clock this evening, with the expectation of virtually concluding the draft of the league covenant.

The peace conference has advised the entente agents of the critical situation in Hungary. Some street fighting in Budapest has been reported, and while the lives of entente nationals are said to be safe, it is urged that they need the protection which would be afforded by monitors proceeding up the Danube from Serbian ports.

PARIS, March 24.—An amendment to the league of nations covenant covering the Monroe doctrine advocated by President Wilson and Colonel House is expected to be presented at tonight's session of the league commission.

The proposed amendment would prevent any power from acquiring territory in the western hemisphere by conquest, purchase, treaty or otherwise, unless the American consented.

This article was reported today to the meeting with opposition from within the commission, especially by the British and French, who have extensive interests in the Americas. It could not be learned whether the President will attempt to force through the amendment despite the opposition, but it was believed he will strongly advocate its adoption, inasmuch as it would remove much of the ground for opposition in the United States. The Monroe doctrine proposal is held by some to mark a considerable recession from Wilson's original position that the covenant would not be altered except in a minor way.

The proposal for changes in the covenant submitted by Senator King of Utah have not yet been officially commented on.

Japan's recommendation for an amendment providing racial equality was not presented at Saturday's meeting.

It may be deferred until the amendment is debated by the plenary session. Many of the delegates are said to approve equality of nations, but not of nationalities.

British Agents Nip Big Bolshevik Plot

LONDON, March 24.—A daring attempt is on foot to scatter Bolshevik agitators all over England, the Daily Express reported today. This newspaper understands that British secret service agents recently frustrated a Bolshevik plot and prevented Lenine and Trotsky emissaries, now at a neutral port, from entering England to incite the laborers to revolt and join the red army.

Arguments will be heard April 14.

greeted as the "international leader" and was assured of Hungarian "solidarity." He is said to have replied asking that he be kept constantly advised of the "military situation."

Count Karolyi, in announcing the resignation of his ministry, issued a proclamation declaring allied occupation was intended to make Hungary the "jumping-off place" for operations against the Russian Bolsheviki with the aid of Czech troops. He said the Workmens and Soldiers' Councils had decided that they must form an armed alliance with the Bolsheviki against the entente.

PARIS, March 24.—The allied council of ten will examine the situation in Hungary, said the Echo de Paris today. The council will also inquire into Germany's opposition to allowing General Haller's two divisions of Polish troops to land at Danzig.

BERLIN, March 23, Sunday (By the Associated Press).—A special despatch to the Freiheit announces the disarmament of entente troops at Budapest. It is unconfirmed, however, and appears questionable.

BASEL, Sunday, March 23. — In concluding its proclamation announcing the proletariat dictatorship there, the new Hungarian government said:

"The Czecho-Slovak, Bourgeoise, Rumanians and annexationist classes wish to overthrow the Hungarian workers revolution by force of arms. We are determined, however, to defend ourselves to the last drop of blood against all attacks. With our determination to defend the republic goes the wish to conclude speedily a peace which will assure means of existence for Hungarian working classes and make it possible for them to live at peace with all the peoples of the world."

COPENHAGEN, March 24.—Reports of wireless exchanges between Nikolai Lenine, the Bolsheviki premier of Russia, and the foreign representative of the new Hungarian communistic government are received in advices from Budapest. Lenine was told the Hungarian proletariat had seized power and introduced proletariat dictatorship. Greetings were sent to Lenine as "Leader of the International Proletariat." In greeting the Russian Proletariat, the new Hungarian government expressed solidarity with the revolutionary movement.

In his reply, Lenine stated that he had submitted the Hungarian greeting to the Bolshevist congress at Moscow, which had received it with great enthusiasm. He added:

"In order to communicate between Moscow and Budapest and report on the military situation, it is necessary to maintain permanent wireless communicaton between the two cities."

He concluded by extending "communists greetings and a handshake."

BASLE, March 24. — General Georgeys, commanding an army of 70,000 Bolsheviks, was reported in a Vienna despatch today to have crossed the Dneister river and entered Galicia. His army, composed largely of Hungarian and Bulgarian troops captured by Russia during the war, is said to be following the Lemberg-Budapest railway.

(Lemberg is only sixty miles from the Russo-Hungarian frontier. The Poles recently recaptured the city from the Ukrainians.)

FURTHER SUCCESSES BY BOLSHEVIKI REPORTED

LONDON, March 24.—Further successes by the Bolsheviki in the Black sea region were reported in the official communique received from Moscow today.

The statement said the Bolshevik armies drove the allies back in disorder between Voznessensk and Odessa, defeating an entire division. On the Archangel front, the despatch said, an allied outpost was captured.

Fear of spread of Bolshevism into Rumania, Poland and Czecho-Slovakia as the result of setting up of a soviet government in Hungary was expressed by London newspapers today.

The newspapers called the Hungarian situation most alarming. Editorials declared it confronted the statesmen at Paris with a serious problem, which might complicate the work of delegates seeking a quick peace. Liberals argue that events in Hungary demonstrate the immediate need of a League of Nations.

Former Soldier Taken for Begging

Willard J. Anderson, a discharged soldier, was in court this morning on a charge of begging. He was arrested by a provost guard as he got money from a man in an automobile. Anderson, it developed, was discharged from the army in October, before the armistice was signed. He had a newly pressed uniform. The provost officer said Anderson ha dmade a profession of begging, that he traveled through different towns plying his trade. He had $2.45 in his pocket when found.

'SITUATION IS DARKER THAN ONE YEAR AGO'

By FRED S. FERGUSON,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, March 24.—The world faces an infinitely more serious situation today than it did a year ago when the German super-offensive was at its height, according to the belief expressed in certain official quarters. This, despite the fact that the armistice was signed five months ago, and the peace conference has been in session three months. Instead of military defeat, it is economic, financial and social collapse that is now threatening. Economic experts agree that every day lost in signing peace brings the general crisis that much nearer.

There was a tendency today, in fact, to regard Hungary's action in forming a soviet republic in alliance with the Russian Bolshevik as meaning the crisis already has been reached. There was no disposition to hide the belief that the menace of Bolshevism has been increased a hundredfold by this new situation.

ECONOMIC UPHEAVAL.

"A year ago everyone in the world was at work," said one of the leading economic and financial authorities. "If they were not fighting they were producing. In addition patriotic impulse was speeding up work. The governments had control and everyone had to do something. But everything is now headed for stagnation and disorder, unless speedy counteraction is taken.

"In the meantime the peace conference si in the worst muddle conceivable. In economic and financial discussions, the French still cling to the hope of an international pool of war expenditures in which the United States would pay the majority of the bills. As an alternative they suggest internationalization of exchange. This would bring up the economic value of the franc with consequent loss in the present value of the dollar.

TAXATION IS DELAYED.

"Meanwhile France has nothing to date to meet the serious financial situation confronting her, due to this hope of some international agreement. The French people have not been taxed within 50 per cent as heavily as the British and Americans for carrying on the war.

"Against the set program of having all committee reports submitted by March 8, only two major committee have completed their work—the military and naval bodies. Reparation, boundaries and post-war economic terms are still in a fluid state.

"At the present rate of progress the discussions must drag on for weeks. But certain conferees agreed this cannot be the case. In view of the reports from Hungary and Germany, some drastic action appears likely to be taken within a few days."

Berlin Press Sees Menace to Allies

BERLIN, Sunday, March 23 (by Associated Press).—The Berlin press, from the extremely radical to the most conservative, sees in the events which are occurring in Hungary a terrible warning to the entente. This is the view taken, for instance, by the two extreme examples of S. Die Freiheit and the Tages Zeitung.

"Entente imperialism," says the latter newspaper, "assisted Bolshevism into the saddle in Russia by the frustration of Kerensky's peace plans. It now has raised Bolshevism in Hungary out of the depths of its impotence. If these two lessons should not suffice, a third would carry terrible consequences into the entente lands."

England Hopeful of Preventing Strike

LONDON, March 24.—As a result of the week-end strike conferences, there is now every hope for a satisfactory settlement, according to the Daily Express today. J. H. Thomas, addressing a secret meeting of the railwaymen's union, of which he is the head, urged that there be no strike and told the men not to listen to Bolshevik agitators who would only ruin them.

ALLIES MAY CLAMP 'LID' ON BICKERING

By LOWELL MELLETT.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, March 24.—The peace conference began today what was supposed to be the last week of its work on the preliminary peace treaty with everying apparently in a state of chaos. It seemed as though the delegates had nothing to show for their many weeks of hard work except an increased accumulation of unsolved problems.

If the situation is half as bad as its surface indications, it seems certain the conference will not wind up its work on the treaty this week or for several weeks. The American delegation says the situation is similar to that of the closing days of Congress. It appears impossible that the work will be completed, yet it is always finished.

There is a tendency to feel, too, that hereafter the British and Americans will cut the Gordian knots in the peace settlement by laying down a program for solution and enforcing it by their economic, financial and political domination.

For instance, the Rhine question appeared insoluble today. The French were still holding out for territorial security on the left bank. Various compromises have been suggested, rejected and cast aside. If no settlement conforming with the principle of self-determination is secured, the problem is expected to be concluded with a flat American and British proclamation somewhat to this effect:

"You have tried and we have tried to help you work out a plan of territorial guarantees which will not violate the principles underlying the armistice. Our attempts have ended in failure. Therefore you must accept simply the guarantee offered under the League of Nations."

Few here doubt the ability of Great Britain and the United States to enforce the solution. The Anglo-American delegates are expected to take the same attitude toward Italy and Japan. As a result, while there appears to be no solution to these and many other questions in sight, it is always possible to fasten the lid on international bickerings and sign a treaty covering all necessary points in line with the armistice provisions.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR SITUATION

EUROPEAN CHANGES ARE RAPID

Supreme war council holds momentous session to act in new Bolshevist crisis which threatens a second world war. Allied monitors are sent from Belgrade toward Budapest.

Hungary has declared itself a soviet republic, "uniting with the world's Bolsheviki," ordered general mobilization and declared war on the allies.

Russian army is marching through Galicia to the aid of the new Bolshevist stronghold.

Germany sends envoys to make concessions and possibly an alliance with Lenine.

French, English and American authorities regard the present situation as a crisis with menacing possibilities. Germany appears on the scene as the possible protector of the west against Bolshevism.

Dr. T. G. Masaryk, president of the new republic of Czecho-Slovakia, is reported resigned over a crisis in that country with the Reds.

COUNTY WILL BUY LAND FOR BRIDGE WORK

The board of supervisors this morning authorized the publication of the twenty-one day notice required by law for the purchase April 21 of a 100-feet square of land at Fourth and Webster streets, necessary in the building of the proposed Alameda-Oakland bascule bridge over the estuary at Webster street, from David Bercovich and Edward Markovits at a cost of $25,000. After this purchase is made the county will be in a position to commence the construction of the bridge as soon as the proper war department permits have been granted. Work on the bridge was ordered stopped by the war department during the war on account of the large amount of steel necessary in the construction.

When the Bercovich property has been purchased the county will own all the land necessary for the right-of-way of the bridge with the exception of twelve feet near the proposed end of the bridge on the Oakland side. The purchase of this small piece of land will be made just as soon as the owners are able to turn over to the authorities a clear title. The money for the purchase is in the possession of the district attorney, who is awaiting a satisfactory title before consummating the deal.

The Bercovich land was originally priced by the owners at $35,000, but this price has been reduced to $25,000. According to Deputy District Attorney T. P. Wittschen, who has been handling the matter, this is a fair price for the land.

"We are getting the Bercovich property at a fair price. If we purchased it through condemnation proceedings we would not obtain it for less and in addition to the price made as a result of these proceedings, we would be forced to add the cost of the proceedings."

The twenty-one day police which the supervisors are bound by law to publish before making the purchase is to give the public an opportunity of passing on the matter. In the event there are no objections to the purchase at this price, the property will be taken over by the county April 21.

NEW LEADERS OF REDS ONCE JAILED

BERLIN, March 23—Sunday—(By the Associated Press).—That the seizure of power by the Hungarian communists is the result of Russian Bolshevik missionary work and financing seems apparent from the history of the movement. Bela Kun (or Kuhn), new foreign minister, who probably formulated the Communistic proclamation, spent a long time in Russia as a prisoner and there made the acquaintance of Nikolai Lenine and Leon Trotsky. He was originally chosen to organize the Spartacan-Bolshik movement in Germany, but went instead to Hungary.

The Hungarian Socialists would have nothing to do with Kun, and he thereupon founded the Communist party.

Of the other leaders of the Communist movement, Major Georgey, who is a grandson of the 1848 revolutionary Georgey, and Major Geizy, also a member of an old Hungarian family, likewise had been in Russian captivity and there became infected with Bolshevism. They were participants in the plan to form a communist army of 70,000 men in Hungary.

George Ronassy, also one of the leaders in the Communist movement, was arrested last February, charged with bringing 30,000,000 rubles from Russia to Hungary to be used in forming a Communist army. He and other leaders are likewise accused of receiving large sums from the Russian Red Cross.

Before the war Bela Kun, the Hungarian Communist foreign minister, was an instructor in the law school of the Francis Joseph University at Klausenburg, Transylvania. It was reported erroneously from Budapest during the disorders there late in February that Kun had been lynched by those opposed to his communist doctrines.

AIKEN ADMITS FRIENDSHIP FOR SUSPECT

Harold W. Aiken, bookkeeper of a local auto company, was criticized in the police court this morning when he appeared as a witness in connection with the attempted robbery of his company by Thornton Rollins, University of California psychologist, who was killed in the attempt. Aiken admitted he had tried to shield his friend, Weastell T. Doe, who is now held in connection with the robbery. It was at Doe's preliminary hearing, which is being held before Police Judge Samuels today, that Aiken testified.

Assistant District Attorney Hennessy wrung several admissions from Aiken.

"It's about time you came through clean on this," shouted Hennessy after Aiken had undergone a grueling examination. "Your actions seem anything but decent and honorable in this matter. It seems as though you are trying to shield some one."

FRIEND FROM BOYHOOD.

Aiken said that Doe was his friend from boyhood—that he had known him since he was 13 or 14 years old. He admitted that when he saw the dead man was Rollins there flashed across his mind the fact that Rollins was the roommate of his friend Doe and that he wanted to shield Doe.

This was the reason, he said, he picked up a pistol that Rollins had dropped when he was shot down and that he did not give the pistol to the police until several hours later.

Other facts drawn from Aiken on his examination were:

That Doe had called on him frequently at the motor company's office and had seen Aiken count the cash, which always amounted to several hundred dollars.

That Doe had dined with Aiken at the latter's apartments on the night of the robbery, about an hour before it occurred. Doe, he says, had told him he was going to San Francisco.

SHORT OF FUNDS.

That Doe was short of funds and had frequently mentioned he expected money from home.

That Rollins had been introduced to him through Doe.

Aiken was asked by Hennessy whether either he or Doe had said to the other, referring to the money in the cash box: "If we had this money we could take a nice trip." He denied that the remark had been made by either.

Doe is making a stubborn fight to obtain his release at the preliminary examination, which may take a large part of this afternoon.

James Scodeletti, the cashier, described the attempted robbery and the shooting.

Aiken and Scodeletti were locked in the company's vault on the evening of February 25 by Rollins, who was shot down just as he was about to rob the cash box containing $270.

GERMANY TO GIVE LENINE CONCESSIONS

PARIS, March 24 (by the Associated Press).—Count von Brockdorf-Rantzau, the German foreign minister, has sent Carl Kautsky, one of the under secretaries in the foreign ministry, to Moscow to see the chiefs of the soviet government and furnish an accurate report on the situation which will allow the foreign minister to study methods as to the bringing about of closer political and economial relations with the Russian Bolshevik government, says a Zurich despatch to the Matin.

LONDON, March 24.—The Vienna soviet has refused to join the Hungarian Bolshevist movement on the ground that it is impossible because Austria is dependent upon the entente for food, said a Central News despatch from Amsterdam this afternoon.

REDS SPREAD DOCTRINE.

A Bolshevist campaign is in progress in Bohemia, according to a statement quoted by the Daily Mail's Berlin correspondent. This correspondent says strong propaganda is being carried out simultaneously among both the Czech and German workmen, the Bohemians being assured that only with Bolshevist aid can Germany obtain the right of self-determination and escape subserviency to Czech rule.

Alarmed by the Bolshevik developments in Hungary, the conviction is growing in Austria that the Budapest soviet must be suppressed before it can join up with Russia, according to a wireless despatch from Vienna.

Bela Kun, the Hungarian communist who has just been appointed commissioner for foreign affairs, predicts the socialization of all Hungarian industries.

ALLIES ARE CONDEMNED.

The communists of Hungary held a meeting of sympathy with the proletariat dictatorship in Hungary Sunday morning, according to a Vienna despatch today. The demonstration developed into a manifestation against the entente. There was no disturbance, however, the message declares.

Negotiations have been opened between the Ukrainians and the Russian Bolsheviki to settle their differences, said an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Vienna today.

It is learned from an authoritative source that the Berlin Spartacans have decided to postpone their general strike coup until April 8. Many of the influential leaders believe that chaos lies ahead and that the Ebert government may not be able to hold its own.

Postoffice Changes Are Made for Speed

Forty large modern mail boxes have just been installed at the local postoffice for the accommodation of business firms. In addition to this general delivery department which at present is located at the extreme south end of the corridor, is to be moved about twelve feet to the north, which will bring it nearer the main entrance to the office. It will occupy the space now devoted to the parcel post section, which will be moved farther south. Other improvements, which Postmaster Joseph J. Rosborough believes will further aid in his efforts to speed the handling of mail, are being outlined.

Mrs. Hart Gains 15 Pounds Taking Tanlac: Will Always Feel Grateful to It.

"I look and feel, too, almost like another person since Tanlac made me so well and strong," said Mrs. H. Hart, 1527 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.

"For the last three or four years," she continued, "no matter how careful I was about what I ate I would be bothered afterwards with gas. I lost my appetite so that I was actually sorry when meal time came around because I just had to force myself to eat enough to keep going. My back had a constant pain in it and I didn't dare to try to lift anything heavy as the slightest strain would make me feel weak and nauseated. I was so nervous that I got very little rest at night and what little sleeping I did was of little benefit because for I usually got up in the morning feeling tired and worn out. I was losing strength and vitality so fast that I was very much alarmed about myself when I began to take Tanlac last August.

"It certainly was a grand surprise to me the way this medicine began to help me right from the start. Inside of two weeks I had a fine appetite and it has kept improving gradually until I now eat just anything and the best of it is that I don't have a bit of trouble afterwards with sour stomach, gas or nausea. I am entirely free from nervousness now, sleep all night long like a child and get up in the morning feeling thoroughly rested and refreshed. Evidently Tanlac was the very medicine my system needed because it has rid me of every pain and ache and has added fifteen pounds to my weight. It is just simply marvelous to me the way I have improved in strength and as long as I live I will be grateful to Tanlac for making it possible for me to enjoy health again."

Tanlac is sold in San Francisco and Oakland by The Owl Drug Company stores.—Advertisement.

HUNS USE RED CRISIS TO GAIN PEACE ENDS

PARIS, March 24 (By the Associated Press).—The European situation is as serious as that which arose when the Congress of Vienna learned of Napoleon's return from Elba. "Today, as a hundred years ago, negotiators have provoked and have been surprised by destiny," writes St. Bryce in the Journal.

"The problem before the council of ten today is not the fate of the German cables or the testimony of the Czech commission, but the imperative necessity of having Poland and Rumania rebuild the watertight compartment which has collapsed," he continues.

"Otherwise Germany, declaring herself alone in a position to save western civilization, will lay down her own peace terms instead of those the allies propose to dictate to her or will threaten to take the lead in the Bolshevik movement."

This extract from an editorial accurately reflects the views of the foreign editors of French newspapers. They generally all agree in placing the principal blame for the events on the procrastination of the peace conference and insisting upon immediate steps to fight Bolshevism.

By WILLIAM PHILLIP SIMMS.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, March 24.—The Bolsheviki movement, culminating in Hungary setting up a soviet republic and declaring war on the allies, was believed today to have furnished an explanation for Germany's dilatory and obstructive tactics toward the peace conference.

Germany, playing for time, has now reached a point where she will offer to oppose a Bolshevik invasion of western Europe in exchange for less severe peace terms, in the opinion of many delegates.

This is not such a preposterous situation as at first appears, according to the opinion in some quarters. The entire situation south of the Baltic is chaotic and "full of dynamite." It may possibly grow entirely out of allied control, it was pointed out, unless it is met squarely at once.

GERMANY TO RESCUE.

One solution apparently would be to raise an inter-allied expeditionary force. The alternative is to allow the Germans, who are in a much better strategic position, to deal with the situation. Germany would thus virtually become the allies' mandatory in eastern and central Europe.

Menaced on two sides, one by the Germans and the other by the Bolsheviki, Poland is desperately in need of food, equipment and assistance of her troops that fought in France. Yet Germany is refusing to permit these troops to land at Danzig, placing the peace conference face to face with the alternative of backing down or disembarking the Poles under the guns of allied warships.

RUMANIA THREATENED.

The situation in Rumania is darker still in many ways. Added to the threat of a Bolshevik invasion from the east is the new menace of a soviet Hungary. Poland and Rumania desire a common boundary so they may form buffer states against the Bolsheviki under protection of the league of nations. But it would require some time to bring this about and the situation apparently demands speed of action above everything else.

The feeling is growing here that making this international jig-saw puzzle of peoples and nations it is the most important problem before the conference and that whether the preliminary treaty with Germany is ready for signing next Saturday matters little unless strong measures are taken by the allies to stamp out the mischief brewing throughout eastern and central Europe.

Six Wars Being Fought as Peace Conference Meets

While the peace conference is setting the "peace of the world," the following wars are under way:

Hungary versus the allies (newly declared).

Russian Bolshevikis versus the allies.

Poles versus the Ukrainians.

Poles versus the Czecho-Slovaks.

Ukrainians versus the Russian Bolshevikis.

FOOD PRICES TO FALL SOON, SAYS EXPERT

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Cheaper food in the near future was predicted today by Chairman Peek of the department of commerce industrial board as a result of a conference with food administration officials in New York.

Peek said there had been general misunderstanding of a recent statement by Herbert C. Hoover that wheat might go to $3.50 a bushel, and added that the grain appropriation was made by Congress to enable the public to get wheat products at reasonable prices as well as to make good the guarantee to the purchaser.

With wheat prices reasonable, Peek said, reasonable prices of other products could be expected, because wheat was the barometer of the food trade.

After a conference with food administration officials Peek made this statement:

"There is every reason to expect lower food prices in the relatively near future. This view, I believe, the men in charge of the affairs of the food administration will share."

MINISTER SCORED FOR HIS SPEECH

SAN JOSE, March 24.—Terming the Rev. Peter C. Yorke a Bolshevik, an artist at swearing, a taster of vinegar, of having drunk an overdose of lemonade in infancy, Dr. James W. Kramer in an address in the First Baptist Church last night condemned the doctrines of the Rev. Yorke, delivered in an address in Victory Theater at the St. Patrick's Day celebration, as unpatriotic, unAmerican and breathing anarchy.

He demanded an apology and urged that "he (the Rev. Yorke) be put upon a fast train and permitted to hike, skidoo."

Dr. Kramer asserted that only his affiliations forbade him to say that a man making such statements when "the dark wing of anarchy seems to be spreading, deserved nothing better than a lamp post." It was the individual that Dr. Kramer plainly attacked and not the creed which he represented.

"I do not hold his church responsible for this Bolsheviki any more than I can be responsible for Rev. Whitaker, who is a Baptist minister, or for Jack Johnson, who is a prize fighter and happens to be a Baptist," he declared.

April 17 Closing Is Favored by Assembly

SACRAMENTO, March 24.—The assembly today adopted a resolution fixing April 17 as the date of final adjournment of the present legislature. The resolution was opposed by Assemblyman Grant Bennett and others, who took the position that due consideration could not be given to the numerous important measures before the legislature if an early date be set arbitrarily.

JAMES T. SUTTON DIES IN BERKELEY

BERKELEY, March 24.—James Thomas Sutton, father of James Sutton, recorder of the faculties and secretary of the academic senate at the University of California, is dead at his home, 2301 Prospect Street, at the age of 82 years.

Residing for more than a quarter of a century in Berkeley, Sutton before that time made his home in Oakland, establishing his residence there in the early seventies. By occupation an expert accountant he was associated with well known lumber interests of California for many years, retiring from active work fifteen years ago. Sutton was born in England and came to this country when 21 years old, making his home in Cincinnati, Ohio, before coming to California.

Wilson Shows No Alarm at Events

By CARL D. GROAT.

PARIS, March 24.—President Wilson today was following closely the situation in Hungary, which has set up a soviet republic and formed an alliance with the Russian Bolsheviki. Every bit of official and unofficial information was presented to him as fast as it was received.

LONDON, March 24.—Premier Lenine has sent a wireless to Berlin Bolsheviks urging them to establish a soviet republic in Germany, according to Berlin advices received here today.

VICE PROBE IN L.A. LIKELY TO INVOLVE MANY

LOS ANGELES, March 24.—Trial of Mayor Frederick T. Woodman, on the grand jury indictment charging he agreed to accept $25,000 bribe money for the protection of vice in Los Angeles, will last at least six weeks and cannot be concluded before the primary elections on May 6, despite the fact that Woodman is a candidate for re-election, District Attorney Woolwine announced today.

Woolwine declared that the mayor's interest in having the trial concluded before the primary elections will not be permitted to interfere in any way with the grand jury's investigation.

Woolwine's statement was made before Mayor Woodman, accompanied by his attorneys, appeared before Superior Judge Craig for the decision of a definite date for the trial.

The county grand jury did not assemble today, but it was definitely known that this was no indication that the investigation was near conclusion.

Great quantities of evidence are yet to be presented and reports from an authoritative source were that new indictments could be expected before the week is over.

It became more apparent than ever today that Woolwine has only opened the graft investigation and that it will be more than a month before the probe is officially ended.

"While the indictment of the mayor was probably of first importance," said one investigator, "the disclosures to be made within a few days will be nearly as sensational."

George Brown and George Henderson, negro politicians and alleged "kings of the underworld," indicted for offering the vice protection bribe to the mayor, were arraigned before Superior Judge Willis today.

WOODMAN ACCUSES SERVICE CORPORATION

Mayor Woodman, who announced Saturday that he might ask to be relieved from duty until his case was disposed of and who, prior to that announcement, appeared in court, where he pleaded not guilty to the indictment and asked for an early trial, gave out an informal statement intimating that investigation caused him to believe his indictment was due to the activity of a public service corporation which wanted to stop his active interest in a plan for the city to acquire the utilities now operated by the company. He said he would probably issue a full statement of his position today.

The indictment of the mayor, it was expected by persons versed in municipal politics here, would bring out a number of new candidates for the mayoralty at the May primaries. At the time of his arrest and re-Saturday that he might ask to be was the only avowed candidate for the approaching term, except a woman nominee of the Socialist party.

JITNEY FIGURES IN SALOON RAID

Al Juline is in the county jail today as the result of an attempt to hold up the Oasis saloon in Castro Valley Saturday night. According to information obtained by Deputy Sheriff Joe Soares, Juline and a man named William Burk engaged a jitney in Hayward, driven by a man named Wilson, to drive them to the saloon. They told him they would be inside only five minutes and for him to have the engine running when they came out.

They went inside, and Burk soon ran out and started down the road. Wilson heard a commotion inside, and becoming alarmed, started to follow Burk, who on foot, gave the jitney a fast pace. When it overtook him he got in and in Hayward disappeared.

"That was an awful stunt that fellow pulled," hetold Wilson. He said he did not know Juline was a hold up man.

When the two entered the saloon Juline handed the proprietor, a man named Gurrish, what appeared to be a money order and asked him to cash it. While Gurrish looked at it Juline placed a revolver against him and ordered his hands up. Instead of putting up his hands Gurrish grabbed the weapon and they went to the floor in a struggle. Burk became alarmed and ran away.

Juline succeeded in getting away and was later captured running down the road.

Threatening Note Is Sent Police Judge

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24. — A threatening letter similar in its rude printed characters to those sent members of the judiciary signed "T. N. T." a year ago was received by Police Judge J. J. Sullivan this morning.

The "letter" was a large piece of pulp board and bore at the top these figures, "3-7-77." It read:

"I see that you have initiated a violation of a city charter by diverting funds from the city treasury for the benefit of begging 'bulls.' You are also using your office in the interest of pandering plutocrats by persistently proletarians into cheap wage slavery. Therefore it is now in order for someone to write your epitath."

HINTS AUSTRIA MAY BE NEXT TO JOIN BOLSHEVIKI

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

VIENNA, Sunday, March 23.—Asked what effect Hungarian events would have on the political situation in German-Austria, Herr Deutsche, secretary for military affairs, said today:

"If the entente treats us as it treats Hungary, no one can guarantee what will happen. A people driven to despair loses self-control. The entente, by a thoughtless decision, might lose the bulwark against Bolshevism which German-Austria really constitutes."

FOUR NURSES FOR CITY JAIL URGED

Employment of four nurses to operate the new jail hospital, as announced several days ago by Commissioner F. F. Morse, was officially brought before the city council today. Dr. Daniel Crosby, health officer made the application, urging that the nurses be employed to place the jail hospital, designed for handling women held under quarantine, in working order. The work, he said, will conform with the federal social disease eradication program.

"We cannot reform men and women or eliminate vice," said Crosby, "but, by putting women arrested in these cases under quarantine and handling their cases scientifically, we can go a long way toward regulating and curbing disease." The matter was referred to the civil service board for consideration.

Following the board's report funds will be set aside for the work.

Commissioner W. H. Edwards presented an application from city civil service employees, asking that a "two-pay-day-a-month" plan be inaugurated in Oakland, men to receive their pay in semi-monthly installments. Edwards urged this a year ago, when it was disapproved, he says, by City Auditor J. H. Clay.

The matter was placed in the hands of City Attorney H. L. Hagan to report on ways and means after a general discussion.

Election precincts for the coming primary of April 15 were officially set today by a council resolution. The sum of $500 was set aside for mailing sample ballots to voters.

Unlighted Hall Causes $500 Suit

Mrs. Mary P. Lyon, owner of an apartment house at 898 Twelfth street, is defendant in a suit before Judge Kotord, in which the plaintiff, Mrs. Lizzie Murray, a saleswoman, asks for $500 damages. The plaintiff testified that while passing through the hall of the building, which was not lighted, she fell down stairs, breaking her arm. She claims that the defendant is required to light the halls and that she is responsible by reason of not having done so.

Cuts Arms 32 Times in Suicide Attempt

G. Edwards, a sign painter, at 1511 Jackson street, attempted to commit suicide last night by gashing his arms with a knife. At the receiving hospital it was found that he had cut eighteen gashes in his right arm and fourteen in his left. He was prevented from bleeding to death by the quick action of the hospital attendants.

MOTHER SAYS DOAK IS NOT NOW INSANE

Today's session of the hearing on the sanity of Dr. John L. Doak before Judge Lan S. Church was consumed with further questioning of Mrs. Sarah Doak, the mother of the defendant. The witness admitted her belief that her son was insane at the time he shot his brother, Samuel Doak, in Los Angeles in 1913, but adhered to her belief that he is not now insane. She identified letters written by her to the deportation agent at Sacramento asking for her son's transfer from the Oregon asylum to Agnew, pleading that he be brought here so she could be near him.

Mrs. Doak answered that she did not know when her son asked her if he did not shoot his brother in self-defense, and said she knew nothing of his claim that he had taken a revolver from the brother who was killed. She said she knew of "a fuss" between them, but did not know the circumstances.

The witness told of the defendant's arrest five different times on insanity charges, but was unable to recall much of the circumstances occasioning the arrests. She testified that he was arrested on a forgery charge, on complaint of his older brother, D. P. Doak, for which he was convicted in Oregon some ten months ago. Between the time of his release on the insanity charge following the matricide and his arrest on the forgery charge she said he worked at dentistry in San Francisco, Los Angeles and in Texas.

Doak today issued a subpoena for his brother, Claud Doak, but did not disclose what he sought to prove by him. The trial will likely continue at least two days longer.

By ELSIE ROBINSON.

Good evening, sister. Bill Smith failed the other day. You probably don't know my Bill Smith, but you know a dozen like him—they make 'em by the yard. Little, meek-looking man, not much chin, stringy mustache—looks like an amiable catfish. Been slaving away most of his forty years on a one-lame-horse-power business, supporting the wife and three kids, and now he's busted—flat. He isn't saying much, just slinking around as usual and taking extra pains to wipe his feet before he comes into the back door. Of course, he's looking for a new job, and going around and explaining things in a quiet, square sort of a way to his creditors, and painting the barn while he waits for something to turn up. But all that is absolutely uninteresting and just about the drab sort of a display you'd expect of a failure. His wife's the one to focus your gaze on—she's the little heroine of No. 25 Smith street. For Mrs. Bill Smith is being "sweet and womanly" in the face of great adversity and she's working it to a fare ye well.

Elsie Robinson

I wonder when this "sweet and womanly" stunt got grafted on to the feminine code, at any rate? Some time after Job "got hisn" in those Old Testament times, I guess—for boils were the worst thing they knew of in his day. He didn't have to face any "brave, womanly smile"—ducky devil. No, when adversity hit the various Mesdames Job they just took it as part of the day's work—and buckled in and helped the old man. They weren't considered shining lights if they didn't irritate the head of the house. They were parted from their jobs and given a jug of water and the whole desert to wander around in if they DID irritate him. "Sweet and womanly" attributes meant mighty active virtues in those husky times. I'm afraid, I'm a little mite afraid, sister, that we get by with a pretty passive display now-a-days. We're all for equality with men, but—

Do we call a man "sweet and manly" if he doesn't whine and lay down on his job when things go wrong? No, we call him a yellow hound if he does.

Do we think him a shining example to the rest of his sex if he hustles out of bed onto his job in time in the morning and plods home regularly six nights of the week with the bacon—or whatever Hoover allows as a substitute? Nor on your sweet life we don't! We sue him on the grounds of "mental cruelty" and ask for $250 alimony if he doesn't.

Sister, there's nothing finer in the world than a real she-sized, happy-souled woman—I'm for her every time. I think men were only the preliminary experiment when it came to making human beings, and that the only thing worth taking a patent out on is a Lady. But—sister, we women have made a standard for ourselves that wouldn't do justice to a sick canary bird. And just because we've buffaloed the fool men into believing it's our Noblest Effort we think that's all that's needed. Pooh! you can buffalo a man into anything—it's like wiggling a string at a puppy—they always bite. But it ISN'T our noblest effort and in our hearts we know it. We used to carry packs on our heads—and walk like queens. Now we wear boudoir caps—and a debutante slouch.

Buck up, sister, and be a human. Don't hang your pal a "sweet, womanly smile" when he's down and out. Hand him a beefsteak—n—onions and a hug around his discouraged neck—and a GRIN—and then sit down and figure out how you can keep chickens in the back yard.

The next time you make a bread pudding soak the bread beforehand in coffee and milk instead of straight milk. Then add eggs and sweetening and bake as usual. It's delicious. As a variation on the raisins in bread pudding use pitted prunes—fine! And that old stand-by, chocolate cornstarch pudding, is ever so much improved if you use a cup of coffee with the usual milk and chocolate.

Kitchen Economies

by Isobel Brands of the Applecroft Experiment Station

A fireless cooker is an absolute essential in any family where there are more than two or three persons, or where there are small people who must have cooked cereals. For the fireless helps in so many ways—as a saver of time, of fuel and makes it possible for you to give many foods the long cooking which they need without having to stop and watch the process.

If you have a fireless cooker you can prepare your breakfast cereal the night before, merely by heating it on the stove for about 15 minutes, then placing it in the fireless and leave it all night. When you arise in the morning your cereal will be thoroughly cooked, without having been watched, and with never a chance for scorching, such as exists when you cook over a direct flame.

Or perhaps you have to be away for part of the day. That need not prevent you from having a hot cooked dinner if you have a fireless. Before leaving the house start the cooking of the various dishes—meat, vegetables, pudding, etc.—on the stove, then place them in the fireless and forget about them. When you return in the evening you lift up the lid of the fireless and your meal is ready, hot, thoroughly and completely cooked.

Not only does the fireless save time and fuel, but it helps you to cut down on your food bills.

Many women never buy the cheap, tougher cuts of meat because they believe it next to impossible to cook them so they will become tender and palatable. Similarly, many women do not cook enough of the cheap, dried foods, like beans and peas, because they require such long cooking and use up so much fuel that they cannot be considered cheap dishes. The cost of the fuel to cook them more than balances the difference between these cheap and the more expensive cuts.

With the fireless, however, this objection doesn't exist. You start your beans cooking, place them in the fireless and leave them there for eight or ten hours, depending on the quantity and the beans used. Similarly with soup. It is long cooking which develops the fine flavor of vegetables or meat soups, and soup cooked in a fireplace is vastly superior in flavor to that cooked on direct heat over a shorter space of time.

Today the fireless cooker is no longer regarded as an expensive experiment. So many good ones are on the market today that you can buy them as low as $5, in the small family size, or if you desire the two or three compartment fireless they can be purchased anywhere from $12 to $20 and over in the more elaborate models.

But you need not buy a fireless cooker if there's a handy man around the house, and you can get the necessary materials. A simple cooker with one compartment may be made by obtaining a galvanized iron can with a cover for the outside, a covered smaller agate pail to be used inside, a few yards of denim, some old wool material, canton flannel or an old tablecloth and some sawdust.

Make a bag out of the denim or woolen material and fill with sawdust. Wrap this around the inside pail. Fill the bottom of the outer pail with a three-inch layer of sawdust. Fit the bag and pail into the outer pail in such a way that it is tightly packed and there's no open space through which heat can escape. Another sawdust-filled bag can be used as a top cover over the inside pail.

Winifred Black Writes about The Duty of Happiness

The woman whose heart aches and aches all day and all night has written to me to tell about it and to ask me what to do.

She has three children, two girls and a boy.

The girls are dear little, chubby, roly-polys with laughing eyes and showers of curls, and the boy is a sturdy, manly little fellow with a resolute chin and a whole world of love and loyalty in his honest little face.

I know, because the woman whose heart aches has sent me the pictures of her children, and when I look at them and realize how rich she is—how rich beyond the dreams of avarice, rich in childish love and trust and devotion, rich in the laughter of happy children, rich in the confidence of three warm little hearts, rich in the opportunity to hold them close to her, these beautiful little ones, and bring them up to be good women and brave men—I cannot find it in my heart to understand how she can be so miserable.

She has a little home, too, this mother, a comfortable, sunny little home with plenty to eat for her children and enough for them to wear. She has good friends and she's still very young herself, with all of life before her, and all of joy and all of service and all of the glory of sacrifice.

She is sad because her husband neglects her and doesn't seem to care for the children.

It is too bad that he doesn't care for his children—but perhaps he does, only just now he is under the influence of some sinister thing that saps the natural impulses of his heart and turns them to bitterness and gall.

If this is true, that influence will wane and his children will bring him back to common sense and to honor and to honest happiness again.

But, even if he never goes back to what he was in the first days of marriage, why should the mother of three such children let anything that any one man on earth can do or refrain from doing make her life a misery?

If she had never met this man she would be all right.

LIFE IS INEVITABLE

His love isn't something born with her, brought into the world with her breath and sowed in her heart's blood like a seed—it's something quite foreign to her that she picked up along the roadside of life, like a flower you gather on a beautiful walk through the brown woods when spring is throwing her lacy veil of dreams over the landscape.

It is a lovely thing, the flower—sweet and perfumed, beautiful and fragile.

What are you going to do when that flower fades—sit down and cry your heart out over it?

What nonsense! Throw it away and forget about it.

Forget about it as utterly as you've forgotten the flowers you found years ago when you were little and went out after violets in the lower meadow with grandma for your companion.

You, of course, can never really love him deeply again—that is his punishment and yours, too, for you chose a man capable of such lightness and you must bear the result of your own folly—just as a foolish child who thrusts his hand into the flame must bear the hurt of the burn, even though he didn't know what a flame was—until it burned him.

Life or what happens in life is not always just—but it is always inevitable.

Look back from the corner of the road where you stand this minute, and if you have real intelligence you can see just exactly when you began to get off the right road and what made you do it. You can see that you walked the wrong way because there was something in you that beckoned down the shady path and not up to the sunny road.

Look back, look close, look honestly. See! What did I tell you? There it is, the sign post!

Did you see it and laugh and look away, or were you so busy watching the sunlight dance upon the road that you had no time for the prosaic sign post.

This man who is making you miserable, little woman, isn't worth one moment's tears for you, and you have no right to shed them when you know that every time you cry you make your children miserable, and that is something no mother on earth has any right to do.

THE OBLIGATION OF JOY

Whatever debt we owe this world, and whatever debt the world owes us, there is one obligation we must pay, and that is the obligation to make the children we have brought into the world happy at home, whether we are happy or unhappy, miserable or joyous.

The other love—what strange names we call a passing fancy, a foolish infatuation, a senseless following of the senses?

If this man who treats you so is worthy of one part of the love you have given him, he will look at you in reverence and in admiration for the noble part you are playing and he will come back to you in sorrow and in remorse.

If he doesn't—be glad that you're rid of the burden of a foolish and degrading love.

Miserable with three such children as these? Oh! if you could let the mother speak whose children aren't with them any more, you would feel a wicked and a thankless woman to think you ever let anything come between you and the light-hearted happiness of a little loving child.

Adele Garrison's New

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

I heard him draw in his breath sharply, and then, like an angry street gamin, he called out loudly, "Oh, go to the devil," and, turning, rushed down the stairs again.

Every nerve was quivering as I returned to my low chair by the window. I know that Dicky would not readily forgive my action, even though he knew it had been caused by his own outrageous rudeness. But I felt that more than the result of this one incident depended upon my holding fast to the course of action I had planned. If I allowed Dicky to persist in his habit of rudely snarling at me whenever he was angry I should soon have no self-respect left. I had thought the matter over very carefully, and resolved that until Dicky apologized to me for his action of the morning I should keep out of the way, and manage so as to take my meals at other hours than his.

DICKY'S ULTIMATUM.

Dicky made no further attempt to see me until the next morning after breakfast. It was not quite like him to remain angry so long, and my vague uneasiness over his probable course of procedure had deepened to a lively alarm when he knocked at my door.

"You don't need to bother to open the door," he called. "I'm going to stay in town a day or two, until you get over your grouch. Any time you come out of it telephone me and I'll come home."

He hurried away, without giving me time to answer, even if I had wished to do so. But there was no desire for speech with my husband in the cold rage which began to creep over me. The airy disdain with which he had treated my anger, the diabolically clever manner with which he had managed to put the burden of any reconciliation on me infuriated me.

Not that there was left in me any desire for a reconciliation. At the moment I was almost angry enough to wish that I might never see him again. But I did not get quite to the point of uttering that wish, even mentally. There is a thread of superstition in me, a fear that Fate might take me at my word.

THE PHONE RINGS.

As I dressed hastily, for I had overslept because of my wakeful night, I conceived and dismissed again half a dozen fantastic schemes to bring Dicky to a realization of his error, for my anger was just childish enough to wish in some way to "get even."

Katie greeted me joyfully when I came downstairs. She had kept a delicious breakfast warm for me, and was voluble over the serving of it.

"I vas joost cooming oop stairs mit dot tray, ven I hear you," she said as she hovered around me. "I tink vunce I coom oop stairs, wake you, den I tink, no, I let you sleep all you vant. Ven you sleep, you happy."

"Thank you, Katie," I returned, and dismissed her upon some housewifely pretext. Her perceptions were too keen, her sympathies too warm for me to be quite comfortable with her eyes watching me.

It was an hour after breakfast, when I was still chafing under Dicky's rudeness, that the telephone summoned me. I hurried to it, in the hope that Dicky was 'phoning his repentance to me, something he had done frequently before.

But it was not Dicky's voice that came to me over the wire. The deeper tones were those of Dr. Pettit.

"Mrs. Graham?"

Dr. Pettit's deep measured tones sounded deeper than ever through the telephone.

"Oh, yes, Dr. Pettit," I answered. "How do you do?"

The next moment I bit my lip at my want of thought. His voice held a playful and pleased intonation when he spoke again.

"I did not dream you knew my voice," he said.

"That is one of my accomplishments," I returned lightly. "Generally, I can tell a voice after hearing it once, always after listening to it twice."

"Oh." The monosyllable had an edge of disappointment, and there was a perceptible pause.

"As I remember our last conversation, Mrs. Graham," he resumed, and I smiled to myself at the formality which had come back into his voice, "I drew the inference that in some manner I might be of use to you in South America. Am I right?"

I hesitated, while all the arguments against accepting the service of this man, a service which would in all probability lead him into danger, rushed over me. But the very real danger of my father who was in the same country of South America to which Dr. Pettit was going was, swept every other consideration out of my mind.

DICKY'S WORDS ECHO.

"You can de me a very great service down there, Dr. Pettitt," I said, and I could not quite conceal the tremor in my voice.

"I am so glad." No formality in the deep voice now. The words rushed together roughly as if some spring had been released in the voice that uttered them. "And now, when am I to see you in order to learn just what this service is?"

I had known the question must come but I was not prepared to answer it. Dicky's words on the night we came home from Lillian's dinner in honor of Robert Savarin, sounded as vividly in my ears as if he had just finished speaking them.

"And just let me tell you that you'd butter cut out any farewells or messages to father or any of that bunk. I've had just about as much of Dr. Pettit and his d—— impudence as my aching right foot can stand."

"AND YOU SHALL CHOOSE."

I knew that if I saw Dr. Pettit before he left and Dicky should hear of it, it would mean one of Dicky's rages, something I had no desire to meet. I had no scruples, however, on the score of Dicky's wishes in the matter. His outrageous treatment of me the day before because of the love letter in his handwriting and that of a woman which I had found in his waste basket and concerning which he had refused me any explanation, absolved my conscience. I had no qualms upon the propriety of meeting the young physician, but I had a nervous dread of Dicky's anger.

My little particular devil took this occasion to whisper into my ears:

"Why should Dicky ever know of it?"

Wealthy Russian ladies of leisure who formerly lived upon their income and who moved in the highest Russian society, but now absolutely penniless, are now commencing life anew by working at needlework at six shillings a day in England.

Lady Georgianna Buchanan, in the upper panel, wife of the late ambassador to Petrograd, has established a workroom for these women, who were forced to flee from Russia owing to the chaotic conditions and Bolshevism, at Chesham House, the old Russian embassy in London. GARIS' BEDTIME STORY

"A-ker-choo! A-ker-choo! A-ker-choo! Heck! Her! Bizizum! Bunk!"

That was the funny noise Uncle Wiggily Longears, the bunny rabbit gentleman, heard out in the kitchen of his hollow stump bungalow one morning.

"My goodness!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "I wonder what Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy is laughing at now?"

Then he listened, and again he heard: "A-ker-choo! Ker-fizzium! Zoop!"

"Why, she isn't laughing at all!" exclaimed the bunny gentleman. "Nurse Jane is coughing and sneezing. I hope she isn't getting the epizootic!"

Uncle Wiggily ran out to the kitchen, and, as soon as he reached there, he saw that the room was filled with smoke, which was twisting and turning about like snakes, while, over in one corner, by the sink, where she had begun to wash some dishes, stood Nurse Jane.

"What-a-ker-choo — is the-a-ker-choo-matter?" asked the bunny himself coughing and sputtering.

"Oh, there's a hole in part of the stovepipe," answered Nurse Jane, as she wiped the tears from her eyes, "and the smoke is leaking out into the room."

"I should say it was!" coughed Uncle Wiggily, and he had to wipe some tears from his eyes. He and Nurse Jane weren't really crying, you understand—the smoke just made tears come in their eyes, the same as it does yours if you go too near a bonfire, which I hope you never do!

"A hole in the stovepipe!" went on Uncle Wiggily. "Well, that must be fixed at once. I'll go get a new pipe."

"I wish you would," begged Nurse Jane. "And I guess I'd better let the fire go out. It smokes so, and the smoke comes out into the room, instead of going up the chimney through the pipe."

"Yes, let the fire out," agreed Uncle Wiggily, "and I'll go to the fifteen and sixteen cent store and get a new piece of stovepipe to use in place of the one with the hole in."

When the fire was out the smoke no longer filled the kitchen of the hollow stump bungalow, and the tears stopped coming into the eyes of Nurse Jane and Uncle Wiggily. But it was cold, with no fire, so the muskrat lady housekeeper went over to stay with Mrs. Wibblewobble, the duck lady, and Uncle Wiggily, in his fur coat and tall silk hat, hopped along to the nineteen and twenty cent store to get a new stovepipe.

"If I had some of my old tall silk hats, I might have used on of them for the stovepipe," though the bunny to himself, "but I suppose it is best to get a new one."

And so he did. At the store he bought a nice long black shiny length of pipe, with a hole all the way through it from end to end so the smoke could sail out and up the chimney.

With the stovepipe under his paw Uncle Wiggily started to hop back to his hollow stump bungalow.

"I wonder if I'll have an adventure today?" said the bunny rabbit, speaking out loud, as he often did when in the woods. "I wonder if I will?"

"Yes," suddenly said a voice near him, "you will!"

"Eh? What's that?" cried Mr. Longears.

"I said you'd have an adventure, and you will—right now!" the voice went on, and, out from behind a bush, jumped the bad old Pipsisewah. Uncle Wiggily started to run but the Pip, as I call him for short, ran after the bunny, and soon caught up to him.

"What do you want?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Souse off your ears!" answered the Pipsisewah.

"Which ear?" asked the bunny, and all the while he kept hopping along, thinking, maybe, he could get to his bungalow and run in and shut the door and shut out the Pipsisewah. "Which ear do you want souse off?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Both ears!" snapped the Pipsisewah. "I'm so hungry I want souse off both your ears, and I'm going to take it now!"

But, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggily dropped on the ground the piece of black, shiny stovepipe, with the big, round hole in. Then, just as quickly, Uncle Wiggily put the new piece of stovepipe where the old one was, built a fire and Nurse Jane came back and cooked dinner. So everything came out all right, you see, and, if the teacup doesn't roll off the pantry shelf and break its handle when it's trying to play tag with the sugar bowl, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the ball of string.

Just Folks

by Edgar A. Guest

BILL HOHENZOLLERN.

If he had loved the green of trees,
The drowsy hum of summer bees,
If friends had dared to call him Bill,
He might have been a monarch still,
If he had ever stooped to play
With children at the close of day,
Or ridden them upon his knee,
He might not now an outcast be.

If he had ever turned aside
And dropped his dignity and pride,
Forgetting that he was a king,
To do a little neighboring
With humble men who crossed his way;
If he had ever spent one day
In comradeship—he might not now
Have hatred written on his brow.

Had he loved skies and running brooks,
And tangled woods and fishing nooks,
And learned to call the birds by name,
And fed them crumbs as they grew tame;
Oh had he ever left his throne
To talk with men, he might have known
Some secrets of the human heart
And better played the monarch's part.

If home had ever meant to him
More than a castle, cold and grim;
If he had tended it with care,
Planted the roses blooming there;
Had learned to laugh and romp and sing,
Been more a man and less a king,
He might not now in Holland wait
The dreadful verdict of his fate.

That man who worships power alone
Shall suddenly be overthrown;
Who turns away from men and God
Shall fall at last beneath the rod.
He that would seek for world success
Must tread the ways of humbleness
And find in the gentle ways and pure
The royalty that can endure.

(Copyright 1919 by Edgar A. Guest.)

Uncle Wiggily crawled inside the length of stovepipe. Then the bunny began to wiggle, and the stovepipe, with Mr. Longears inside, began to roll, and it rolled over and over and over, down hill, faster and faster.

"Hi, there! Stop! Wait a minute!" cried the Pip.

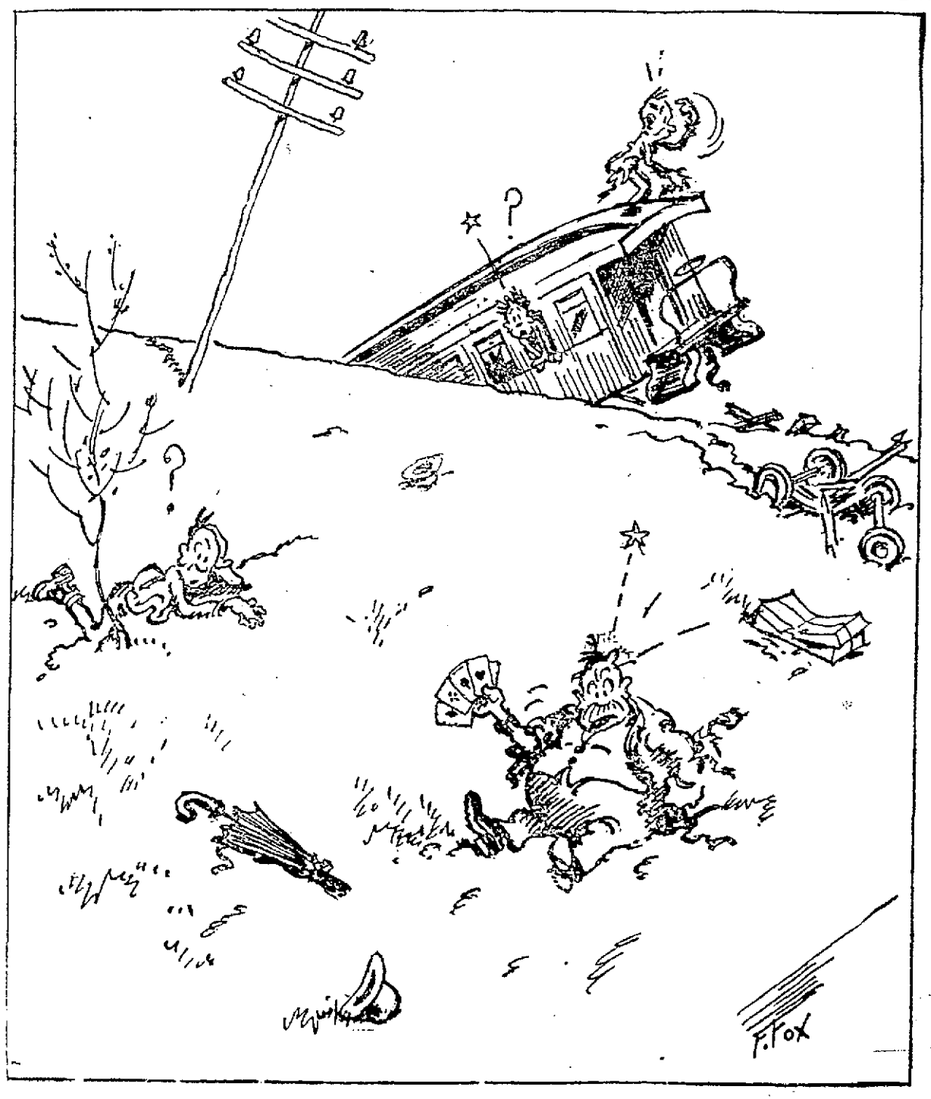

But Uncle Wiggily didn't stop. Safe inside the stovepipe he rolled to the bottom of the hill and he reached there before the bad Pipsisewah did. Then Uncle Wiggily popped out of the pipe, ran into his bungalow, locked the door and the Pip couldn't get him at all.

And, when the Pipsisewah ran away, Uncle Wiggily put the new piece of stovepipe where the old one was, built a fire and Nurse Jane came back and cooked dinner. So everything came out all right, you see, and, if the teacup doesn't roll off the pantry shelf and break its handle when it's trying to play tag with the sugar bowl, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the ball of string.

Women Find Clear Skin In Simple Laxative

A sense of false modesty often prevents women from admitting that many of her ills and disorders are due primarily to constipation.

But women who know themselves have learned that headache remedies and beautifiers only cover the trouble but do not dislodge it.

What is needed is a remedy to move the bowels and stir up the torpid liver. An ever-increasing number of sensible women take a small dose of a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and sold by druggists under that name.

It will save a woman from the habitual use of headache remedies, skin lotions and similar makeshifts. Once the bowels are emptied and regulated, the headache and the pimples and blotches disappear. It is the rational, natural method.

A bottle of Syrup Pepsin lasts a family a long time, and all will find use for it from time to time. Thoughtful people are never without it in the house.

The druggist will refund your money if it fails to do as promised.

PRICE AS ALWAYS

In spite of greatly increased laboratory costs due to the War, by sacrificing profits and absorbing war taxes we have maintained the price at which this family laxative has been sold by druggists for the past 25 years. Two sizes—50c and $1.00.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN The Perfect Laxative

FREE SAMPLES—If you have never used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin send for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 468 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. If there are babies at home, ask for a copy of Dr. Caldwell's book, "The Care of Baby."

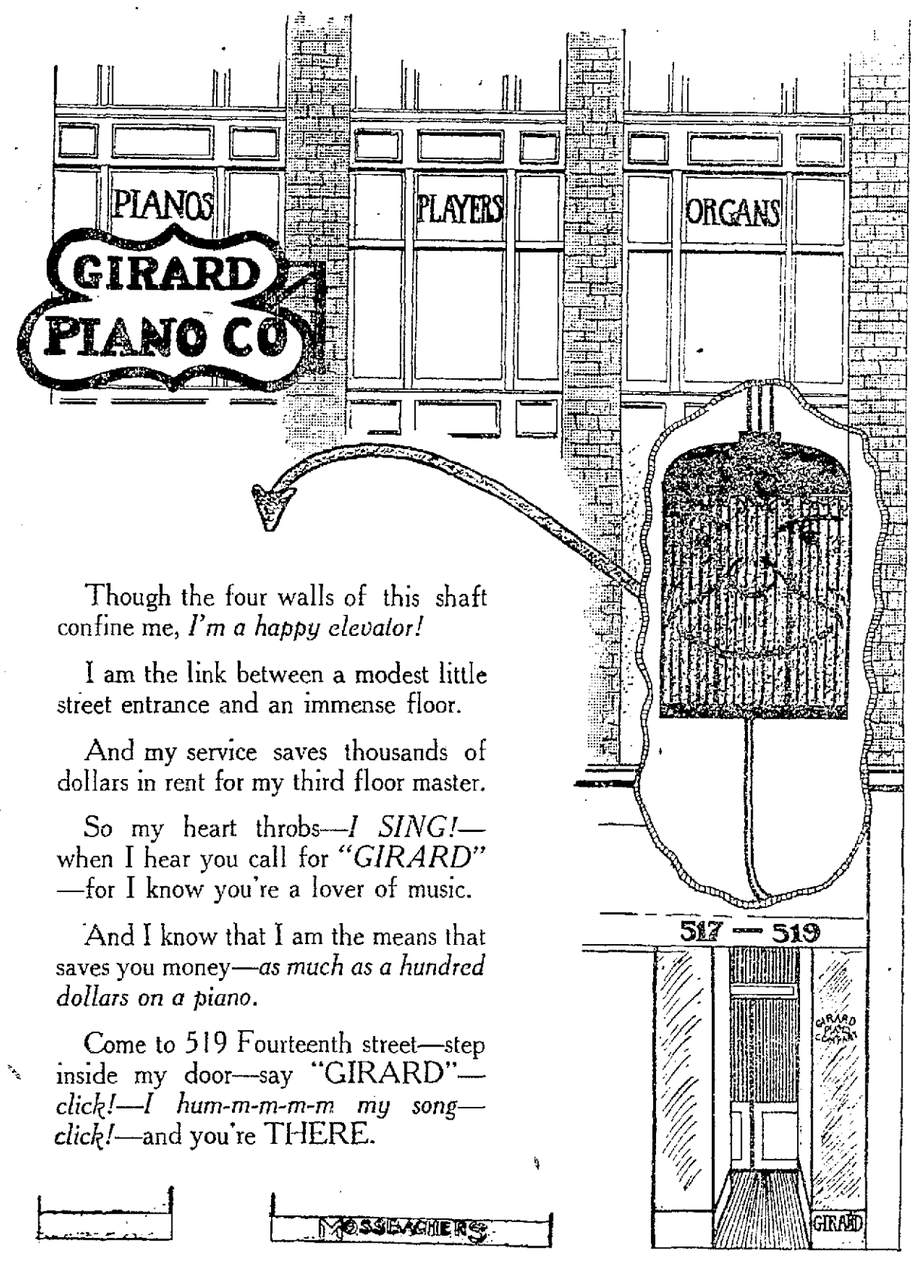

A Cough Medicine of Merit.

The value of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the treatment of colds and coughs is well known and admitted by those who have used it and are in position to know its real worth. Mrs. Thomas Beeching, Andrews, Ind., says: "During the winter my husband takes cold easily. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best medicine for breaking up these attacks. You could not get him to take any other." For sale by Osgood Bros. Drug Co.—Advertisement.

Quick Work Done By Beban in "Sign of Rose"

By C. NARIO.

Putting on a "real life" play in a movie fashion one of those quick-coaxing, slam-bang direction, hurry up sorts of things, which finally end, as all that's well ends well, in a finished article that looks just as if it had been rhearsed for years—this was the achievement yesterday of George Beban, famous film star and former "legit" actor, when he "put over" a considerable slice of "The Sign of the Rose," to go with his film at the T. and D.

Beban arrived at noon and Pete Mullaney, the handsome stage hand, started work on the "set," under his direction, while the property man hustled flowers from all the flower shops in Oakland. The "leading lady" arrived—had never seen the part before—and the musical director.

"Look, we open with 'Funiculi,"—instructed the actor-director, "dig it up and play it presto—and Miss——, you're supposed to be the mother of the lost child—you know, register grief—like this—while I come in and ask for the rose—got that music, well, then we use the coat song from La Boheme—then 'Mandolinata'—play it staccato—Miss——, I begin to tell about my little boy—register oodles of grief—cut the music—well, we close with Canio's arioso from La Boheme—and swell it out—big—got to shock the audience off its feet then—they'll be crying, you know, and a crash of music will wake 'em up so they'll applaud; otherwise they'll be weepy and sitting on their hands. Get me? Where's props? I need some long-stemmed roses—the line says a rose costs $10! You couldn't charge $10 for a rose like this and not be pinched. Where's the manager?".

And Beban, the human dynamo, was gone!

A few minutes later soft music sounded, and a grief-stricken Italian came into the little flower shop. The heart-gripping story of "The Sign of the Rose" was told as only Beban can tell it—and all was perfect.

Long rehearsals?

"No," says Beban, "they only tire actors and you don't get their best work. The right music—and understanding of what the part means—not what it says—that's what makes a play!"

Plays & Players

Valeska Suratt Shines at Orpheum In 'Purple Poppy'

Notwithstanding any histrionic shortcomings and the mediocrity of her play, Valeska Suratt, top of the Orpheum's new show, presents a very vivid appeal. The adjective was not chosen at random. She is the "purple poppy." There are flowers, as the poet admits, that bloom to blush unseen, and the violet, quite as purple as she, has a reputation for modesty. But the coloring of the "purple poppy" shout at you. That is not to say they clash and jangle, although they do change to scarlet for a time.

But you see her, and the impression she makes upon your optic nerve will remain a long, long time, so vivid it is. You will remember her a long time after you have forgotten the play she wears her clothes in. You will not have forgotten much when you forget her play. It is said to be comedy drama, and the comedy is admitted. It has to do with Russia, from where she comes, seeking vengeance for the murders and horrors committed during war by the man she is after.

He comes in in whiskers that grow on him with as little nativity as those of a wax figure, and gets so drunk that when she strangles him he does not raise a hand to resist. It is too bad he gets so drunk, for he ought to suffer a little. The man she loves climbs down through the skylight after it is all over, declaring weakly his disappointment that he did not get there in time to do the killing himself. Then the police come and her lover poses as a Federal operative and takes her away. She goes protesting. You want to see that protest! After you have seen it you might as well die; there will be nothing else worth while.

But there is that about the act that recommends it, and a vaudeville man cannot afford to miss it. Northern lights, active volcanoes and Suratt are too rare to miss seeing when the opportunity presents.

Henry B. Toomer in "The Wife Saver," presents good vaudeville. He sells water front lots, 25 feet front and 100 feet deep. He conducts an auction with the audience for buyers, and his line is unique. In comes the wife-saver, as a deaf and dumb stenographer. She understands his line.

Walter and Emily Walters are two exceptional ventriloquists, really clever. Emily Walters does a baby cry that makes you wake up every few minutes all the next night, so realistic it is. They get the entire house by the ears and create a great furore.

Sidney Townes, with Bert Fisk at the piano, sings a number of songs with such pep that the applause continues into the next act. The audience yesterday afternoon persisted in acclaiming him until the next act came on. He tells some good stories, too.

George Yeoman and "Lizzie" pull a line very much Medburyesque. He is unfortunate in being on the same bill with Medbury, for they both say the same things in their talk about restaurants and the like. Lizzie doesn't show in the act at all, but notwithstanding that she helps a lot.

Pat and Julia Levolo make good their promise of a sensation on the wire, and Sue Smith sings a number of character songs to big applause. She also tells on all the fellows who kissed her while she was a Red Cross nurse in France.

In addition to the Medbury mutterings, the Christie people sent an unusually good comedy this week, and the Pathe news is quite as newsy as usual.—J. D.

"HEART OF HUMANITY" IS SEEN AT KINEMA.

Crowds surged into the Kinema all day yesterday at the opening of "The Heart of Humanity," the 10-reel super special, presented with a spectacular prologue directed by Reginald Travers.

Gripping in its emotional power and beauty, the drama held the crowds breathless. Verna Mersereau, motion picture and vaudeville star, who appears in person in the prologue created a sensation with her original dance numbers.

Special vocal music, jazz dancing by Phil Ainsworth and his pardner, and the dramatic work of Joseph Manning completed the feature.

GEORGE WALSH TO APPEAR AT AMERICAN.

George Walsh, the athletic star of the screen, in "Never Say Quit" and a William Fox all-star cast in "Thou Shalt Not" are the film features now being shown at the American Theater.

"Never Say Quit" has to do with the exciting adventures of a young man who tried to escape a jinx which constantly followed him. This particular jinx proved to be a charter member of the hodoo club and stuck to the young man closer than a brother.

"Thou Shalt Not" is a powerful emotional play of love and devotion, romance and adventure and is full of tensely dramatic scenes and startling episodes.

GEORGE BEBAN IS T. AND D. FEATURE.

When George Beban gave "The Sign of the Rose" to the stage, he gave it one of its classics. Thousands have sobbed under the heart throbs awakened by the character of the Italian Beban makes live before the footlights. It is one of the finest things done by an actor and a characterization that will live in memory long after Beban is gone.

The same character—the same pitiable, pathetic spectacle of the Italian workman bereft of his child seeking to purchase a rose for the coffin of his dead offspring is presented on the stage of the T. and D. with George Beban in the role that has made him famous. Beban was welcomed by an audience last night that was as vociferous in its applause as it was tearful a moment later in the midst of his short but great play.

"Hearts of Men" is Beban's first picture from his own studio and it is a notable achievement in screen productions. George Beban Jr. has a prominent part.

FRANCES ALDA TO SING AT AUDITORIUM.

Mme. Frances Alda, the brilliant soprano, who will give a recital tomorrow evening at 8:15 at the Oakland Auditorium Theater, appearing for her second San Francisco recital at the Columbia Theater next Sunday afternoon at 2:30, has a truly remarkable record with the Metropolitan Opera Company and has demonstrated her capabilities in roles of a varient character.

"Some of her performances have been remarkable," writes Mephisto. "I never remember a more charming and effective Desdemona, for instance, or a more delightful performance than the one she gave in 'The Merry Wives of Windsor.'"

Some of the leading roles she has been called upon to create and interpret at the Metropolitan during the past few seasons (in addition to an already extensive repertoire) are those in Puccini's "La Villa"; Damrosch-Henderson's "Cyrano"; Herbert's "Madeline"; Bordinia "Prince Igor"; Zandonai's "Francesca"; Rabaud's "Maroni"; and revivals of "Othello" and "Falstaff."

Madame Alda will be assisted at the piano by Miss Erin Ballard, a young American girl, a pupil of Mr. Frank La Forge. Miss Ballard, like Madame Alda, is a woman of rare beauty.

SPRUCE CAMP FILM SEEN AT MACDONOUGH.

"Aerial Spruce," a wonderful picture showing the spruce industry of the government is being shown at the Macdonough Theater this week by L. E. Gross, a returned soldier, who is lecturing in connection with the picture. The film shows the methods used by the government to transform the huge trees into the light airplanes and the soldiers in the Spruce Division are shown in the important work they did for the winning of the war. The picture continues until tomorrow night inclusive.

On Wednesday afternoon Arthur Loeb, hero of the Eastland disaster and the world's most celebrated bell diver, will appear in person, lecturing with pictures of the various disasters with which he has been connected as a life-saver. Loeb is now on his way to France to assist in raising vessels sunk during the recent war. He has just come from Honolulu where he raised one of the United States submarines.

On Sunday afternoon, March 30, the Earle Caldwell Musical Comedy Players will play a return engagement at the Macdonough. The company has for its chief comedian Jack Sheehan, a well known local favorite and Eunice Gilman.

During the weeks to come the management has decided to make every Tuesday evening "Prize Night," and many valuable prizes will be distributed among the patrons of the theater. Friday night will continue to be Chorus Girl's Night.

As an added attraction for the four days "Aerial Spruce" is showing "Dan," the celebrated McIntyre and Heath comedy will be offeerd.

WALTER PLAY IS SEEN AT FULTON.

Thrills in plenty, wholesome humor, delightful romance and a fascinating plot that sustains the interest from beginning to end make up the offering at the Fulton Playhouse this week, where Jane Urban, Paul Harvey and the other Fulton players yesterday began the presentation of Eugene Walter's latest striking drama, "Nancy Lee."

Jane Urban has a powerful role in that of the Southern girl, "Nancy," who consents to sacrifice herself at her father's behest by marrying a man of supposed wealth in order to repair the broken down family fortunes, although she has no love for him. When the expected riches fail to appear and her position becomes all the more unbearable, both because of the family's disappointment and her own increased suffering, there follows a series of dramatic scenes in which the high-strung, proud, sensitive girl hides her grief under a mask that seems to proclaim her a cold, calculating woman, almost an adventuress, but in which she reveals her true character and worth to the man of her choice, who wins her love in a compelling and fascinating manner.

Paul Harvey, as the cool, suave clubman and man of the world who sees beneath the forbidding exterior of the disappointed Nancy and brings to the surface the beauties of her nature and the warmth of her really impetuous and sunny disposition, presents an effective characterization. Frank Darien, Eleanor Parker, Will Lloyd, Merle Stanton and the others render capable support.

The first act is enlivened by a novel offering in music, presented by the Feist Trio.

WHITE OFFERS NEW COLUMBIA COMEDY.

In accordance with the usual custom, George X. White again struck a popular note with his latest musical comedy which gives promise of being his best as it was produced at the Columbia Theater yesterday afternoon with Sally Carter, jolly Hebrew comedian, in the featured role of "Abey Cohen," trouble seeker. White contented himself with the excellent role of "Snookums," and was a favorite as usual from the time he stepped on the stage.

The new melange like the majority of the offerings at the Columbia is a bright, clean, pot-pourri of mirth, melody and mimicry with the accent on the mirth.

As to the singing, Laura Vail easily captured the honors of the day with "Southern Dreams," a melodious ballad in which Miss Vail proved at her best. She was in excellent voice and the chorus effect was above average. Other hits were scored by Norma Leslie in "Johnny's In Town"; Fred White with "Has Anybody Seen My Corrine"; Milo De Pedro with the new "shimmying Everywhere"; and Francis Young, with his quaint "And That Ain't All."

COLONIAL FIVE PANTAGES FEATURE.

Dressed in hoop skirts of pretty material, the four lady members of the Colonial Five sang "Songs of Yesterday and Today" to the audiences of the Oakland Pantages yesterday afternoon, while the male member of the quintet played the banjo. These girls have voices far above the average vaudeville singer and made a tremendous hit. Each of them sang a solo and together they rendered wonderful vocal harmony. The banjo-player played his instrument in a way that is seldom heard today. He played it as our fathers and grandfathers used to play it. Among the selections rendered were "My Old Kentucky Home," "Dixie," "Swanee River," and "Maryland, My Maryland."

A skit of wit and acrobatic work was presented by those two reckless and agile comedians, Henry Regal and Sid Moore. Fresh from the land of the Cherry Blossom are the Four Meyakos who introduce an act that is filled with interest from start to finish. As a humorous orator, well informed on the most interesting topics of the day, Senator Francis Murphy proved to be a scream. He told many things of interest and let his audience know the inside dope on where the Indians came from.

Elsie Murphy and Eddie Klein presented a novel act of music mingled with humorous patter and chatter.

On the ying rugs Love and Wilbur are artists de luxe. They presented many difficult stunts. This couple are very well developed muscularly.

FRANKLIN OFFERS WALLACE REID.

Wally Reid plays "The Dub" at the Franklin today and tomorrow. He's got more fight in him than a young white hope, in fact they call him a fightin' fool, but he's still "The Dub."

It's a fast-moving story full of pep and energetic action. The "Dub" is no side-stepper, he goes after what he wants, whether it's love or money.

A sunshine comedy, a Mutt and Jeff cartoon, a Christie comedy, and a Kinogram of world events, complete the program.

IDORA PARK WILL OPEN NEXT WEEK.

The opening of Idora Park, Oakland's beautiful outdoor playground, which will take place next Saturday, presents every assurance of being one of the biggest events of its kind ever celebrated in this city. According to the park management, thousands of persons, principally little folk, youths and maidens, are planning to take advantage of the occasion. Many have already made arrangements to spend the greater part of the day at the park and will bring basket lunches with them.

Captive aeroplanes, a new $20,000 concession is the stellar attraction of Idora for opening day. "A thrilling aerial joy ride," the description of this feature which the park management has given it. It is believed that hundreds will sample its joy-inducing qualities next Saturday and Sunday.

"BORDER WIRELESS" BROADWAY FEATURE.

"Border Wireless," with William S. Hart in the role of an outlaw regenerated through patriotism, is the big screen feature at the Broadway theater today. Hart has another of those virile roles that makes his western characterization inimitable and the story has sufficient mystery and intrigue to prove an exception to the general run of Hart pictures. In "Border Wireless," Hart thwarts the machinations of Hun conspirators and provides a rapidity of screen action that compares to a machine gun in operation. Today's program also boasts the additional attractiveness of three other screen features. Mable Normand and "Fatty" Arbuckle appear in "Adrift," one of their funniest comedies and a Gaumont Weekly and Chester Outing are shown.

AFTER INFLUENZA BLOOD IS THIN AND NERVES ARE WEAK

Resident of Minnesota Tells How He Built Up His System After Many Tonics Had Failed

Acute diseases such as influenza and pneumonia almost invariably leave the system in a badly debilitated condition, the blood thin, the nerves weak and the digestion disordered.

Many sufferers who have passed through the acute stages of these diseases and especially the form of grip known as Spanish influenza continue to lose weight and strength. Ordinary tonics seem to have little value in correcting this debility and the victim is in danger of becoming a chronic invalid. That the debility and neurasthenia following these acute diseases can be overcome is shown by the statement of Mr. Charles F. Deilke, of No. 512 Grand street, Winona, Minn.:

"I had been feeling poorly for five months," he says. "Last October I fell and sprained my knee, and the inflammation which followed caused intense pain. While suffering from this pain I had an attack of influenza and it seemed to deprive me of every bit of strength. My circulation was so poor that my hands and legs were always cold and I kept getting thinner and thinner all the time. My appetite went back on me and I was nervous and restless, especially at night.

"I saw an announcement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a newspaper and procured a box. After taking the first box I could see that the color was returning to my face and hands and my circulation was better. I no longer suffered from chills. I continued the treatment and the pain left my knee. I have regained my strength, eat heartily and sleep soundly and restfully. I have so much faith in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that I have recommended the remedy to my friends."

The purpose of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is to build up the blood. They do this one thing and they do it well. They are for this reason an invaluable remedy in diseases arising from bad or deficient blood, as rheumatism, neuralgia, after-effects of the grip and fevers. The pills are guaranteed to be free from opiates or any harmful drug and cannot injure the most delicate system.

"Building Up the Blood" is a booklet full of useful information. Every mother and every growing girl should have one. It is sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schnectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50. Do not pay more.—Advertisement.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., March 24.—The battleships Vermont, Connecticut and New Hampshire and the transport Kroonland, bearing a total of 6801 officers and men, including parts of the old Ohio and Texas National Guard, arrived here today from France.

CHICAGO, March 24. — Under command of Captain E. N. Marsh, the first anti-aircraft sector, recruited from regulars of the coast artillery detachments on the Pacific coast, with a scattering of Pacific coast recruits, passed through Chicago today on its way home from France. The sector, comprising 326 men, expects to arrive at the Presidio, San Francisco, Friday.

The sector left the Pacific coast in December, 1917, and spent several months in a training camp near Paris. The men were in action almost continuously from April, 1918, until the signing of the armistice. They were officially credited with downing eleven enemy planes.

One battery—the Twenty-third—was officially commended for distinguished conduct under fire.

The 159th and 160th infantry regiments reaching New York today on the transport Matsonia are California National Guard units. The 159th was formed from the old Seventh Infantry and part of the Second Infantry. The 160th was made from the Fifth Infantry, N. G. C., and the second battalion, companies L and M, and the band of the second infantry, N. G. C.

The companies are from the cities and larger towns in all parts of California. Most of these men also served on the Mexican border in 1916.

HOSPITAL WORK BODY WILL ELECT

Joseph H. King, chairman of the Alameda County Institutions Committee, will be the speaker before the meeting of the Hospital Federation tonight in the Young Men's Christian Association Building. The Hospital Federation has been organized to co-operate with the governmental bodies in connection with the Alameda County Infirmary and the Arroyo Sanitarium at Livermore and to look after the individual needs and comforts of their inmates.

By presenting regular programs at each place, holding Sunday songfests and observing the holidays, the federation composed of prominent men and women of the county and young peoples' societies in the various churches have undertaken a unique mission. It was under their inspiration that the inmates in both hospitals were given their Christmas parties last year, each individual receiving the necessities and comforts most desired. Arroyo Sanitarium was given a moving picture machine and piano, and the infirmary was presented with a victrola and set of records. The leaders will be in conference tonight with Chairman King of the county board representing the supervisors.

The election of officers will be an important feature of the business session.

More than thirty men and women motored to the Livermore Sanitarium yesterday afternoon to present a program before the 115 inmates who are victims of tuberculosis. Community singing was led by Mrs. Orrin Kip McMurray. Mrs. E. W. Shaw gave whistling numbers in the several wards. The address was made by Captain William Day. The general program for the convalescents was held in the assembly room. The party separated to give entertainment in the wards where the bed patients were confined. The hospital federation is arranging to present these programs once a month in the Livermore hospital. More frequent entertainments are given at the infirmary.

Woman Injured in Auto Crash

BERKELEY, March 24. — Mrs. Roberta Scott, residing at 248 Eighth street, Richmond, was severely bruised yesterday afternoon as a result of a collision between the machine which she was driving and one driven by Pedro Tasso, 1128 Sixty-fifth street, Oakland, at University avenue and Curtis street.

Tasso was arrested on a charge of driving an automobile without an operator's license but was later released by Judge Edgar, judgment being suspended. Mrs. Scott was taken to Roosevelt hospital but later returned to her home.

Tribune Newsies Are Entertained at '50,000' Club Show

MALCOMB MACGREGOR (lower) and FLORIE MAY TYRELL, who assisted in entertaining The TRIBUNE carriers and their friends.

The TRIBUNE'S 50,000 club entertained its members, carrier boys and their friends at Chabot Hall Saturday morning. An excellent program and show was staged for the youngsters and some of the finest juvenile talent in Alameda county helped to make the entertainment a big success.

Heading the bill was the Oakland Elementary School Band, under the personal direction of Albert M. Humphrey. They provided a fine twenty-minute musical program, which the boys thoroughly enjoyed. This is one of the best trained bands of its kind on the Pacific coast.

Next came little Malcolm MacGregor in Harry Lauder's song hit, "I'd Love to be a Sailor Man," and he was a hit, too, with the boys, for after he finished singing he had to come out on the stage and tell them a few jokes.

The boys were next favored by a five-minute address by Captain P. L. Lynch of the Oakland police force. Captain Lynch told the boys of the days he carried the Oakland TRIBUNE, many years ago, when it was only a four-page paper. Also that the boys were not treated those days in the manner the boys of today are with their fine assembly room, TRIBUNE Junior, theater parties, contests, etc. He also told them to be honest in everything they did and to help The TRIBUNE help them into developing into the right kind of citizens.

After this came Fred Hughes of the Safety First League, in an impersonation of a Chinaman. To say he made a hit with the boys would be putting it mild, for he had them laughing every minute. Mrs. Fred Hughes also came in for her share of applause when she appeared dressed as a cowboy and went through all the regular cowboy stunts.

Betty Jane Temple, Oakland's talented child actress, next took the house by storm in her clever recitations, impersonations and gesticulations. The boys could not get enough of her at all, but like all good things that have to come to an end, she had to make way for next talented actresses who were the three little Berkeley girls, Florie May Tyrell, Margaret Heenan and Bernice Johnigan. They appeared in beautiful costumes of pink and many exclamations such as, "Oh, look at the classy girl," "Hey, Bill, take a good look at the one on the left," and "Isn't she a peach," could be heard coming from the lips of the audience. These little girls, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. G. Clayton, presented the latest songs and dances in most clever and bewitching fashion.

To make it a real up-to-date show Miss Eleanor Harrison made her appearance on the stage as Charlie Chaplin, accompanied by a pet bull dog. If the real Charlie had been in the audience he no doubt would have been green with envy, as Eleanor certainly performed in a clever way; but the real surprise act of the show was reserved for last, when Florie May Tyrell appeared as a TRIBUNE newsboy, all rigged out in boys' clothes, with a TRIBUNE bag containing TRIBUNES, which she yelled out in a shill voile like a regular newsy. She recited an Italian monologue, "My Uncle Joe Was One Strong Man," in an inimitable manner. The real hit this cute little miss made, though, was when she opened up The TRIBUNE bag and threw out real home-made doughnuts that she had made all herself just for The TRIBUNE boys.

KEY BOAT IS BURNED; PIER BARELY SAVED

Cause of the fire which destroyed the Key Route ferryboat San Jose yesterday afternoon is being investigated today by officials of the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railways, headed by W. R. Alberger, vice-president and general manager. The vessel is a charred wreck stuck in the mudflats of the Oakland waterfront, following a fire which totally destroyed the vessel.

Flames and black smoke poured from the windows and enveloped the vessel in defiance of the high-power streams of water which played over the ill-fated ferryboat from the Southern Pacific tug Ajax, the San Francisco fire tug Dennis Sullivan and the Government fire boat Vigilant from Yerba Buena Island. No loss of life was incurred by the fire as the vessel was not in service when the fire broke out, being docked in her berth at the Oakland mole.

A cone of black smoke pouring from a porthole in the engine room attracted Joseph Ramon, watchman, to the vessel at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Thinking it a small blaze of waste and dripping engine oil he entered the room to extinguish the fire. Almost suffocated, he made his escape from the blazing steamer and turned in the alarm.

A volunteer fire brigade of the entire force of employees at the mole was organized to fight the flames during the ten minutes' lapse of time before the fire tugs arrived. Little could be done and much of the efforts of the volunteers was spent in preventing spread of flames to the pier.

As a precautionary measure more than fifty cars of the Key Route system lined up on the tracks were moved out on the dirt fill which approaches the mole. After the vessels arrived all of the efforts of the Southern Pacific tug Ajax were required to prevent the fire spreading to the pier.

The fire completely tied up the Key Route service from 3 o'clock till 8 o'clock last night, even delaying the 8 o'clock Oakland and Antioch train for Sacramento. In order to handle the crowds, the Southern Pacific ferry system ran ten-minute schedule during the tie-up.

The San Jose was built in 1903 at an Alameda shipyard owned by the late John W. Dickie, designer of the battleship Oregon. At that time it cost $275,000. Vice-President Alberger estimates that construction of a similar ferry steamer now would cost $400,000.

The exact cause of the fire is unknown, but is believed to have been due to sparks from the firebox falling into a pan of drip-oil from the engine. This is the explanation offered to Alberger by Joe Ramos, fireman, on board the vessel when the fire broke out.

Leaky Mine Planter Is Convoyed to Port

The United States mine planter Colonel George Armistead, which left San Francisco March 15 for Honolulu, but developed a leak last Tuesday and turned back, was convoyed into San Francisco harbor yesterday by the United States army transport Sherman.

The Sherman brought 1492 passengers, consisting of officers and men of the army and navy and families, together with a full cargo.

The return of the Armistead was the subject yesterday of a board of inquiry appointed by Brigadier General Frank K. Ferguson.

Major O. A. Eastwold, C. A. C., commanding the mine planter, turned back after the master of the vessel, W. S. Green, informed him of the situation, on the ground that what repairs were needed could better be done in San Francisco than at Honolulu.

Union Tank Line Wins Tax Appeal

WASHINGTON, March 24. — The Union Tank Line this afternoon won its appeal to the supreme court against the basis on which the Georgia corporation tax was assessed against it, a majority decision being read by Justice McReynolds, holding that the basis of taxation was confiscatory. Justice Vandeventer, Clarke and Brandeis dissented. Assessment on the property amounted to about $490,000.

VAUDEVILLE FAVORITE PREFERS PRIMITIVE COSTUME TO FRILLS

MISS V. MERSEREAU, motion picture and vaudeville star, who appears in the prologue to "The Heart of Humanity" at the Kinema this week.

"The Heart of Humanity," a ten-reel super special, gripping in its sheer emotional appeal, is at the Kinema this week. It is a big thing done in a big way, with a theme as extensive as the title.

The spectacular prologue, under the direction of Reginald Travers of the Little Theater in San Francisco, which features Miss V. Mersereau, motion picture and vaudeville star, created a sensation yesterday. Come early and to matinee for the best seats.

Joseph Manning of Faversham and Forbes-Robertson companies, and Phil Ainsworth and partner in jazz dances, are added attractions.

WAR VETERANS TO HOLD BIG MEETING

With organization completed in more than twenty cities in the United States, including San Francisco, San Jose, Los Angeles, Sacramento and others along the Pacific coast, the American War Veterans have made plans for the inauguration of Argonne Camp at a public mass meeting in the Oakland Auditorium tonight, when the Rev. Joseph P. McQuaide and other men of public prominence who have served their country will outline the aims of the organization.

Walter J. Petersen, former chief of police of Oakland, will be among the speakers at the rally, as will Nicholas Riccardi of the Presidio, member of the government board of education of crippled soldiers and sailors. Joe Gelder, who carried the Stars and Stripes on Sherman's march to the sea, and Judge C. W. Davison of San Jose, a veteran of the Spanish-American war and judge advocate of the organization, will also address the men.

Organization of the Canadian War Veterans, which now includes more than 250,000 men who served in the dominion forces, will be described by Dick Wells, a Canadian veteran, and the navy's side of the work will be touched on by Ensign R. Shrope.

Nicholas F. Kelly, who is the Pacific coast representative of the national organization, announced today that more than 3000 members have been inducted into the seven Pacific coast camps during the past two weeks, 100 being initiated in St. Mihiel sector, the San Francisco branch, last Wednesday.

The officers of the organization include Roy A. Hamilton, commander-in-chief; Chester A. Higgins, adjutant general; B. B. Kavanaugh, senior vice-commander-in-chief; O. O. Elesh, quartermaster-general; L. B. Gross, provost marshal; Joseph B. Everts, instructor; Edward Carroll, inspector-general, and George W. Sipple, chief of staff.

The aims of the organization are to keep alive the spirit of patriotism which instilled the men who bore American arms in war, to care for disabled soldiers and their families, to secure employment for men discharged from the service, and to maintain organization in readiness to take up arms should the country's principles be imperiled.

KEPT PROMISE TO PRISON PAL TO HELP WIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—"I promised a pal in San Quentin I would get some money for his wife and little girl; I couldn't get work and so I had to take the chance."

This is the explanation of Thornwell Rasmussen, two weeks out of San Quentin, and now under arrest on a new charge of burglary, following a series of thefts last week. Rasmussen says he learned his lesson in prison—had planned to "go straight"—but that he had to keep the pledge to his friend. The accused man says he had signed up on a ship for Alaska; that he was going to make his own "stake" honestly, but that time was short and he had to steal to redeem his promise to another.

"I took a chance," he said, "and here I am. Things look black enough to a man who has just finished four and a half years in the pen and had two weeks, which is hardly enough to get used to things outside again.

"I was wrong, that's all. I had no intention of going back to the life of a burglar—I simply had to have a little quick money before I left for Alaska."

Common Sense Health Talks

BY DR. L. W. BOWER

UREMIA or Auto-Intoxication

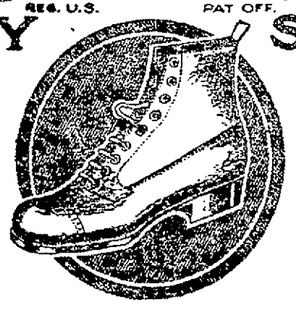

Uremia is a form of auto-intoxication. It arises from disturbances of the kidneys. Poisonous matter in the circulation which under normal conditions would be carried out of the system by the kidneys, is, no doubt, the principal cause. In auto-intoxication there is a continual absorption of poisons into the system unless the intestines are kept clear and clean as possible. For this trouble there is nothing better than castor oil, or a vegetable extract of May-apple, aloes and jalap rolled into sugar-coated pills, sold by every druggist in the land as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. There is nothing better or easier to take; with such help the bowels excrete discarded matter, and carry away the toxic poisons.

It is the same with the kidneys and the renal system, and this explains why a careful urinary analysis should be made every six months. One of the best ways that I know of, is to send a sample of water to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory in Buffalo, N. Y., and have an analysis made, free of charge and without any expense. In uremia one suffers from headaches, or dizziness, or itching of the skin and sometimes muscular twitching; there is loss of appetite with foul tongue and breath. Headaches, dullness, drowsiness are other symptoms.

To treat this disease correctly or to guard against it, there is nothing better than "Anuric" (anti-uric-acid), which can be obtained at every drug store. Dr. Pierce was the first to discover this antiseptic for the urinary tract, and efficient kidney and backache remedy, as it gets rid of the uric acid and the toxins (poisons) and carries them out of the system. Along with regular doses of "Anuric" one should drink hot water before meals, and an alkali, such as bicarbonate of soda, might be taken several times a day. A trial package of Anuric will be sent on request to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dance in the Uplands Given Bride and Fiance

A dancing party for seventy of the younger set from San Francisco and the cities this side of the bay was enjoyed Saturday evening at the attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Fox of 80 Uplands, in Claremont, when the Misses Marian and Helen Fox entertained in honor of their brother, Harold Fox, and his fiancee, Miss Edna Schulz of San Francisco. The home, which lends itself delightfully to floral decoration, was adorned with quantities of yellow spring blossoms and greens. The evening terminated in a kitchen shower for the bride-elect. Assisting the hostesses to receive was Miss Rebecca Fox, a younger sister.

The wedding of Miss Schulz and Harold Fox is to take place some time in the month of June and will be simple in its appointments. Before then many informal parties are to be given for the fair bride-elect.

Miss Isabel Nason was hostess to a group of friends at an informal evening of dancing Saturday, entertaining at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Nason at Lower Roads, Claremont.

A number of friends will be guests on Thursday afternoon of Mrs. William H. Allender at a bridge and tea. It is one of the innumerable parties planned for this time of the year.

BIRTHDAY PARTY AT HOTEL OAKLAND.

A merry little group of friends were the guests on Saturday afternoon of Helen Frances Selby, who celebrated her tenth birthday at a luncheon at the Hotel Oakland, when her aunt, Mrs. Frank J. Mott, was hostess to the young merry-makers.

The table was gay with masses of pink fruit-blossoms, pink caps and balloons, treasures dear to the hearts of kiddies. Luncheon over, all sorts of interesting games filled the afternoon hours. Miss Helen Keller, a cousin of the guest of honor, directed the fun, the winners carrying off the games as prizes. A moving-picture of the party greatly interested the guests, who are most eager to see themselves in the film, just like their grown-up prototypes.

Among the guests of little Miss Selby, most of them school friends from the convent of the Holy Names, were: Mary Helen Stephens, Edith Behr, Sabina Brophy, Claire Brophy, Mildred Keller, Claire Detnea, Marjory Locke, Marie Heafey, Eleanor McElroy and Alona Perry. The little guest of honor is the daughter of David F. Selby.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Hoover are registered at the Hotel Oakland for a ten-day visit. Their home is in Nashville, Tenn., where they have been for the past six years.

☆ ☆ ☆

VISITOR FROM NORTH TO BE GUEST.

In compliment to Mrs. Adolph Hediger, the former Miss Barbara Worrall, who is visiting for a month at the home of her mother, Mrs. Frank Worrall, Mrs. Frank Makinson will entertain tomorrow. Invitations have been telephoned to a number of the close friends of the former Oakland belle. Mrs. Hediger now makes her home in Washington state.

☆ ☆ ☆

Eighteen of the younger girls and matrons were guests Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Emily Crow in this city, who entertained in honor of Mrs. Arthur McHenry (Ruby McLellan), who has returned from Texas to make her home in this section of the state. Bridge was the pleasure of the afternoon and later others came from tea. The home was attractive in varied spring blossoms.

☆ ☆ ☆

Judge and Mrs. Dudley Kinsell passed the week end at Montgomery, making the trip by motor. A little later on they will open their pretty summer home in the Santa Cruz mountains.

☆ ☆ ☆

In Claremont Court, Mr. and Mrs. Chesley Bonestell are to be host and hostess at an elaborately appointed dinner the evening of March 28, when the members of the Bonestell family will assemble from about the bay to honor Louis Bonestell upon his ninety-third birthday. The Horatio Bonestells will be among the guests.

☆ ☆ ☆

INVITATIONS RECEIVED FROM THE SOUTH.

Invitations have been received for the wedding of John L. Reith, president of the student body at the university last year, and Miss Marion Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reynolds Brown of Los Angeles, at 8:30 o'clock, April 5, First Baptist Church, Los Angeles.

Reith is well known at college as a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. He was a lieutenant in artillery, U. S. A.

☆ ☆ ☆

After spending the winter in the southern part of the state, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hardie of Montreal arrived in Berkeley today to visit for several weeks with Mrs. Hardie's sister, Mrs. Edward Booth of Woolsey street. The Hardies have been traveling extensively through the south and after their sojourn in Berkeley will return to their home in Canada. Hardie is one of the leading merchants of Montreal, where the family has resided for many years.

IS PEACE TREATY READY?

If the promises frequently uttered during the last three weeks are fulfilled the Allied peace commissioners in Paris will this week reach an agreement on the draft of the terms to be imposed on Germany. Immediately thereafter it will be possible to open the general conference with the plenipotentiaries of the enemy governments.

Most urgent reasons exist for keeping these promises. A preliminary peace agreement would either result in the acceptance by Germany and the other central powers of the Allied conditions or in demonstrating beyond any doubt the necessity to renew hostilities and press them until a mood of acceptance develops.

It is now eighteen weeks since the armistice was signed. That no peace agreement has been reached is directly chargeable to the effort to force the inclusion of a league of nations covenant into the peace treaty. Perhaps this was a wise maneuver. But time holds the verdict. The menacing disturbances in Germany, the reports of Bolshevist unrest in Hungary, the slowing down of industry in this country and in other countries weigh heavily in the balance.

TWO KINDS OF CRITICISM.

Mr. John Jay Chapman gives in the April number of the Yale Review an excellent description of one kind of criticism. We cannot present his idea better than to quote at some length, thus:

"For a reason, which can be traced to the father of criticism, Aristotle, all writers about the fine arts have assumed that they themselves can understand the meaning of an art without knowing a syllable of its language. Aristotle quite innocently set up a metaphysic of poetry which has no more to do with poetry than the man in the moon; and his followers have gone on jargoning till they have established an authoritative literature of criticism—a Volapuk of their own, which runs along behind poetry, sculpture and painting like a pack of monkeys that follow a fruit vender and pelt him with rinds and chatter. These monkeys have a great influence on our views of the past history of art, and they are extremely valuable in some ways. They do acquire a great knowledge of what is good, and they aid in conserving it and in expounding it to the multitude. By constantly nibbling and spitting out they acquire a superhuman tea-tasting faculty for grading and cataloging the past fruits of the world. They can tell a Sicilian pomegranate from one that is grown in Italy by the smell. They rescue and preserve, they pot and label. They are, indeed, wonderful judges of dried figs. It's only about fresh figs that they know nothing. If presented with a fresh fig they will deny that it is a fig at all. They scout the idea of its being a fig. 'My dear fellow,' they say, 'that will never do at all. Pho!'

"Criticism works with a parlor apparatus. It has shelves, glue-pots and a microscope. It thrives upon small plates of glass, upon which are glued thin slices of what were once plants, insects, flowers, and so forth. Each object has been boiled in wax, cut by machinery into transparent laminae, and deftly frozen upon the glass. Aha, now we will see! Now we shall decide. Turn on the reflecting mirror."

This is the brand of criticism that is put out for the sake of criticism only. There is another kind. It is constructive in motive and aspiration. Its object is to improve or to prevent harm. It is benevolent in purpose, almost always helpful in deed. It is a duty to belong to the school of constructive criticism, wherein criticism is often praise.

But care should be taken always to maintain a distinguishing mark that will indicate that we do not belong to the parochial cult of Aristotle, the brand of commercialized criticism, whose adepts condemn for hire or to satisfy the cravings of an ugly disposition.

SEVENTEEN-YEAR LOCUSTS

In May of this year that romantic plague the seventeen-year locust will visit several of the eastern states. Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, the Virginias, Kentucky and Tennessee are getting ready for the weird song of the cicada and are studying methods to prevent damage to the crops. Some of the Southern States will receive a visitation from the thirteen-year brood about the same time.

The literature of the seventeen-year locust is both voluminous and curious. The earlier commentators on the creature were not sure of their ground and they had to make various and often erroneous speculations as to its origin and habits, albeit they were capable of some entertaining descriptions. To many persons in the states mentioned above the locust will be an entirely new thing and many who see it this year will forget it before they see a locust again.

In the summer of 1902 all the trees in the habitat of the seventeen-year locust were full of the insects. Eggs were deposited in the branches, the larvae came out, dropped to the ground and dug in. Now the long period of subterranean existence is about ended. In a few weeks the locust, with its wings restless to escape its long bondage and vibrate the air, will seek the light. If no solid obstruction has been placed over its home it will succeed. And then for a short period only it will merrily torment the other inhabitants of the neighborhood with its rasping song. Then it will die. For seventeen years it has been waiting the season of its death.

But millions of the larvae that buried in the ground in 1902 will not enjoy even this brief period of lively exultation. The trees from which they dropped have been cut down and the ground plowed and cleared. Concrete basements have been laid over much of their land. Barns, houses, railways and roads have eternally sealed their tiny cave. So the insectologists observe that the visitation of the locust will be less each seventeen-year period, until finally they will be known no more. One writer lugubriously laments that future generations will read his theses on the locust and regard him as a visionary romancer.

Here we have a demonstration of the ideal of the absolute in hopelessness. A creature is doomed to extinction because it cannot keep up with the other moving things of the earth. In the life of the world there is no opportunity for the creature that takes seventeen years to assert itself and demand recognition from the other creatures. There is not a ray of hope for the thing that sleeps seventeen years and sings six weeks and then attempts to perpetuate its stock in another seventeen-year period of submerged idleness.

Whatever imitates the habits of the locust must pass the way of the locust. Industry, activity, watchfulness—these are the laws of preservation and progress. The penalty of violation is death.

NOTES and COMMENT

The sacredness of game laws in California has often been remarked. A man can't get himself in deeper trouble than to catch a fish or shoot a duck out of season—or even to catch a crab. Different in Kansas. The Kansas City Star notes that that State has enacted a law to legalize duck shooting, and intimates that it is for the express purpose of defying the Federal law. Then it adds: "If anybody believes that Kansas can keep him out of a Federal jail let him go out and kill a duck."

* * *

We are advised that the battle between State Market Director Weinstock and the fishermen will be shifted to San Pedro tomorrow. There are those who had just as lief time would be called. The fight may have raised great expectations among consumers of fish, but it hasn't done much else—except to worry fishermen, and there is no great money in that.

* * *

It has before been noted that queer things happen in Texas. That story about a horse's tail being pulled out by an automobile indicates that they still happen. Incidentally, the versatility of the automobile gets new exemplification.

* * *

More stringent anti-dynamite laws are demanded. More discrimination on the part of officials, national and other, in meddling with attempts to punish those accused of dynamiting is also to be desired. The dynamite thing has come too near being coddled in high places.

* * *

One of those awful persons who reduces everything to figures reports that the spaghetti consumed by the Italian army during the war totalled 19,999,999,000 miles in length. Useful fact. In future wars the commissary department may simply order as much as will reach to the moon, instead of going into the particulars of pounds and tons.

* * *

The wool men are afraid the market will be hurt by the government selling out its reserve, bought for war emergencies at war prices. If the market should be thus "hurt" it might mean that a few sheepmen wouldn't realize as much as they expect, but it would certainly mean that something like normal prices for clothing would be possible to the great mass.

* * *

The Santa Cruz Sentinel indulges in ethnology: "Men, such as we know them, have lived on earth for two hundred thousand years at least. And before that time other races of men, now vanished, lived, killed, cheated and ruled each other."

* * *

Dart shot by the Cloverdale Reveille: "Anyway the Prohibitionists have not yet insisted that our national anthem be shelved and 'The Camels Are Coming' adopted in its stead."

* * *

It is possible that some very young Americans will be unable to see that matters are so terribly bad in Russia. The latest news is that at school things are reversed and pupils order the teachers around in that country.

* * *

At last here is something that has come down in price. It says in a despatch that a locomotive that would have cost $45,000 a year ago had been reduced to $29,000. Which is grateful news to all who are shy on locomotives.

* * *

The Washington Post indulges in this original observation: "Europe would be a fine place for surveyors if the inhabitants would only quit shooting."

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS.

The food inquiry at Sacramento is hardly progressing to the satisfaction of the consumer, who feels that he is being victimized in spite of the copious testimony of food purveyors that prices are not too high. There has, however, been one satisfactory witness, Sidney T. Graves, a Los Angeles baker. Graves frankly stated that 15 cents for a 24-ounce loaf of bread was too high, and he expressed the opinion that 12 cents, or at most 13 cents, would be a fair retail price.—Fresno Mirror.

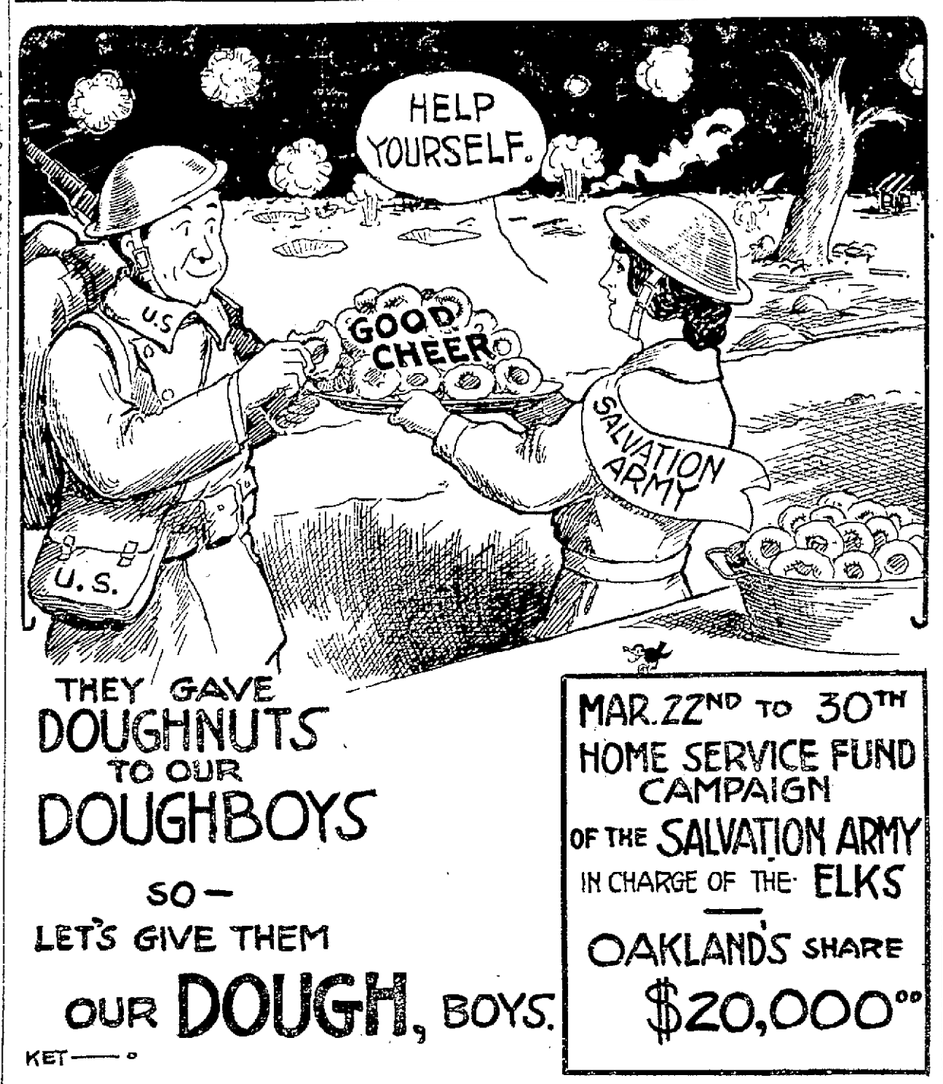

Discussing his bill, No. 414, "An act to provide for the organization, control and equipment of high school cadet companies for the promotion of rifle practice," Senator Scott said it permits smaller schools to have a military organization, as it is the wish of many parents that their sons should get this training, and also defines the status of officers. It reduces the rank, as it does not look well for young boys to go around as majors and colonels. They will now go as far as first lieutenant.—Sacramento Union.

State Controller Chambers is giving the public some interesting facts. He points out that since 1910, the date when the bad old machine was displaced by the perfectly good new machine, the expense of conducting the state government has increased 123 per cent. It is costing more than two million a month to carry on the state's official business where it used to cost less than three-quarters of a million.—Bakersfield Californian.

An anti-tipping bill has won favor in the assembly judiciary committee. It provides that where tips are received the proprietor must bear the onus by setting forth that he is interested in the gratuities. That might and might not ease the public mind.—Stockton Record.

The Islander is informed that the San Pedro cannery men are wasting tons of edible fish when they send the large part of big sardines to the fertilizer plants, selling it for a nominal sum, and using only the smaller part, near the tail, for canning. Our informant said that eight boatloads of sardines were taken into San Pedro in one day and that less than 35 per cent was put into cans.—Catalina Islander.

STEVENSON'S PRAYER.

Robert Louis Stevenson's last prayer tells us how all great men live by faith of the life immortal. Assembling his servants, at the end of the day, in his house in Samoa, he prayed: "Behold us with favor, folk of many families and nations; gathered together in the peace of this room. Weak men and women, subsisting under the covert of thy patience, be patient still. Suffer us yet a while longer, with our broken purposes of good, with our idle endeavor against evil. Bless to us our extraordinary mercies; if the day come when they must be taken, brace us to play the man under affliction. Call us up with morning faces and with morning hearts, eager to labor, eager to be happy, if happiness shall be our portion, and, if the day be marked for sorrow, strong to endure."—From a sermon by the Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis at Brooklyn, N. Y.

ENGLAND'S "DEW PONDS."

The ancient "dew ponds" of England have their modern counterparts on the rock of Gibraltar, where drinking water is obtained by the condensation of the abundant dew in especially prepared basins. The primitive process consists in making a hollow in the ground and filling the bottom with dry straw, over which is placed a layer of clay. On a clear night the clay cools very rapidly, and the dew is condensed into water in the basin. The pond is improved by putting a layer of asphalt or Portland cement under the straw. At Gibraltar the present practice is to use wood instead of straw and sheet iron instead of clay. —Indianapolis News.

BACK TO THE CONVENTION.

The report of the Union League Club committee urging return to the convention system of nominating candidates for elective office is not based on emotion, prejudice or conjecture. It is based on the facts supplied in the history of direct nominations all over New York state.

The members of the committee, William D. Guthrie, Martin L. Stover and J. Van Vechten Olcott, are all experienced political observers and students of the operation as well as the theory of statutes regarding party affairs.

They have analyzed the actual workings of direct nominations and the figures they have gathered disclose the system as unpopular, expensive and cumbersome.

A system that brings 41.5 per cent of the enrolled electors to the polls in one year, in which a full state ticket is to be named, and four years later, when another full state ticket is to be named under the most interesting circumstances, only brings out 27.8 per cent of the enrolled electors, cannot be defended as popular or as filling a long felt want.

This apathy, the product of general dissatisfaction with direct nominations, inevitably contributes to the danger of increased boss domination, a peril the committee points out with unusual lucidity. The faithful followers of the boss, beholden to him for past or future favors, go to the primary and vote; if the nominee is unfit, the boss can defend himself and his creatures by declaring the choice was the choice of the people. There can be no definite establishment of responsibility, no immediate and effective punishment, such as is possible and has frequently been inflicted when the familiar party machinery has been in existence.

The convention proposed in the Walton-Fearon bill, now before the legislature, provides for proper safeguards to protect delegates and would restore the machinery of party politics that protects the interests of all. It should be enacted immediately, that the state may be rid at once of the unpractical and demoralizing system which now afflicts it.—New York Sun.

HEALTH and HAPPINESS

Reducing Pneumonia's Death Toll With Serum From the Blood.

BY DR. LEONARD K. HIRSHBERG
A. B., M. A., M. D.
(Johns Hopkins University.)

With human blood serum 37 seriously ill victims of pneumonia, with complicated influenza, were triumphantly treated by Lieutenant W. R. Redden and Lieutenant-Commander L. W. McGuire of the United States navy at the naval base hospital, Chelsea, Mass. These two naval officers conquered the pneumonia and 36 of their 37 patients are well, hale and hearty. Until they discovered the new method, 50 to 60 per cent of the victims died. In other words, until they employed blood as medicine, patients with pneumonia had less chance of recovery than one in two. They used blood serum from soldiers and sailors of the 50 per cent who had just recovered from the influenza pneumonia.

Lieutenant Redden hit upon the brilliant plan from experiments performed by Prof. Simon Flexner upon children who had recovered from infantile paralysis. Dr. Allen Chesney had adopted these experiments practically in the poliomyelitis epidemic among children two years ago.

Patients recovered from pneumonia were bled as soon as Wasserman tests had been made and their blood found all right. The blood drawn was used in a test to see if it harmonized with the new patient's blood.

Usually the blood of 10 to 15 convalescents was thus tested and made ready in order to have plenty of curative serum ready for a full treatment. Each treatment was generally six tablespoonfuls of the healed blood serum inoculated into the pneumonia victim's arm or leg veins.

Blood to the amount of a pint or two was donated by each convalescent, thankful and happy to be of such noble service to their fellow fighters.

About 18 tablespoonfuls or nine ounces of serum remains from a little less than a quart of blood. The blood donated is allowed to clot for an hour. Bacteriological tests are then made of it to insure its freshness and purity, and it is then put on ice over night.

The serum is cleared of all foreign particles in an electric wheel—a centrifugal machine—and then bottled. Three-tenths of a per cent of tricresol—a creosote-carbolic-like stuff—is put into the serum to preserve it if it is not used within half a day. It was nearly always used up within a day. The preservation serum was only used in seven patients.

None of the men who donated blood was in the least inconvenienced by the contribution of a full quart. Most of them were keen to give much more.

This revolutionary treatment of influenza-pneumonia patients with curative human serum has been in use now only a few weeks, with most extraordinary results.

No harm can come from the use of this serum, and any hospital without some of the convalescent serum on cold storage should be considered as sinful in omissions as if it had no X-ray outfit, no sterilizer, or no emergency medicines.

A bacteriologist, a well-equipped laboratory, correct technique and laboratory procedure and a physician who knows how to transfuse blood are all that appears necessary to save 97 per cent of pneumonia victims instead of 50 to 60 per cent as heretofore.

ANOTHER ADVANCE IN RAILROAD RATES

Another advance of railway rates! will be necessary, in the opinion of the Railway Age, whether government operation is continued or the railways are returned to private operation. It points out in an editorial in its current issue that in the three months following the signing of the armistice—that is, November, December and January—the railways failed by approximately $110,000,000 to earn enough net operating income to pay the standard return guaranteed by the government to the companies.

"The net operating income earned in these three months," says the Railway Age, "was $104,000,000, while the average operating income earned in the same three months of the fiscal years 1915, 1916 and 1917—the years on whose net operating income the guaranteed standard returns to the companies are based—was over $215,000,000.

"The statistics for January are, relatively, the worst of all. The total earnings made by railways under government control were $109,826,000 more than in January, 1918. The freight business moved was 10 per cent more than in the terrible January of 1918. The weather conditions were as favorable to economy of operation as were ever known in winter. Nevertheless, the increase in the operating expenses of these roads over January, 1918, although only a small amount of retroactive advances in wages was included, was $58,200,000, with the result that the net operating income made was only $19,000,000. The average net operating income earned in January in the three years on which the returns guaranteed to the companies are based, was $55,331,000. Thus, in the first month of the year the railroad administration shows a deficit of over $36,000,000.

"It does not seem reasonable to assume that either the freight movement will remain as small as it is now, or that operating expenses will remain relatively as high as they are now. Business will surely begin soon to show signs of recovery from the slump which followed the signing of the armistice. The operating officers, from Director of Operation Tyler down, are making the most energetic efforts to control and reduce expenses. But under the present system of government operation there are certain big special obstacles to the reduction of expenses which are extremely difficult to overcome. Besides, the train service employees are still to be given a large advance of wages, and the expenditures for maintenance must be increased, if the properties are to be kept in even as a good a condition as at present.

"Undoubtedly if the railways were returned to private operation they would be more economically operated than they can be under the present system. But it is impossible to believe, in view of the statistics of earnings and expenses for recent months, that, with existing wages of labor, prices of fuel and materials and passenger and freight rates, they can be so operated under government control as to avoid another large deficit, or under private control as to enable them to earn enough to pay their interest and reasonable dividends.

"The public must pay in taxes the entire deficit incurred in operating the railways. But there ought not to be any deficit incurred. Those who use transportation service should pay the entire cost incurred in rendering that service. The taxpayers should not be required to pay any part of it. The railroad administration ought to advance the rates at once enough to prevent any more deficit from being incurred. With the rates high enough to cover all railway costs, including the standard return to the companies, they would be high enough to enable the railways to be safely returned to private operation.

"Public sentiment has crystalized in favor of returning the railways to private operation. But if this is to be done without endangering the entire financial fabric of the nation, the return must be made under conditions which will enable the companies to live. If the effect of the return of the railways to private operation is to be to increase the prosperity of the country, the return must be made under conditions which will enable the companies to prosper. Perhaps after the railways had been under private operation for some time rates no higher than those now in effect would be sufficient. But it will take months after private operation is resumed to restore operating conditions to normal and effect the improvements in operating methods which are needed to secure the greatest practicable economy. During this period of readjustment the companies will need higher rates to enable them to prosper, or even to live, almost as much as the government now needs them in order to stop the increase of its deficit.

"It will not cost the public near as much to return the railways to private operation as it would to continue government operation; but it will cost something. Will the public willingly pay the price necessary to restore private operation, or will it refuse to pay it, and thereby in effect force itself to pay the much higher price that it will have to pay if it continues government operation? The public must answer this question. It is one of the most important and pressing questions now confronting it."

APPEAL MADE BY EMPLOYERS TO WORKERS

BULLETIN.

BY UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

TACOMA, March 24.—A flat denial of the report from Portland that an agreement had been reached at Washington, D. C., to extend the Macy wage scale until October 1, is contained in a telegram received from representatives of Tacoma Metal Trades Council attending the wage scale conference at the national capital.

The telegram was received by C. R. Barrett, secretary of the Tacoma Metal Trades Council. It said:

"No agreement has been reached. Conference is still on. Report is mistake."

Following a demand made by the California Metal Trades Association last Friday, that the Iron Trades Council of the San Francisco bay district at once supply men to take the places of the machinists, boilermakers and others who have forfeited their jobs by reason of their stand in favor of the 44-hour working week, the first-mentioned organization today made a direct appeal to the men as individuals, not as union members, to return to work.

At the same time the Metal Trades Association, speaking for the shipbuilding and outside shop managements, has announced that work will be resumed Thursday morning in all departments of the plants affected by the prevailing controversy. This means, states Fred C. Metcalf, secretary of the employers' association, that every shipyard and metal working shop in the San Francisco bay region will on March 27 re-employ as individuals any member of the machinists, boilermakers, shipyard laborers, ship riggers and other union organizations which are in dispute with the California Metal Trades Association, that may apply for work.

NO DISCRIMINATION.

There will be no discrimination in the selection of the workers, according to Metcalf, but the men will, as individuals, have to agree to the 48-hour working week mandate of the employers. Re-employment will in all instances be based upon such an agreement.

Metcalf points out, however, that the full six-day week agreement is only binding upon the men until such time as the new wage and working agreement to take the place of the Macy award which expires on March 31, is drawn and signed.

"The California Metal Trades Association has not declared for the open shop," said Metcalf.

"In appealing directly to the workmen in the boilermaking and machinists' crafts, we are taking the only means left us to protect the business of our members. By our collective bargaining agreement, the association has dealt in the past with the Iron Trades Council, which was authorized to act for its member unions. The boiler makers and machinists went on strike in violation of their contract and were expelled from membership in the Iron Trades Council. It cannot enter into any agreement with these unions until they are restored to good standing. We cannot deal with the irresponsible union agents on whose advice the men broke their contract, so we are left with the option either of shutting up shop permanently or making direct appeal to the workmen.

"We have always been ready to deal on a collective basis with the Iron Trades Council and our action now is not intended and should not be assumed to be a declaration of the open shop."

The notice to the disaffected workers, numbering about 10,000 in the aggregate, calls attention to the alleged violation of Article 9 of the agreement signed by the Iron Trades Council with the California Metal Trades Association, which states that during its life there shall be no strikes on the part of the employees, nor lockout on the part of employers. It then notifies the Iron Trades Council officially of the alleged breaking of the contract by the men, and closes with the announcement that "we will resume operations Thursday, March 27, and there are jobs in our shops now open to competent men. The basic working week will be 48 hours, with a basic wage of $6.40 a day for skilled mechanics and $4.96 a day for machinists' specialists and $4.64 a day for machinists' and boilermakers' helpers."

Leaders of the Eastbay unions affected by this latest move of the California Metal Trades' Association to relieve the partial inertia in shipyards and outside shops assert that few of the men will reply to the appeal. "Our men will stand pat, and so, I believe, will those in San Francisco," stated P. W. Buckley, business agent of the Oakland Machinists' Union, in commenting on the call of the employers. "We will not work to exceed 44 hours a week," he continued, "of that fact I am certain."

Other labor leaders of the Eastbay district hold the opinion that the men will return to work collectively, not as individuals, following the arrival here from Washington, D. C., next Wednesday of Robert Fechner, a member of the executive board of the machinists' international. Fechner's visit is made in the interest of a settlement of the controversy. The managements of Eastbay shipyards are also of the opinion that the men will return to work in a body rather than individually.

GIRL SERIOUSLY HURT BY AUTO

Miss Mable Grange, who lives with her sister, Mrs. J. L. Mann, 7 Arroyo avenue, Piedmont, was so seriously injured that there is doubt of her recovery when she was struck by an automobile yesterday. The accident happened at San Pablo avenue and Thirty-second street.

Miss Grange and Mrs. Mann had alighted from the street car when Miss Grange was struck by an automobile driven by W. A. O'Hara, 456 East Fourteenth street.

Miss Grange was removed to the Fabiola hospital.

Frank Lewis, while crossing the street at East Twenty-third street and Fourteenth avenue, was struck by an automobile driven by A. E. Goodrich and knocked down. At the Emergency hospital he was found to be suffering from abrasions. Lewis is a laborer, living at 1654 East Thirty-second street.

Former Chief to Be Speaker at Meeting

Captain Walter J. Petersen, former chief of police of Oakland, will be a speaker Wednesday night at the weekly meeting of Oakland Parlor, No. 50, Native Sons, at the lodge hall, Eleventh and Clay streets. Petersen will speak of his experience in France as a leader of a company of California soldiers and also the military police after the armistice had been signed. Many of the members of Oakland Parlor were in France serving their country at the same time Petersen was, and those who have returned will be on hand to listen. Petersen will take the platform at 8 o'clock sharp.

The membership of Oakland Parlor is now increasing better than it has at any time since the outbreak of the war, due to the untiring efforts of the new campaign committee. Wednesday night's meeting will also be featured by the election of delegates to the Grand Parlor session to be held at Yosemite, June 2. Oakland Parlor, No. 50, will have Harry G. Williams in the field at the Grand Parlor as a candidate for third vice-grand president. Williams is grand trustee of the Grand Parlor and will serve as chairman at Wednesday's meeting.

Will Be Given Farewell Dinner at Hotel Oakland; Depart For North Tonight

Members of the House committee on naval affairs, leaving Oakland at 9 o'clock this morning, went for part of a day's visit to the navy yard at Mare Island. They will return late this afternoon in time for the farewell dinner which has been planned in their honor at the Hotel Oakland by the Chamber of Commerce and the cities of Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley. They will leave late tonight for the north.

Members of the Washington party who took today's bay trip were Congressman Lemuel P. Padgett, Congressman and Mrs. Daniel J. Riordan, Congressman William B. Oliver, Mrs. Will Brown, Miss Jeannette Duncan, Congressman Carl Vinson, Congressman and Mrs. William J. Browning, Congressman Fred A. Britten, Mrs. Charles Beach, Miss Elizabeth Britten, Congressman Frederick C. Hicks, Mrs. George A. Thayer and Congressman and Mrs. J. Arthur Elston.

ACCOMPANIED ON TRIP BY NAVAL OFFICERS

The trip was made on board the naval yacht U. S. S. Vergana, which, with a group of naval officers from the island, awaited the Washington party this morning at the foot of Clay street. Rear Admiral J. T. Jayne, commandant of the Twelfth naval district, and other naval officers and of the Mare Island staff, were also on board.

Immediate construction on this coast of facilities to care for a new Pacific fleet composed of half the force of the navy, is necessary, according to Congressman Padgett, who spoke on the subject at a luncheon at the St. Francis, San Francisco, yesterday. Padgett said:

"We have been informed by the Secretary of the Navy that the navy of the United States will be divided into two fleets—the Atlantic fleet and the Pacific fleet, based on an equal and just division of ships between the two fleets.

"While heretofore the navy has been largely confined to the Atlantic coast, it was not necessary to maintain a large naval base on this coast. Now all this is changed, and with a fifty-fifty division of the naval forces of the county, the Pacific Coast will need many and greatly increased facilities.

"While we come here as individuals and are not on an official mission and have adopted as a motto 'eyes and ears open, but mouths shut,' yet I can say for the committee, we are here to investigate for the purpose of providing greater facilities for the fleet and a naval base on the Pacific Coast.

BAY DESTINED TO BE GREAT NAVAL CENTER

"San Francisco bay is one of the greatest inland waterways of the American Continent and is destined to become one of the greatest naval centers. We have enjoyed the opportunity of studying in detail the shipbuilding plants and the sites for future development of the district. We have noted the growth of the cities bordering on the edge of the water, and, while there is rivalry, it is a rivalry that has in all cases worked for the good of the whole community and has back of it an intense Americanism."

Padgett concluded his address with an appeal that the American people stand behind the President in his endeavor to establish machinery that will eliminate future wars. "Even though we do not agree on particular details of the proposed constitution of the league of nations, we should not let personal bias or political prejudice interfere with our endorsement of the general purpose that something may be worked out that will save humanity from the horrors of war," he said.

George C. Boardman, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Supervisor Kortick made addresses, in which they expressed the hope that Hunter's Point would be selected for the naval base. Both speakers, however, said the project must be decided upon its merits, and the base selected solely with a view for the efficiency and future welfare of the navy.

The Congressional party was taken on a trip around the bay yesterday morning on the naval yacht Virginia, and visited Yerba Buena Island, the Union plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, the proposed site for the naval base at Hunter's Point and around the waterfront to Fort Mason and return.

The members were accompanied by Rear Admiral J. L. Jayne and his staff; city officials, representatives of the Harbor Commission and the Oakland and San Francisco Chambers of Commerce.

Captain H. L. Price, commandant of Yerba Buena Naval Training Station, conducted the party on an inspection trip over the island and explained the methods used in turning raw recruits into trained sailors.

Joseph J. Tynan received the party at the Union plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation and showed West Coast methods of building naval and merchant vessels under stress of war conditions. The House committeemen expressed themselves as pleased by the equipment of the plant. The visitors were then taken to Hunter's Point.

After luncheon the party was taken for an automobile trip through San Francisco and Golden Gate Park and entertained at dinner at the Fairmont Hotel. During the evening the visitors were taken through Chinatown.

Naval officers accompanying the committee yesterday were: Rear-Admiral Jayne and his aid, Lieutenant Harvey L. Miller; Commandant C. A. Carlson, public works officer; Captain H. P. Price, commandant of Yerba Buena island; Captain D. C. Nutting, superintendent of construction; Captain E. D. Ryan, district supply officer, and Captain F. R. Byers.

Arriving at the island shortly after 11 o'clock, the party was met by Captain Edward L. Beach, commandant of Mare Island, and his staff and members of the city government of Vallejo. They were guests at luncheon this noon of Captain Beach.

STUDY DREDGING AND WATER SUPPLY PROBLEMS

Before and after the luncheon was held an inspection of the island and the great naval works that cover most of it. The congressmen evinced particular interest in two phases of the island's development, both present and future: the possibilities of keeping the channel dredged to a depth which would accommodate the heaviest naval vessels and the Mare Island water supply.

Regarding the former point, the members of the committee had been told by the Helm commission that it was "impracticable and inadvisable" to attempt to develop Mare Island as a navy yard suitable for vessels with 40-foot or 35-foot draught, but that the channel could and, emphatically, should be maintained at 30 feet in depth. In fact, an annual problem before this committee, which its members wished to settle, was that of an appropriation to keep the channel at 30 feet.

ENGINEERING TASKS ARE EXPLAINED TO COMMITTEE

Captain Beach and members of his staff were more optimistic regarding the possibility of developing a deeper channel. They pointed out that proper dredging operations could extend this depth to 35 feet, giving the yard an intermediate capacity, or, upon necessity, to 40 feet, for the larger vessels. The engineering tasks involved were explained to the committee. Four million dollars was suggested as a probable total cost.

Recommendations which Captain Beach had just completed relating to the water supply of the island, and which will be forwarded soon to the Navy Department in detail, were also explained to the committeemen. Captain Beach urged the development of a water supply system at Gordon Valley, twenty-five miles away, and pointed out that the present system is inadequate to support both Mare Island and Vallejo, and that the city does not feel justified in the expenditure for a new system. He gave the engineer's estimate of cost at $2,159,609.

The congressional committee was shown the new causeway which is to connect Mare Island with the mainland and which is now nearly complete. The congressmen were told that this would be in operation probably by May 1. They were shown the complex tracking system by which the causeway will be made available to every shop in the yard.

The congressmen and their companions are due back at Oakland a little before 6 o'clock this evening. The Hotel Oakland supper is to be at 7 o'clock, and they will leave the hotel in time to catch the 11 o'clock train at Sixteenth street, which will take them north.

Manicurist Accused of Taxicab Robbery

A manicurist named "Ruby," employed at 224 O'Farrell street, was named by Joseph S. Matney, 710 Brush street, Oakland, as having robbed him last night while on a tour of the San Francisco beach resorts in a taxi cab driven by Arnold de Cassia.

Matney, who is booked on a charge of being intoxicated, is being held in San Francisco for investigation and the police are seeking Ruby and another man and woman unknown to Matney, who made up the party.

TWO SUSPECTS IN BOMB CASE ARE RELEASED

Search for an unidentified "powder jack," who is believed to have been the man who stole dynamite to "sweat out" the nitro-glycerin used in the bomb that last Tuesday night wrecked the George D. Greenwood home, killing Mrs. Greenwood, is being conducted by the Oakland police. The first two suspects taken in this search, Petro Rolfe and Carlo A. Giudici, held two days in the city prison for investigation, have been released. All day yesterday the police operatives scoured the construction camps in East Oakland and North Berkeley in search of the man wanted, but so far with no results.

The search for the unknown "powder jack" is the principal work of the Oakland detectives on the case today. In the meantime circulars, setting forth the rewards offered for the arrest and conviction of the "C. C. of C." dynamiters, are being sent broadcast throughout the United States by Chief of Police Henry Nedderman.

SUSPECTS ARE RELEASED.

The two men held Saturday as possible accomplices were released when no identification could be made. Examination proved that the men could not have been the ones wanted in connection with the case. The police, however, still believe that a worker in one of the construction camps may solve the mystery of the origin of some of the explosive used in the mystery bomb.

Another clew is the finding of an exceptionally large footprint in the Greenwood grounds. It is not the footprint of a policeman, it was ascertained, being larger than those of the men detailed on the case and in the grounds since.

That the bomb was exploded by an acid combustion device, as was first suggested by Detectives Richard McSorley and William Kyle, is now the generally accepted theory of the police, following traces of muriatic acid about the place where the bomb exploded. Harry East Miller and A. Leslie Oliver, powder experts, are making another examination of this angle of the case.

The posting of the $10,000 reward has injected into the case a large number of amateur sleuths and volunteer detectives, according to Captain of Inspectors James T. Drew, who says that the police are forced to investigate under a handicap as a result. One of these brought in a theory of an unidentified negro; another, a woman, came in and offered to solve the mystery, but was found to be a recent inmate of the Napa state hospital.

Chinese Promise to Behave and Police Will Lift the Lid

The lid is being tilted in Chinatown today. In a day or two it will be off entirely. Stern repressive measures on the part of the Oakland police, which included a raiding of lottery places in Chinatown and a closing of every resort there, have convinced the celestials they had better be good.

Chinatown was closed by Captain Lynch and Sergeant Hemphill last week after word of strife in the ranks of the Chinese came to their ears. The main cause of contention was within the ranks of the Bing Kongs. Two factions, one composed of the older element and the other of the younger element, were having a dispute that threatened to result in bloodshed.

Leaders of both factions have given assurance that they have settled their difficulty.

Escapes from Chain Gang; Recaptured

Joe Lopez, an escape from the city chain gang, was captured yesterday by Patrolman A. W. Childers. Lopez was captured when Jesus Alcaraz complained to Childers that Lopez had stolen his suitcase. Lopez was a trusty working for the board of health when he walked away.

POLICEMAN THREATENED WITH DEATH

Following investigations of gambling and vice in West Oakland that have aroused the animosity of certain interests, Corporal of Police Harry Orbell has received threats of death. Underground tips that Orbell may be done away with have reached Chief of Police Henry Nedderman, coupled with a demand that he be moved from that district.

This developed today when Nedderman, as a result of these threats, refused to move Orbell.

"I got several messages indirectly from the powers that be in the gambling and vice interests in West Oakland," said Nedderman, "ordering me to move Orbell. In the old days maybe they used to move policemen in that way, but I refused to do it. I figured that if he stayed there we might find out something, so long as he had these people worried, and so I kept him on his job. Then came the threats that if I did not move him he'd be put out of the way. I know Orbell can take care of himself, so I'll keep him there and let him dig up the stuff."

Orbell had aroused the animosity of certain colored gambling house keepers catering to railroad employes in West Oakland, according to Nedderman, and several times in the past trouble has arisen. He holds that to move the corporal would be a victory for those interests.

Captain of Police Lynch will order the police guard strengthened around Orbell.

"We may have a murder to handle if we don't watch very carefully," he declared.

APARTMENT IS ROBBED.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—The apartments of F. G. Forrest, president of the Union Carbide Company, 1200 Taylor street, were entered by burglars while he and his wife were spending the week-end on the peninsula, jewelry valued at $671 being taken.

INEZ REED CLEWS RETURN TO BAY

Following the trailing down of a series of clews that led to several States, investigation of the mysterious death of Inez Reed, Oakland nurse, whose body was found off a lonely road near San Mateo, and whose death is laid to an illegal operation, has again narrowed down to the bay region.

The latest Oakland clew has failed. Jewelry found in the possession of a burglar who was captured at Piedmont was thought to have belonged to the dead girl, but the San Francisco police held that the jewelry was not hers.

If You Are Very Particular Wear "Caltex"

You will not have to be told of the many advantages of the "Caltex" Onepiece Bifocals over the old style, double vision glasses when once you wear them—the superiority of "Caltex" is unmistakable. Probably you could not wear the old style bifocals, but "Caltex," the newest improved type of double-vision glasses, can be worn with comfort. In appearance the same as regular glasses.

OAKLAND PITCHERS ROLL UP RECORD FOR SPRING GAMES

FIRST TALLIES OF THE SEASON AGAINST LOCAL CLUB SCORED IN AFTERNOON COMBAT

Coasters Shut Out Commission Merchants in Morning and Win From Laundry, 7-2, Afternoon

Herb Brenton Goes the Route After Lunch; Bonner and Arlett Against Merchants

By BOB SHAND

The Oaks look pretty good, thank you. Had the squad that played the Crystal Laundry team at Emeryville Springs yesterday afternoon held the enemy runless the Oaks would have gone sixty-three innings in regular games without being scored on, but the Crystal boys grabbed a pair of runs and the record was all shot to pieces. With Rod Murphy's gang shutting out the San Leandro athletes the Oaks went fifty-four innings without permitting an enemy baserunner to reach the pay-off station. Murphy tells us this is a record for spring training games. May be it is and again maybe it isn't, but that fact remains that the Oaks are showing an abundance of class against the local bushers.

Having blanked the Oakland Commission Merchants in the morning session a squad of mixed Regs and Yans hooked up with the Crystal aggregation captained by Johnny Hayes and firstmated by Jimmy Dunn, and the Howard Hirelings came home on the bit—seven to two. But the Oaks were treated to a surprise party when Oaks O'Connor, the king of the Bushers held them hitless and runless for five frames only to have his little playmates go crazy on him in the sixth and spill the beans all over the lot. Oaks walked an occasional batter but he bore down in the pinch and some of his admirers were willing to bet that he would shut out the Coasters. Two walks, as many binglers and a flock of errors caused the downfall of Mister O'Connor and extracted a smile from Herbie McFarlin and when Herbert smiles a real smile there is something doing. The well known Bill family was prominent in this session. Mr. Bill Lane and Mr. Bill Stumpf pulling one of the well known double steals and getting away with it, Lane scoring. Two blows and a wild throw to second brought home another pair of tallies in the eighth frame.

LOCKER THE GOAT.

Dallas Locker was primarily responsible for the first run scored against the Oaks this season when he could not locate the bag in the first inning after he received the ball. The throw pulled the first sacker off the satchel but he had plenty of time to find it before the runner arrived. Johnny Hayes was the lucky guy and he was booted around the tow-paths by Smith and Tidell who garnered singles.

In the seventh inning Tidell got obstreperous again and opened the session with a two-ply clout. He stuck around until Shanahan had fanned and Reab accepted a free ticket and then tore home on Tifer's out.

Sailor Smith did some nifty bingling for the Laundry team, getting three blows in four times up. He also purloined a satchel.

FANCY FIELDERS.

Del Howard trotted out one of the flashiest infields in the league in the morning game with the Oakland Commission Merchants. With Locker on first, Wares second, Christensen, shortstop and Croll third, the fans were treated to some flossy scooping and throwing. It was the regular "Yannigan" infield but the boys would be regulars if they could only slap the ball consistently. Many a fan remarked: "Gee, if these birds could only hit," while watching these athletes perform. Wares and Christensen acted like a team around the second sack and little Ralph Croll worked like a champion at third. Christensen was particularly brilliant making several difficult stops and accurate throws. And in the outfield were Cullers, Le Bourveau and Dodson, three mighty promising fly chasers who will yet be heard from. Le Bourveau gave a finished display of fly chasing even though he only nailed one. A couple that looked good for doubles were scooped up and tossed back to the infield in time to hold the runners at first.

BONNER DOES WELL.

Al Bonner, the big chucker who looks enough like Buz Arlett to fool some of the cash customers, pitched six frames for the Yannigans and performed like a regular pitcher. Al held Tobin's boys to six blows, fanned a couple and walked three. He was nicked for a pair of wallops in the second but he bore down and disposed of the next two men in easy fashion. Bonner is no green kid and it need occasion no surprise if Howard decides to carry him awhile. When Al retired at the end of the sixth our pal from Fitchburg, Ol' Pop Arlett, appeared in the center of the diamond and allowed one blow in the three frames he worked. Pop dropped Mr. Boldt on strikes and gave a free ticket to Mister Dooley. Pop is quite a pitcher and he will try his luck on the mound again before the season opens.

SMALE, A PITCHER.

One of the big surprises of the day was the pitching of Bobby Smale, the young outfielder, who was with the Oaks for a spell. After Lefty McFarland had faced a pair of batters he was chased to the club house and Manager Tobin being without a regular chucker sent Bobby to the hill. He allowed only five hits and would have kept this total down had he not tired in the eighth when two blows were made by the Yans. Bobby fanned three and walked half a dozen.

McFarland started the festivities by slipping a ticket to Ralph Croll who stole second. Clyde Wares was safe when he shot the ball to first. Bill Osgood grabbed the pill but McFarland neglected to cover the bag and Clyde was safe as a Liberty Bond. A passed ball allowed Croll to register and Wares followed him across the rubber when Le Bourveau bit off a bingler.

ARLETT ON MOUND.

Pop Arlett had a fine chance to do the hero act in the eighth when he came up with the corners jammed. Dodson and Cullers hit safely and Mitze was walked. Arlett's out to first, brought Dodson scurrying home and Cullers scored on Croll's out.

Wares was the only Oak to get a pair of blows. Locker hit for two bases in the fifth frame.

Glimpsed From the Grandstand

Jimmy Dunn, the crack rightfielder of the Hayes All-Stars, was presented with a bouquet when he came to bat yesterday afternoon against the Oaks. Frisco Lind and a few other admirers donated a penny apiece toward purchasing the well known "token of respect and esteem."

Jimmy was "done" in the sixth inning and retired from the game to give Vallan a chance to gain some fame and then the Oaks got busy. As long as Jimmy was playing the Coasters were helpless, but the Laundry team got cleaned the inning he quit.

Pop Arlett, the greatest utility man in the business, put his arm on display in the third inning when he threw Johnny Hayes out at the plate from deep left field. Johnny had bingled and stole and he tried to ring the bell when Smith hit safely but Pop proved to be a regular outfielder.

Rowdy Elliott was given a big hand when he came to bat in the third inning. The cash customers are glad to see the chubby shortstop on the job again.

For some unknown reason the boys in the stands gave Locker the "raspberry." The young first baseman did nothing to deserve the treatment accorded him and it was hardly fair. True, he got his feet crossed up in the first inning, but the best of them make a bobble occasionally.

Bill Stumpf must have felt foolish in the fifth inning when he tried to steal home and found young Tifer waiting for him with the ball. Bill was out by the well known "mile."

Billy Lane found a full house confronting him when he came up in the sixth so he tore off a hit to register a pair of tallies. The ball went high over the left fielder's head to the fence but Bill couldn't get further than second as Ralph Croll slowed up the parade.

Pop Arlett was caught off first in the second inning and was thrown out while dashing for second.

The Oaks did not get a hit off O'Connor until the sixth and they got a pair in each of the last three frames.

The Oaks play the University of California at Berkeley tomorrow and a return game will be staged at Emeryville Springs Thursday afternoon.

Potrero Beths Put Moores Out of Argument in Semi-Finals.

By defeating the Barbarians in the semi-final and the Potrero Beths in the finals, Edgar Pomeroy's quintet won the Williamson trophy for the five-a-side soccer matches, at Eighth and Market streets, San Francisco, yesterday afternoon. Besides the Williamson trophy being awarded to the club, each player was presented with a fountain pen.

The competition was not as good as expected, due to a strong wind, which swept the field. No goals were scored in the final match, the Beths getting a corner in the first half, while the Olympics made two in the second to win. In the semi-finals, the Celtics were put out of play by making only one corner, while the Beths made a corner and a goal.

The Barbarians put up a fine defensive game to defeat the Burns-Rangers 4 goals to 0 in the first game of the afternoon. Jenkinson starred by making 3 of the goals.

The Moore Shipyard five of Oakland put up a tough argument to be in on the finals, but were defeated only after extra time had been required, the Potrero Beths being the ones to win. The score was one goal each at the end of the second half, while a corner in the playoff gave the iron workers the win.

Shafor put the Olympics on the winning road against the Barbarians by making a goal right at the start and then Ankersmit made another shortly afterward. Washauer booted two more in for the Olympics' 4 to 0 win over the Barbarians. The lineups follow:

Olympic club—Shafor, Ebert, Roberts, Ankersmit and Washauer.

Celtics—Kleinsmith, Dixon, Flaherty, Billy Anderson and Phipps.

Barbarians—McFarland, Thorpe, Harlan, Jenkinson and Upton.

Burns-Rangers — Marshall, Ewen, Bruzzone, Seales and Roy.

Union Iron Works — Middleton, Holmes, Norbury, Picknell and Duncan.

Moores — Hunter, Woods, Boyd, McLeod and Scott.

Technical Hi Nine Shutout U.C. Freshies

Johnny Gillespie Allows Three Hits; Fitzgerald Wallops Pill.

For the first time this season, the regular baseball team for Technical High School, and which will represent that school in the A. C. A. L. league, took the field and came off with a 4 to 0 victory to their credit over the Freshmen of the University of California. Several stars were noticed in the lineup of Technical, with the brightest of them being Johnny Gillespie, the silent young gentleman who tosses with his right hand and who has, ever since he grew out of knee pants, been fooling the batters of fast teams in the bay section. Johnny ripped the horsehide over the plate in a dazzling manner, and three hits were all that the Freshmen could collect off him, while seven went back to the bench to offer his alibi why he failed to swing or connect with the third strike. The Freshmen collected two hits in the third and one in the seventh, and with his teammates giving him perfect support, Gillespie was the master throughout.

Enter Captain Gene Fitzgerald, the next star for the Tech team. Gene just had one of his good days, and all that he did was to cut off a couple of hits around the short patch and drive out two triples and a single against the pitching of Smith and May of the Freshmen. Brickell, Bowen, Gillespie and Muller also did some good hitting for Tech, each collecting two. The score:

Bay Point Team Defeats Berkeley Commercial Club

"Red" Gefkin and his Bay Point team played their first game at Berkeley and won a fast contest. Gefkin did some hitting that brought the win to his own team. They defeated the Berkeley Commercial Club by a score of 4 to 3. In the sixth inning, with two runners on the bags, Gefkin hit a triple.

The losers played a good brand of ball and have a fast club, and with the breaks in their favor might have met with better luck. "Lefty" Sellman, who a few years ago was one of the best hurlers in the semi-pros., tried his skill at first base for the Bay Point nine and looked like a champ. Score:

Del Monte Poloists Take Coronado Cup

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 24. — The 1919 polo season at Coronado was brought to an end yesterday when the Del Monte four defeated the Coronado Country club team in the final match game of their series, the score being 9½ goals to 2. The winners take the Hotel Del Coronado cup, this being the second time in the last six years that the northern team has won it.

GIANTS ON JOB.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., March 24.—The Giants started active training here today. All players but Benny Kauff and Jim Thorpe were on hand. Both are expected to arrive by tonight.

SCRAPS AT VALLEJO.

VALLEJO, March 24.—The Mare Island Athletic Club was granted a permit at the meeting of the City Commissioners on Saturday to conduct a smoker and boxing carnival at Eagles' Hall on Tuesday evening April 8th.

ROWDY ELLIOTT ON JOB

"ROWDY" ELLIOTT, former manager of the Oaks, is with the club again and that the home folks are glad to see him back was made evident yesterday when a big gathering of cash customers stood up and gave the little backstop a rousing reception. Oakland fans are willing to back "Rowdy" against "Tub" Spencer for the catching championship of the Pacific Coast League.

BETTING DID NOT INDICATE WIN FOR WILLIE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—The question as to whether or not Willie Jackson, New York boxer, purposely fell down in his several bouts here in order to make a grand cleaning with Frankie Farren is being raised here. Jackson knocked Farren cold last Friday night, winning, it is reported, $2000 in wagers. Jackson's manager, Doc Bagley, declares the rumors all wrong.

The way the betting went on the fight gave no indication that the Jackson supporters were any too confident. Jackson opened favorite at ten to eight but half an hour before the boys entered the ring an avalanche of Farren money appeared in the house and the price was forced up to even money.

Maryland Bowlers Held to Two Hits by Portland Pitchers

CROCKETT, March 24.—While one bunch of Walter McCredie's Portland players were at Alameda winning a game, the other bunch occupied the baseball diamond here and slipped the Maryland Bowlers of Oakland a 4 to 0 defeat. Lukanovic, the young northwest hurler, again demonstrated to the Portland boss that he had plenty of good stuff to put on the horsehide by hurling the first half of the game in fine style. Cooper pitched the last half of the game. The Bowlers got only two hits in the nine innings. Artie Benham went the full route for the Bowlers. The score:

Maryland Bowlers	0	2	2

Pittsburg Fans See Fast Game When Bees Beat Steel Boys

PITTSBURG, March 24.—In a game that was featured by plenty of good fielding, the Salt Lake Club defeated the Pittsburg (Columbia Steel Co.) nine here yesterday afternoon by a 4 to 2 score. Sands at third base for Salt Lake featured with a homer and double. "Red" McKee hit a homer for the Steel boys. The work of "Babe" Gardner and Gislason around first base also featured. A big crowd witnessed the game. The score:

Salt Lake	4	6	1
Pittsburg	2	4	1

Batteries—Conkwright, Caldera and Spencer and Byler; Reisigl, Steen and McKee.

Hollis and Hawks Star When Olympics Defeat St. Mary's

The Phoenix team of St. Mary's College was able to collect but one hit off the pitching of "Babe" Hollis for the Olympic Club at the St. Mary's diamond yesterday afternoon, while the Olympics batted Cartwright for twelve hits and a 7 to 0 win. Nelson "Chicken" Hawks featured by hitting two homers. Ollie Burns connected for three of the Olympic hits. The score:

St. Mary's	0	1	0

Batteries—Hollis and Harrington; Cartwright and Snow.

Chicago Cubs Have Their First Work

PASADENA, Cal., March 24. — Members of the Chicago National league baseball team who arrived here Saturday from Chicago, underwent the first session of their spring training season at Tournament park here yesterday.

The practice was light, but almost all the pitchers, including Jim Vaughn, took a hand at hurling. King Lear, Fred Merkle, Leslie Mann and Charlie Hollocher, showed considerable mettle at the bat, all making long drives.

TIGERS VICTORIOUS.

LOS ANGELES, March 24.—Bill Essick's trained Tigers swelled with pride today. They won the first extra-inning game of the season here yesterday when they beat an all-star team, 3 to 2, in thirteen innings.

EVERDING HAPPY.

LOS ANGELES, March 24.—H. R. Everding of Portland will take to the northern city the Los Angeles Gun Club's visitors' trophy. He won it here yesterday by breaking 41 out of 50 birds in the handicap shoot. He also won the "miss and out" event.

OAKLAND RACERS PROTEST WIN OF SARLES

LOS ANGELES, March 24.—Roscoe Sarles was hailed today as winner of the $5000 Ascot sweepstakes at Ascot Park yesterday in a sensational race, in which he led Eddie Hearne over the line by 100 yards.

But he won't get the winner's share of the money until protests by Harne, Eddie Pullen and Cliff Durant charging Sarles only went 119 laps instead of the full 150, are decided officially.

The score sheet credits Sarles with covering the 150 miles on the one-mile speedway in two hours, seven minutes and two seconds. Hearne's time was three seconds slower.

Sarles' performance shows an average of 70.9 miles per hour, which breaks Eddie Rickenbacker's record, set on the Ascot speedway in 1916, when he averaged 67.4.

Eddie Pullen finished third in yesterday's race, 17 seconds behind Hearne and Cliff Durant was flagged down in fourth place when the crowd thronged onto the track. Dave Lewis, in Barney Oldfield's Golden Submarine, was flagged in fifth place and Joe Elliott in sixth.

With the Seals at Santa Clara

SAN JOSE, March 24.—By a score of 8 to 6 the San Francisco Seals yesterday defeated Ireland's Independents in the game played at Santa Clara and which was witnessed by fully 3000 spectators.

Kantlehner, Seaton and Smith were used as a pitching end by the Seals, while the Independents had N. and R. Kelly in the box.

The game was a speedy one from the time the first ball was pitched until the players left the field, being marked by sensational plays, heavy hitting and fast plays especially by Bohne, shortstop of the Independents; Ireland, second baseman of the same team, and Corhan, short for the Seals, and Flanagan, second base.

Six hits were made off R. Kelly in nearly seven innings of play, while only two hits were made off Kantlehner in six innings.

Kantlehner made the only three-bagger during the game while Harper, center fielder for the Seals, drove out a two-base drive to left field.

R. Kelly proved to be wild in the box and hit four of the Seal players.

One double play which came in the latter part of the game brought the crowd to its feet. This was by Smith of the Seals to Flanagan to Zamloch, catching Iredale out at second and Rierdan of the Independents out at first.

The managers of the clubs had been assured that a large crowd would be out to attend the game, but were considerably surprised when they saw the crowd that did attend.

The game between the Seals and Independents followed the one between the San Jose Bears and the Marshall Parlor, Native Sons, team of San Francisco.

Between these games there was a band concert and two boxing bouts between well known fighters. One was a two-round bout between Allie Nack and Joe Benjamin and the second a three-round go between Willie Meehan and Wheeler, a Santa Clara boy.

Only three and one-half innings was played in the game between the San Jose Bears and Marshall parlor, Native Sons, of San Francisco, the San Francisco boys losing by a score of 7 to 0. They made no showing against the local players, so the game was called off.

Ducks Defeat Alameda Team Four to Three

Halton-Didiers Give Coast Leaguers Argument at Lincoln Park.

By MAURY PESSANO.

One of the largest crowds to witness a ball game at Lincoln Park, Alameda, saw a bunch of Portland players headed by Bill James hand a 4 to 3 beating to the Halton-Didiers of Alameda in ten innings of exciting baseball. "Truck" Kues made a costly error that started the winning run on its way to the plate.

Charley Pruiett, who started the game for the Alameda boys, had to retire in the first of the eighth in favor of Danzig, who was charged with the defeat. In the seven innings that Pruiett was on the mound for the Alameda boys he pitched good ball, allowing seven hits. The three runs secured off him were made with the help of an error coming in the fifth to let in two runs.

MORTON STARTS FOR BEAVERS.

Boss "Lefty" James used two pitchers, Morton and Heinie Lay, both local boys. Harry Morton was just wild enough to be effective in the pinches, and several times he got himself out of hot water. It wasn't until the third that the Alameda boys solved his shoots, driving out four hits and scoring two runs. After Dorman was out of the way in the first of the third, Morton hit one of Pruiett's shoots to deep center, the ball bounding between the two fences, which gave Harry a home run. Pruiett settled down and the next two batters were easy outs. The lead over the Alameda boys was only held until they came to bat in this semi-inning. Of the four hits gotten off Morton in this inning two of them were wasted for Bankhead's double center and a homer by "Speed" Gadsen over the right field fence gave the Alameda boys all their runs in this inning.

To open the tenth for the Beavers, Lay was given free transportation to first base by Danzig. Clark Boldt got his third hit when he singled to right, and when Kues let the ball go through his legs, Lay went to third and Boldt to second. Stolofe, who showed plenty of class around short in this game, drove out a hit to right that sent Lay across with the winning run. Although the Halton Didiers got a man as far as third with only one out, Lay settled down and the next two batters were easy victims.

St. Ignatius Is Winner Over St. Mary's Five

Game Which Ended With the Doubtful Score to Be Played Over.

By DOUG. MONTELL.

The California-Nevada league closed its basketball season with the victory of St. Ignatius over St. Mary's by the score of 40-16 on the San Francisco court.

St. Mary's played in hard luck, for in the team that took the floor there was but one regular player and he was out of his usual position. Captain Ritchie was out on account of an injured knee; Freitas at center was missing on account of a death in the family. Anderson and Dearborne both missed connections and failed to arrive, so that the Saints were able to present only a patched line-up and could not hope to win.

Mulkenbuhr of St. Ignatius rolled in the highest total with eighteen points to his credit. Lottewasser, with twelve and Cronin with ten were close behind him. The St. Ignatius boys didn't get going in the first half at all and the score stood 8-5 at half time. The second half saw all three of the point scorers get into action and roll up a huge score while holding the Oakland boys to a small point allowance. The score:

St. Ignatius (40)—Lottewasser (12), forward; Mulkenbuhr (18), forward; Cronin (10), center; Williamson, guard; Marcovich, guard.

St. Mary's (16)—Griffiths (10), forward; Barber (4), forward; Scott (2), center; Silva, guard; Oberrio, guard.

Substitutes: St. Ignatius—Hallinan for Marcovich, N. Marcovich for Williamson, Daley for Cronin.

Goals: St. Ignatius—Lottewasser, 5; Mulkenbuhr, 7; Cronin, 5. St. Mary's—Griffiths, 3; Barber, 2; Scott, 1.

Referee—Kerns.

Word was received by Coach Thorne of St. Ignatius yesterday from Walter Christie, chairman of the league, who answered the protest filed against the Santa Clara game and in which he said that all points protested were specifically covered by the rules. He did, however, recommend that the game be replayed. Bill Thorne of St. Ignatius, was in conference with James O'Connor at Santa Clara, yesterday, and the latter agreed to play the game over again, if Walter Christie would send a written ruling to him. Had Santa Clara been allowed the 18 to 17 win, they would now be tied with California for first place. The team that wins the play-off game will be tied with the Berkeley team.

"Buz" Arlett Hurls Oaks To Win Over Best Tractors When He Allows Four Hits

Only Two Earned Runs Made Off Young Hurler in Thirty-seven Innings

By EDDIE MURPHY

Russell "Buz" Arlett, the young but giant-looking hurler of the Oaks, will be one of Del Howard's best bets in the fight for the pennant in the Pacific Coast League this season. Put that little tip in your bonnet until along about next July and see if we won't be right. "Ironman" Arlett might be the right name to call the younger member of the Arlett family, as he has more than earned that title since the Oaks have been in training but only two weeks. Yesterday afternoon the big overgrown kid, as he is called by a lot of his pals, took the mound for the Oaks against the C. L. Best Tractors at San Leandro, and only four hits were the Tractors able to garner for themselves, while his team-mates batted out eleven against the pitching of Artie Schimpff and Fodder Dolan to score a 5-to-0 victory.

By going the full route for the Oaks, Arlett ran his innings of labor since the training season opened up to 37, and you will have to show us any other hurler in a club training camp that has gone out and done that much work and did it the best that could be expected in any first two weeks of training. On a nine inning basis, Arlett has pitched four full games and one inning to spare. But that is not the whole show of his work for Del Howard's club.

In those 37 innings, the youthful hurler had allowed only fourteen hits and three runs, with one of those runs being unearned. It was only Friday afternoon that he pitched a full nine inning game against Clyde Wares' Warriors and let them down with four hits to win. He recently let the St. Mary's Phoenix team down with one hit, while all the other innings, with the exception of those against the Tractors yesterday, were in games against Murphy's and Wares' teams. The members of the two latter teams were just as anxious to get their little base knocks as was Arlett to win, so he deserves credit for the fine record that he has run up thus far.

TRACTORS GIVE THE OAKS A CLOSE ARGUMENT.

Although the Tractors suffered a shutout defeat, they put up a better argument against the Oaks than many expected they would. They showed just as much gameness against Del Howard's boys as they have against an ordinary amateur team, and the wiser team knew that they could not afford to take any chances. Art Schimpff started the hurling for the Tractors, and the veteran looked like a regular leaguer for the first four innings, holding the opposition to two hits which were made in the third inning. The Oaks shoved over four of their tallies in the fifth, after two were out and Clothier spoiled the chance for a third out when he made a boot at the most critical time.

Harvey Christensen led off with a single to left and he was sacrificed to second by Drolette, who laid down a perfect bunt along the first base line, with Schimpff tossing him out. Cullers flied to Seacap Christensen in right, the outfielder nabbing the ball near the fence. Buz Arlett was hit by a pitched ball, and then came Morse with a rap to Clothier who booted just long enough to let Morse reach first fill the sacks. Captain Rod Murphy put an end to the scoreless innings by driving a hit between first and second to score Christensen and Arlett. Hack Miller then came along with a double to left center that scored Morse and Murphy and Hack went to third when Roche hit safely between third and short. Le Borveau lined to Clothier for the third out.

Fodder Dolan pitched the remainder of the game for the Tractors and was touched for five hits, ones by Arlett and Miller scoring a tally in the seventh. Art Vargas was the only runner to reach third for the Tractors, he stealing that bag after getting on through an error. Two double plays cut off chances for Tractors runs.

Rod Murphy had charge of the Oaks in the field, while Clyde Wares went along as business manager, looking after the expenses of the boys and the cut on the gate. Clyde wants it understood that he is not a rival for Herbert McFarlin's job. The score.

Fans Getting Ready to Dope Up the Majors

Training Season Inaugurated in American and National Leagues.

By JACK VELOCK
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, March 24.—With a majority of major league clubs inaugurating spring training in Dixie today, the baseball experts are casting about for entrants that may figure as dark horses in the coming campaign. Several teams in both major leagues may be figured in this class, but two teams, one in each circuit, are being regarded as most likely to furnish surprises.

One of these teams will be piloted by the veteran, Connie Mack.

The Athletics with the capable players of last season back in harness and such performers as Witt, Grover and Bates back from the service, show possibilities that are difficult to measure. Mack's outfield will be considerably strengthened through the addition of Bobby Roth, secured in the deal with Cleveland, and Fred Thomas, from Boston, may assist the leader of the once great Athletics in re-establishing his name as a wizard.

Teams like the Red Sox, White sox, Cleveland Indians and Yankees, know just what to expect from one another. The Athletics are an unknown quantity and hard to figure.

In the National League rival managers will keep a weather eye on Pat Moran, who inaugurates his regime as the manager of the Cincinnati Reds.

Moran's success when he took hold of the Phillies is still fresh in the memories of his brother managers. At Cincinnati "Sir Patrick" will step in with a club that has great natural hitting ability, and it is understood that he will call in Oscar Dugey as his assistant. Moran's one great problem is the filling of the short stop position and it is predicted that he will sign Buck Herzog for this important job.

Three I League Will Start Again

CHICAGO, March 4.—Reorganization of the Three I baseball league was effected at a meeting here yesterday when Al R. Tearney, for nine years president of the league and newly chosen president of the Western League, was elected president and plans made for a six-club circuit.

The six-club circuit shall consist of Evansville and Terre Haute, Ind., Peoria, Rockford, Bloomington and Moline, Ills.

U. S. TROOPS ENTER MEXICO; SLAY BANDITS

MARFA, Tex., March 24.—Members of the Eighth United States cavalry, who returned today from an engagement with Mexican bandits eighteen miles south of Rio Grande, declared five of the bandits had been killed and two wounded. None of the Americans was injured.

Forty head of cattle and several horses being rustled across the border by the Mexicans were brought back by the Americans.

The troops under Captain Kloepfer followed a "hot trail" across the border yesterday, following a raid by bandits on the American side. Cattle and horses were stolen by the Mexicans from the Nunez ranch.

Captain Klopfer's report to headquarters stated he crossed the Rio Grande seven miles below Ruidosa ford, came into contact and engaged the band eighteen miles from the river crossing and just at nightfall last night opened fire on the bandit band.

DOCTOR URGED AN OPERATION

Instead I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Was Cured.

Baltimore, Md.—"Nearly four years I suffered from organic troubles, nervousness and headaches and every month would have to stay in bed most of the time. Treatments would relieve me for a time but my doctor was always urging me to have an operation. My sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before consenting to an operation. I took five bottles of it and it has completely cured me and my work is a pleasure. I tell all my friends who have any trouble of this kind what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—NELLIE D. BETTINGHAM, 609 Calverton Rd., Baltimore, Md.

It is only natural for any woman to dread the thought of an operation. So many women have been restored to health by this famous remedy, Lydia E. COOK STABS CAPTAIN WHILE SHIP LEAKS

Following a frenzied fight against death in a leaky ship, in which the crew, panic stricken, could only be kept organized by extreme measures, and in which a Japanese cook, nearly demented by fright, stabbed the captain, W. J. Ferem, the schooner Zampa limped into port today.

Two days out from Apia she sprung leaks that the pumps were unable to handle, most of the crew having been ill with influenza. The men were put on the pumps in shifts. While Captain Ferem was getting a moment's sleep the Japanese cook, armed with a butcher knife, attacked him, inflicting several wounds. The Japanese, A. Matsuso, who signed for the trip in San Francisco, was brought back a prisoner in his own room on the ship, and is unable to give a clear account of what happened. He had been ill.

The man was taken to the Immigration Station for investigation. Captain Ferem's wounds, which were superficial, had practically healed, and he said that he attached no actual blame to the cook, believing him to have been out of his head.

The vessel was towed in by a tug, and brought a cargo of copra.

Dowie Meetings at Centennial

The special meetings held at the Centennial Presbyterian church, on Twenty-fourth avenue and Foothill boulevard, during the last week have been altogether unique. Mr. Dowe the evangelist, is a man who grows upon the people in every way. His own wonderful experience, which is vouched for by men now living in the bay region, is a tremendous testimony to the saving and keeping power of Jesus Christ. And his preaching goes straight home to the hearts of his hearers. In his work there are none of the features that so many find objectionable in the work of the ordinary evangelist. There is no claptrap, no bidding for mere popularity, no appeal for money, but just a clear and powerful presentation of the gospel of Jesus Christ. He is a wise and sane preacher of the word and he sticks strictly to the broad lines of truth upon which practically all evangelical Christians agree.

The meetings are to continue all this coming week, beginning each evening at 7:30 and closing at 9, or very shortly after that time. A meeting especially for the young people will be held on Friday evening. The series will close on Sunday evening, the 30th.

Those who are interested are looking forward to a splendid work for the coming week.

Daughter's Return C. O. D., Parents Ask

"Find our daughter, and return her C. O. D."

This is the behest of the parents of twelve-year-old Alma Knowles, of Concord, to Sergeant Robert Bruce Forgie of the Central Police Station, and the sergeant has four men out looking for the missing girl.

According to the message to the police the missing girl came to Oakland Saturday and became separated from her parents in a crowd. The parents asked that she be returned at their expense when found. She may be with friends, according to the message from Concord.

Bartender Held on Charge of Robbery

David Ryder, bartender at the Cave Saloon, Eleventh and Washington streets, Oakland, was arrested yesterday and booked at the San Francisco city prison by Detectives Lord and Murphy on a charge of grand larceny in connection with the alleged robbery of Charles R. Ford of Sioux City, Iowa.

Ford reported to the police Saturday that he had been robbed of $890 in travelers' checks, $125 in money and a watch and diamond pin following a tour of the Barbary Coast and uptown tenderloin district with three strangers, one of whom gave him a card bearing Ryder's name.

Foxall Keene Is Back in Saddle

DEL MONTE, March 24.—Foxhall Keene, a name to conjure with in polo, is back in the saddle once more. The player who once was a sensation on English fields and still rates as a fearless man—the highest that can be reached—has been at Del Monte for the past ten days knocking the ball around with the band of polo-ists who have gathered for the annual Del Monte tournament, which opens this coming Saturday and runs until April 13.

In 118 trips to the bat he made 31 safe connections, which eleven were two base hits. If Murray makes good, according to Skipper Rodgers, he will replace Gus Fisher as second string catcher.

Seattle Ready to Train at Capital

SACRAMENTO, March 24. — The Seattle Coast leaguers today asked for the use of the local ball park until the end of the training season, as their grounds at Taft, Kern county, are so bad that practice is being hindered.

Manager Bill Rodgers of the Sacramentos wired Acting Manager Murphy of the Seattle players that the local diamond could be used by the northern team every morning. An early answer accepting the offer is expected.

Gossip for Baseball Fans

By MAURY PESSANO

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, March 24.—Walt Christie staged a novelty on the oval the past week end, when he inaugurated what he termed his Athletic Cafeteria. Walt says that it is a product of the needs of the times and he hints that it may become an annual affair. It was merely a thorough test of the track and field material of the Blue and Gold and in many cases, particularly among the Freshmen, it was their first test under time.

Things had gotten so that Walt had difficulty in assembling all his athletes at one time, so he devised that idea of allowing each athlete to appear at any time during the day and run against time in his event or events on the oval and counted those who made the best times in each event. He did the same with the field events, and although he didn't call it a track meet, the results were satisfactory.

The Freshmen in particular are showing to great advantage. Many of the Frosh are former high school stars whose records are known, but a list of their available material will not be made known until after the Inter-Class meet, to be held next Saturday. At this time the first inkling of the prospective line-ups of the Freshman and Varsity teams can be definitely obtained.

The baseball game staged Saturday between the Alumni and the Bruin Varsity proved to be quite a contest. For seven innings it took on the aspect of a baseball game and everyone was real interested in the outcome but the eighth inning spoiled that vision and from then on it was a walkaway for the present day athletes.

The greatest point of interest about the game was the personnel of the team that Brick Morse, manager of the Alumni, had gathered together. Pete Kaarsberg, '89, in rightfield, was the oldest grad in action, and he distinguished himself by being the first runner across the plate.

Hamilton and Hamlin were two other old alumni who caverted in the outer garden. In the infield was Ovie Overall at first, who also pitched a couple of innings; Kennedy at second, Billy Adams at third and Rohwer on short. Doc Strub, now president of the Scots, was due to play second, but failed to show up.

The battery presented a sensation in the person of Locomotive Smith '92, behind the bat. The college hero of seventeen years ago has taken unto himself ample proportions since he last appeared in action, but he distinguished himself by doing actually better work than the present Varsity catcher, who started the game. Hal Dimock of the Seals was on the mound for awhile, five innings, to be exact, and he toyed with the boys, allowing two runs and six hits in his work. At that the old-timers showed an ability to come back, and inasmuch as that was the only action on the boards, it carried off headline honors.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, March 24.—The California Freshmen added another victory to their laurels when their swimming team trimmed the Berkeley High mermen by the score of 45-35 in their dual meet at the Berkeley Y. M. C. A. tank. Sandy Goodman was the star of the meet, taking two first places in the 100 and in the 50 back stroke. His time in the fifty was 32:1.

The Berkeley High men produced a comer in Kimberlin, who won the 220 handily and was a good second in the 100. The boy shows much speed and is a find.

The score:

50-yard dash—Won by Dustin (B); 2nd, Mitchell (B); 3rd, Clarke (G). Time, 28:2.

100-yard dash—Won by Goodman (F); 2nd, Kimberlin (B); 3rd, Dustin (B). Time, 1:03.

220 yards—Won by Kimberlin (B); 2nd, Armstrong (F); 3rd, Johnson (F). Time, 2:58.

100-yard breast stroke—Won by Nauman (F); 2nd, Cohn (F); 3rd, Dempster (B). Time, 1:22.

Diving—Won by Hanscom (F); 2nd, Christensen (F); 3rd, Fre (B).

50-yard backstroke—Won by Goodman (F); 2nd, Clark (F); 3rd, Nichols (B). Time, 32:1.

Plunge—Won by Dyer (B); 2nd, McMillan (F); 3rd, Harvey (B). Distance 59 feet 6 inches.

Relay—Won by Freshmen (Peterson, Wolf, Armstrong, Nauman, Clark and Goodman).

The California Varsity is going to get the real acid test this week, when on Tuesday they entertain the Oakland Coast League Club on California field. Thursday a return game is slated for the Oakland lot and in these two contests the Bruins will be given a chance to display their knowledge of the national pastime and to find their flaws and correct them before the Stanford series. The Oaks have not thus far submitted a line-up and it is not known just how strong a team Manager Del is figuring on putting up against the Bruins.

California is taking an added interest in swimming as the date of the Stanford-California dual meet approaches. Captain Lefty Smith announced the date of April 5 that the Bruin Varsity would journey to Stockton to meet the Stockton A. C. of that city. This will be the only meet of importance before the Stanford meet of April 12. However, following that date will come the Inter-Collegiate which promises to be one of the big affairs of the season.

GERMS SPILLED ON FLOOR CAUSE POLICE WORRY

What kind of diseases lurk today in the office of Desk Sergeant Robert Bruce Forgie?

This is the agonized question at the police station—and all policemen fear mightily, except Forgie himself. All because a test tube, full of some kind of bacilli, left by a physician at the station for the health department, dropped to the floor and smashed, spilling its germs on the balmy air of the police office.

Maybe they're diphtheria germs—maybe smallpox, or measles. Anyhow, they're there, and coppers hesitate to enter Forgie's office in consequence.

Forgie says he isn't afraid. "I'm a Scotsman!" says the sergeant, "an' I dinna ken the meanin' o' th' wurrd fear!"

But he's alone in the office—and will be until "Doc" Jones of the health department fumigates it.

NAVY TO FOSTER ATHLETIC WORK

That the navy intends to encourage and promote athletics and recreation with official recognition in the future is evidenced by information received at local navy recruiting headquarters, Liberty Hut, Fourteenth and San Pablo avenue.

The navy branch of the Commission on Training Camp Activities has been transferred to the Bureau of Navigation, Navy Department, Washington, and athletics, recreation, etc., will be directed and supervised by the Navy Department in the future.

Under the direction of this new division of the bureau ships and stations will be furnished with newspapers, periodicals, phonographs, pianos, athletic gear and all the various articles of athletic equipment and social recreation that the navy man could desire.

While athletics in the navy have always been encouraged, there was previously no official recognition through a department personally charged with supervising such matters. But now that special attention will be given to athletics and recreation, the navy should be even more popular with the average young man than before. At the training stations and on board ship he will find everything to add to his personal comfort and welfare that he would find on shore in civil life.

FLYERS RETURN OVER SIERRA

SACRAMENTO, March 24.—Two of the De Havilland planes that made the flight Saturday from Mather field to Carson, Nev., and Reno returned last evening with Governor Emmet D. Boyle of Nevada passenger in the second machine to make the landing at the army aviation camp.

The first plane to reach Mather field made the return trip from Carson in one hour even, thus clipping thirty minutes from the record of the day before. The machine with Governor Boyle landed a few minutes later. The third De Havilland had not arrived at 6:30 o'clock and its whereabouts was not known. A Curtiss machine, which made the flight successfully to Reno Saturday, was unable to return yesterday because of an accident near Carson, but is expected to reach Mather field today.

STOCKTON, March 24. — The missing airplane from Reno landed at Lockeford, seventeen miles northeast of Stockton, shortly after 6 o'clock this evening. The men had lost their way, and, trying to find where they were, circled over the town four times and landed in a plowed field.

The machine overturned on the plowed ground. The men were unhurt and telephoned to Mather field for men to pick up the damaged plane. All returned to Mather field last evening, leaving the machine in care of a watchman.

The street car service will be continued until midnight each night, three cars in operation. Four will be used during the rush hours.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards's determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists

U. S. Is Potentially Greatest Sea Power on Earth, Declares Hurley After Trip Abroad

ALL NATIONS JOIN RACE TO SPEED TRADE

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the U. S. Shipping Board, has rendered a report to his colleagues of the board on the result of his mission abroad to get information on the shipping situation of the world as a result of the war. The principal parts of his report follow:

"The war has brought us into a high place as a maritime power. I find the peoples of the world aroused to an intense interest and concern as to the use we are to make of this power.

"In America you have heard much about British competition. In Great Britain I heard a great deal more about American competition.

"The truth is that our friends across the way are for the first time in many years entering upon a period of actual competition.

"Today we are potentially the greatest maritime power of the earth, for the reason that we possess the greatest shipbuilding instrumentalities.

TO REPLACE LOSSES.

"In almost every country the desire exists not only to replace war losses, but to add new totals to be used in the work of reconstruction and in developing new foreign trade.

"France is planning her first effort in modern times to secure a merchant marine commensurate with her foreign trade.

"Italy's war losses equal more than half her merchant fleet as it existed prior to the outbreak of the war. Italian officials are said to feel that it is now very necessary to replace the lost vessels.

"Japan has developed great shipbuilding power. She is developing new sources of steel supply in China with a view of becoming less dependent upon Europe and America for plates.

"It is not saying too much to assert that the handling of the labor situation in any nation you may choose will determine that nation's success in shipbuilding and ship operating as well as in every other material department of her life.

FUTURE IS BRIGHT.

"The future is bright for those Americans who would follow the profession of the sea.

"In America there exists an idea that our seamen's wages are higher than those of any other nation. It is time for the public mind to be disabused of this conception. The facts will dismay those who are agitating for a lower wage scale on American ships. We are paying our seamen $75 a month. England, during the war, paid her seamen $72 a month. The French and Dutch are paying high wages. In Sweden the seamen's scale is even higher than in the United States.

After stating that the first thing necessary is to know where we stand, Hurley gives a summary of the world ship tonnage situation. The only conclusion from the figures is that there is an imperative demand for new ships to carry the commerce of the world, and it will be our effort to be of service in this direction.

U. S. FORGES AHEAD.

"The United States forged ahead as rapidly as Germany fell behind," says Hurley.

In view of her large losses and the utilization of her shipyards for the production of war material, thus preventing new construction, France, through her Navy League representing shipping companies and shipbuilding industries, has asked President Wilson to approve and support these three proposals.

"1. That German and Austrian shipping be given to France to replace her losses ton for ton.

"2. That French ship owners be enabled immediately to buy 1,000,000 tons of ships built in Great Britain and 1,000,000 tons of ships built in America.

"3. That French ship owners be enabled immediately to construct in American shipyards 2,000,000 tons of cargo steamers."

ITALY TAKES ACTION.

The war loss of approximately 1,700,000 gross tons, more than half her fleet as it existed at the beginning of the war seems to have inspired Italy with high ambitions for the future of her merchant marine. She is encouraging shipbuilding and it has been estimated that in three years the Italian merchant fleet will exceed 4,000,000 gross tons.

For the period of the war Japan has not only added strength to her own merchant navy, but has undertaken the building of merchant vessels for foreign account. For 1919 Japan has a program of 191 steamers of 1,159,250 deadweight tons. The maximum capacity of her yards is 1,700,000 deadweight tons.

Germany, Austria and Turkey undoubtedly will have to wait upon adjustment of internal conditions and final peace terms entering upon a program for overseas shipping.

DISCUSSES UNREST.

"The labor situation throughout the world is vibrant," Hurley reports. "Men who have labored under great strain yield their attention more readily to the agitator. The agitators abound. The blight of Bolshevism has been thrown out so that the winds of the earth might waft it everywhere to sap the good strength of humanity. We may count ourselves fortunate that the disruptive forces have gained no more headway. The tendency to disorganization has penetrated the labor unions themselves notably in England, where strikes have been called without the sanction of the selected leader.

"The sober common sense of mankind is asserting itself, however, to rule the situation."

RAINFALL AMPLE FOR IRRIGATION IN 1919 SUMMER

Through the northern and central portions of the state the rainfall during the month of February was considerably above normal, according to a bulletin issued recently by the Wells Fargo Nevada National Bank of San Francisco. The snow pack at the summit of the Sierras is reported to have reached 145 inches, which is twenty-three inches above a twelve-year average. This gives assurance that this section of the state will have ample water for irrigation purposes during the summer. The crop conditions and outlook are reported to be unusually promising. The bulletin says in part:

"The State of California has under way plans for the irrigation of some 250,000 acres covering a territory in Central California between Redding and Sacramento. It is proposed to construct a number of large reservoirs along the Yuba, Feather, American and Bear rivers and along other tributaries of the Sacramento, thereby opening for irrigation purposes a vast acreage of land lying in the foothills and rolling lands away from the big streams. This may also make possible the development of hydro-electric power plants, which should act as a stimulant to industrial operations in that section.

"The carry-over stock of grain and beans is beginning to move slowly since the lifting of the government embargo, but there is still a considerably larger proportion remaining unsold this year than at this time last year. The Bureau of Crop Estimates in a summary of estimates of crops on hand on farms March 1 shows 6,864,000 bushels of barley against 4,698,000 bushels on March 1, 1918, and 2,999,000 bushels on the same date in 1917.

"During January the production of crude oil was increased by the opening of 52 wells with an average daily production of 17,375 barrels. Stocks were increased 256,666 barrels during the month. The total crude oil stocks on hand January 31, 1919, amounted to 32,299,589 barrels, compared with 31,772,165 January 31, 1918, and 32,612,923 barrels December 31, 1918.

"Labor conditions show very little improvement during the month. Differences between employees and employers in the shipyards have not as yet been settled. Shipbuilding plants on both sides of the bay are beginning to cut down the number of workers, and with the return of a large number of soldiers and sailors the problem of keeping all of them employed will be difficult until the season is far enough advanced to demand their services in agricultural districts. This emphasizes the duty of all good citizens to re-employ the men returning from service.

"Wholesale trade in most lines reports a volume of business greater than that for the same period last year. In the retail trade business remains good, but merchants are continuing their policy of buying from hand to mouth.

"Credit conditions are good and collections are reported excellent; money easy for all legitimate requirements."

IRREGULARITY, LOWER PRICES ON WALL STREET

NEW YORK, March 24.—Disturbing foreign advices and tomorrow's holiday combined to effect considerable irregularity at the outset of today's stock market. This was most evident in shares which recently were the center of bullish speculative interests. United States Steel opened with a sale of 2600 shares at 98⅝@98¾ against last Saturday's maximum of 100⅝. Later steel recorded a further reaction, oils, motors and equipments also yielding variably. Trading in rails was exceedingly light, marked firmness being shown by Reading. The trend of the day's trading follows:

FORENOON—Trading was cautious and moderate during the morning, but a better tone developed after the first half hour. This was mainly due to the strength of coppers, which rose 1 to 2 points on an unexpected demand by consumers at materially higher prices. Food shares, such as American Sugar and Wilson Packing also industrial alcohol and Royal Dutch Oil, were strong, but other oils, equipments and the entire steel division denoted further pressure, which relaxed partially at noon. Foreign exchange, especially Italian remittances, continued unsettled.

AFTERNOON—Specialties made further concessions, reacting 2 to 4 points from last week's final price. Steels and sugar also declined and gains in coppers were largely cancelled on news of the lower Anaconda dividend. American International and Sinclair Oil were the active and strong features.

CLOSING—Offerings of steel and shippings caused further reversals among leaders in the last hour. The closing was heavy. Sales approximated 750,000 shares.

LIBERTY BOND PRICES.

NEW YORK, May 24.—Liberty bond closing prices today were: 3½s, 99.00; first 4s, 94.22; second 4s, 93.52; first 4¼s, 94.32; second 4¼s, 93.54; third 4¼s, 95.00; fourth 4¼s, 93.60.

NEW POTATOES ARE EXPECTED IN MARKET SOON

New potatoes are expected to reach the local wholesale market before next Saturday. Santa Clara valley furnished the first early potatoes of the season to the market in this city. Commission merchants, who are in touch with growers, say that their crops are growing nicely and that market shipments of new potatoes will be made in a few days.

Green peas grown in this vicinity will be received in the local wholesale market in a few days. According to reports, a large acreage has been seeded to peas in this county and the crop outlook is promising.

Strawberries grown in the Imperial valley are being offered to commission merchants in this city but owning to high prices and the difficulty of getting berries to this city from that section, no orders have been placed.

Cool weather has retarded the growth of strawberries in this vicinity and it is probable, according to dealers, that local grown strawberries will not be received here before the middle of April. Last year at this time strawberries were being sold in the Oakland markets.

Vegetables, which were also held back for more than two weeks as a result of cool weather, are arriving in larger quantities each day, and the market will soon be well supplied with all varieties of early vegetables. Most varieties are dropping sharply in price.

Citrus fruit prices are again beginning to stiffen. Prices for those fruits have remained almost stationary for three weeks. This morning an advance of 25 cents a box in the price of Sunkist oranges was reported. Lemons, lemonettes and grapefruit are unchanged in price.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, March 24.—Corn showed considerable weakness today, influenced by larger receipts and by fine weather that promised continuance of a more liberal movement. Opening prices, which ranged from 1c to 2⅝c lower, with May $1.43⅞@1.44¼, and July $1.35@1.36, were followed by prices which in some cases amounted to almost a complete recovery.

No. 4 yellow, $1.51@1.52; No. 5 yellow, $1.45@1.50.

Rye—No. 2, $1.70@1.73.

Barley, $1.07@1.15.

Timothy, $7.00@10.00.

Clover, nominal.

Oats were governed by the action of corn. After opening ⅝@¾c down, with May 66⅞@67⅛c, the market scored a decided upturn.

Lower quotations on hogs pulled down provisions. Support was lacking.

Later a sharp advance took place as a result of confirmation of export sales here, the first that have been made in some time. Top prices, though, were not held, something of a setback occurring because of official predictions of cheaper values for foodstuffs. The close was unsettled, ⅛c net lower to a gain of 2c with May $1.47@1.47⅛ and July $1.37⅜@1.37⅞.

The close:

Corn—May, $1.47; July, $1.37⅞.

Oats—May, 68c; July, 66½c.

Pork—May, $45.00; July, $42.00.

Lard—May, $27.90; July, $27.35.

Ribs—May, $24.80; July, $23.77.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK, March 24.—Sentiment in the cotton market today was bearishly influenced by the less favorable political news from abroad. First prices were five to ten points lower on the old styles and four to twelve points lower on the new. The principal support came from brokers, who frequently acted for Japanese houses, their purchases being chiefly for October. At the end of the first twenty minutes the market was about twenty points net lower on new crop conditions.

LIVERPOOL, March 24.—Cotton futures opened quiet. Spot in fair demand. Prices fair. Sales, 3000 bales.

Stock Receipts

CHICAGO, March 24.—Hogs—Receipts, 73,000; market active and 10@15c lower. Bulk, $19.50@19.65; top, $19.75; butchers, heavy, $19.65@19.75; packers, heavy, $18.40@18.90; light, $18.95@19.65; pigs, $16.75@17.50; roughs, $17.25@18.25.

The Waterfront

George Power, a pioneer codfisherman on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, was buried today. He had been ailing for several weeks after his return from Bering sea and died last Friday. Power was a native of Nova Scotia and had lived in East Oakland for several years. During his stay on the Pacific coast he had made many friends, who attended his funeral. They will miss him this season in Alaska waters.

The United States transport Sherman arrived in port yesterday from Manila with the government mine sweepers Colonel Armsted in tow. The mine sweeper left this port March 15 for Honolulu, but ran into heavy weather, and her machinery became disabled, so Captain Green headed for the Golden Gate and sent out a wireless S. O. S., which was answered by the Sherman, which picked her up a short distance off the Golden Gate.

The schooner Zampa arrived in port late last night with some of her crew sick and the craft leaking. The schooner was spoken by a Standard Oil tanker three days ago, 70 miles off the lightship. She came from Apia, and was 62 days on the way. Her cargo consists of 240 tons of copra.

Captain E. R. Sterling, owner of the six-masted barkentine by the same name, will leave here on April 8 for Australia as a passenger on the steamer Ventura. The vessel left here for Australia March 1 in command of Captain E. R. Sterling, Jr., son of the owner, and was reported on March 12 as being 239 miles from this course. Her owner thinks his craft will reach her port before he can get there.

During the past 24 hours 3,367,000 feet of lumber arrived in port from northern ports, and 52,051 sacks of sugar from Honolulu. Several other craft are due from the island ports with sugar and pineapples, which are keeping the refineries at Crockett and South San Francisco working day and night.

The gasoline schooner Anna Porter was wrecked on Destruction island March 20, and the crew was picked up by the steamer Brookfield. The craft is owned by the Sea Beach Packing Company and was en route to Alaska, where she was used during the summer as a cannery tender.

Since the officials of Washington and Oregon have begun the arrest of all of the crews of vessels which have liquor aboard, the marine insurance companies have taken a hand in the fight, while the law calls for a certain number of the crew to be aboard at all times while steam is up to protect the vessel and cargo from fire and other mishaps.

Change of masters registered at the U. S. Custom House: Captain C. B. Sorley, steamer J. A. Moffett; Captain J. R. Granman, steamer Carmel; Captain Alexandra McKenzie, steamer San Pedro; Captain P. Stanbourg, steamer E. Antoni; Captain C. B. Armstrong, ship Monongahela.

Certificates of graduation from the Public Evening Navigation School were given last night to the following: Emmett B. Kirby, Lloyd D. Jacot, Henry F. Shelley, Casimir David, Jr., Arnold Grunigen, David H. Zimet. Several of these young men have already secured positions as cadet with the Pacific Mail S. S. Co. A new class in navigation will be organized at 7:15 this evening, in the class room at the Ferry building. Tuition is free.

LOCAL NOTICE TO MARINERS.

Suisun Bay—North channel gas buoy 1, to be established about April 1, 1919, to show a flashing white light every five seconds, flash one second duration, of 20-candlepower, eight feet above water, in lieu of North channel buoy 1, which will then be discontinued.

Roa Island East End buoy 2, and North middle ground buoy 1, to be discontinued on the same date.

DECREASE IN LIGHT RATES IS INDICATED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—A decrease in light and power rates to the extent of the present 10 per cent surcharge allowed by the State Railroad Commission last June to the Great Western Power Company and the Pacific Gas and Electric Company is believed to be indicated by a subpoena served on both companies to show cause on April 29 why this surcharge should not be reduced or entirely removed.

It is believed that unless these utilities are able to show that there is a continuance of the abnormal conditions which led to the creation of the surcharge which was in effect a 10 per cent increase in their rates, and made by the railroad commission solely as a means of enabling these light and power companies to function efficiently during war time a readjustment of charges will be ordered.

The April 29 hearing will be before Commissioner Frank R. Devlin and Edgar O. Edgerton, according to the order which was signed by the board enbanc. The City Electric Company, a subsidiary corporation to the Great Western, is included. The decision which authorized the increase to the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, permitted a surcharge or increase of 1 cent a kilowat hour on all energy used for lighting purposes and a surcharge of .2 per cent kilowat on all electricity sold for power purposes. Ten per cent was added to all municipal, state and county light and power bills. It was estimated that this would add $2,000,000 to the company's annual revenue, but would yield, because of the enormous increase in operation, a net income $500,000 less than that of 1916.

The same increases with orders to remove all discrimination applied to the Great Western Power and City Electric Company and gave them an added revenue of approximately $800,000, a part of which, however, the commission last June ordered used as depreciation reserve.

M'LAREN PARTY IN ROCK SLIDE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—Superintendent of Parks John McLaren and a party of five friends riding in the superintendent's automobile and a tiny child in a perambulator narrowly escaped being crushed to death when an avalanche of large bowlders and earth rushed down the face of the cliff from Sutro heights into the Great Highway, two hundred feet south of the Cliff House.

Mounted Policeman Arthur J. Dolan, who was close by, saw the earth giving way and shouted to Edward Smith, chauffeur for McLaren. Just as the policeman cried out the warning, a huge bowler, about the size of a piano box, came tumbling down, headed directly for McLaren's machine.

Smith, the chauffeur, put on a burst of speed and the bowlder missed the automobile and passengers by a scant two feet.

The baby in the perambulator was snatched from certain death by its father, who was accompanying two other small children. Hearing Dolan's warning, the father picked up the baby carriage containing the infant, and shoving the other two children in front of him, ran for safety. The father and children barely escaped being crushed to death.

Adolph Judell, commissioner of the Board of Public Works, was driving an automobile directly behind the machine containing McLaren. He, too, took advantage of Policeman Dolan's warning, and quickly reversing his car, got out of the path of the avalanche of earth and bowlders.

News of the Churches

Sunday was the most interesting day that the Presbyterian churches of the Eastbay section have had for many years. In conjunction with 10,000 Presbyterian churches throughout the United States an effort was made to raise $39,000,000 in three hours, or $13,000,000 per hour from 2 o'clock to 5. Of this immense sum $25,000,000 will be for the current expenses of the churches during the year. The balance is for education and "over seas work," once called foreign missions, but now no nation is considered foreign.

The San Francisco and Eastbay churches report record-breaking subscriptions and all expect to go over the top, when the returns are all in.

St. James' church, High street church and Richmond church have already exceeded their quotas. The Chinese church, with only 125 members, raised $2000. The larger churches require more time to tabulate results.

The Welsh Presbyterian church reports encouraging progress with many yet to hear from.

From the Brooklyn church 44 people went out on the canvass for the budget of $10,000. They already have $9000 in sight and have over a hundred people to see, whom they missed yesterday. The still larger amounts raised by the First church of Oakland, First church of Berkeley and the main San Francisco churches cannot be reported before the end of this week.

Rev. Frank M. Silsley speaking last night at the First Presbyterian church on "Saving Oaklanders from the Grievous Wolves of the Times," said: "Call the social wolf by whatever polite name you wish, whether smooth artist or charming sinner, the social wolf is making raw-meat of the character and reputation of many persons in this city. That man who was so friendly and kind to the young man downtown turned out to be a wolf leading him astray. That young woman who thrilled the young men by expressing preference for hitting the high spots turned out to be a social wolf to destroy his character. And in the places where the goblets click and the waves of insinuating music sweep, there is the social wolf operating. The hypodermic jabber of young girls on street cars is a wolf. There are even social events in some private homes where the form of entertainment is dominated by the ideals of the wolf. We condemn harshly young people who go wrong. We thrust them as branded outside the pale of respectable society. We turn haughty heads away from them as we pass them, but stop! They are simply the victims of that form of social life where the wolf dominates. Theer is some super crust society that at heart is not much better than lower-crust society, save in veneering. Prophets who are grandstanders would say that current social life is all right but prophets with moral vision call upon society to cast out the grievous wolf which is destroying souls by exalting accommodated ideals of life. There is the wolf of radicalism. It is bomb-throwing and terrorizing in its spirit. Forms of radicalism that are un-American and inhuman and infidel and should be restrained and prohibited. The martyrdom of the noble-patriotic woman of this city who served America during the war is a call for the coast cities to stop heroically the ravages of the wolf of radicalism."

FIRST CHRISTIAN.

Rev. H. A. Van Winkle preached Sunday morning on "Dwarfs," preparatory to the canvass of the afternoon in behalf of the Sunday school. He said few people were born bad. Some part of their education had been neglected and half of the Sunday school. He said few Bible should be taught in the public schools but inasmuch as it is not, the responsibility is all the greater on the part of the Sunday school. Some parents are not fitted to teach spiritual truths. This defect is also to be remedied by the Sunday school, which is not only to give a knowledge of the Bible but give it in such an inviting way as to induce people to practice its principles.

After a box luncheon in the church parlors at noon, a large number of men and women canvassed Oakland for Sunday school scholars and greatly enlarged the enrollment of the school.

CATHOLIC CHURCH.

Rev. Edward P. Dempsey delivered the sermon at St. Mary's Catholic church at Eighth and Jefferson streets, on the theme "Socialism of This Day." He laid particular emphasis on unionism and favored it, but declared that too much radicalism was being allowed to creep into the ranks.

He impressed upon the union men the necessity of taking a hand in union affairs and endeavoring to see that fairness prevailed.

UNITARIAN CHURCH.

Mills College had charge of the services at the Unitarian church Sunday evening. A vested choir of 24 of the college girls rendered the song service. Miss Helen Rich, Miss Lotta Harris and Miss Chambers rendered special selections. An interesting address was delivered by Aurelia H. Reinhardt, president of the college on the topic, "Con-[illegible]

SALVATION ARMY.

Special services were held in the Salvation Army hall, 533 Ninth street, Sunday evening.

Colonel Nurani and Brigadier Unbl, who have been missionaries in India for about 35 years, spoke on "Salvation Army Work Among the Tribes of India."

Colonel and Mrs. Henry C. Lee, provincial officers for California, and Brigadier and Mrs. Merriweather and a number of other officers were present on this occasion.

Adjutant and Mrs. Cozens were the officers in charge.

Community Service to Aid in Program

The War Camp Community Service has been invited to cooperate in the musical program of the famous Easter sunrise service on Mount Rubidoux, at Riverside, April 20.

Men who have returned from the service will be the special guests of honor at this service.

Marcella Craft, famous American soprano, will be the soloist, and the choral work will be directed by Alexander Stewart, district representative of community singing for the Western division of the War Camp Community Service.

Special permission for Stewart's services has been granted by Dr. O. F. Lewis of New York, national director of the community singing division of the War Camp Community Service.

As many as 20,000 people have attended one of these Easter services, and this year the attendance is expected to break all records.

Preparatory to the Easter service Stewart will conduct two community sings at Riverside under the auspices of the Riverside branch of the War Camp Community Service.

SCHOOL FUND TRANSFER URGED

The Board of Supervisors this morning passed a resolution recommending that the state legislature "take whatever steps are necessary" in relieving the situation in Oakland regarding the deficit in the teachers' salary fund. The resolution was passed after a conference between the board and Superintendent of Schools Fred M. Hunter and Floyd Gray, member of the Oakland school board.

The school board has recently endeavored to obtain the authority to transfer $100,000 now in the building fund to what is known as the maintenance fund, from which the teachers' salaries are paid.

According to the school board, the recent great increase in the population of the city has necessitated an increase of teachers to care for the increased number of pupils.

TO HEAR CANDIDATES.

The East End Civic center, of which Mrs. M. B. Flattery is president will hold a political meeting tomorrow evening in the auditorium of Lockwood School, at which all candidates for the office of mayor and auditor will be given an opportunity to speak.

MRS. ROBIE ON GRILL IN LEAGUE CASE

"If Mrs. Alyce F. Rogers, or Robie, call her what you will, went to Los Angeles for the National Defense League with nothing but her nerve, she was fully equipped," said United States Attorney Annette A. Adams in summing up the opening argument for the government in the case of Mrs. Rogers, Mason L. Williams and Major John B. Jeffery who, with John L. Suits, are charged with diverting the funds of the Defense League. The case, after a four weeks' trial will go to the jury in San Francisco today.

Mrs. Rogers bore the brunt of the federal prosecutor's attack at the morning session, Mrs. Adams making frequent reference to the Oakland Hotel, "base hospital benefit" which was stopped by the police and the letters written by Mrs. Rogers, while secretary of the league in Los Angeles to Suits. Suits pleaded guilty on the first day of the trial.

CHANGE OF NAME.

Mrs. Adams said: "She was Robie in Oakland and San Francisco and when she got into trouble in Oakland July 27, 1917, and went to Los Angeles, early the following month, she became Rogers, and offers in explanation for this change, the opportune letter from her second husband 'that he intended to marry again and did not wish there to be two Mrs. Robies' and again in these letters to Suits she has made no explanation of such phrases as these, except to call them Orpheum-time comedy. What does she mean by 'saw Chamber of Commerce heads and moved into their pockets'; again, 'am here with a pick and shovel to see the big culls and get the money,' also 'you can trust my discretion to find a way of securing the bacon.'"

SUMMED UP.

A summing up of the case against Williams and John B. Jeffery brought a reference to Frank Albert, of the Albers Milling Company, whom Major Jeffery told he was not receiving a commission for soliciting subscriptions to the League, yet who testified he was being paid a salary of $10 a day. In this connection Mrs. Adams said:

"Major Jeffery's method of soliciting Mr. Albers smacked of intimidation, when he said, 'We are investigating Germans and can, of course, make favorable reports to the Department of Justice.'"

Williams was designated as the office boy of Suits. Mrs. Adams branded as an almost probable forgery his authorization signed by Col. W. C. Alberger, secretary of the League, to sign checks permitting him to draw the League's funds from an account carried in the League's name in the Merchants' National Bank.

"There was only one authorized depositor. That was in the First National Bank. The Merchants' National Bank was maintained for the 'secret account' which was split or cut from time between Suits, Jeffery and Williams. Even the money taken at Los Angeles by Mrs. Rogers was removed without the knowledge of the League's offices there, and half of it placed in the secret account and from the balance, Mrs. Rogers and Suits were given large checks for 'legitimate expense.'"

OAKLAND MAN ROBBED.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—Louis D. Pegenet, 1224 Broadway, Oakland, reported to the police that he had been robbed of a watch and $20 while spending the night with two friends in the Royal House, 280 O'Farrell street.

Ruth Garrison, Confessed Slayer, "Needs Spanking"

RUTH GARRISON, 18-year-old Seattle girl who is charged with poisoning wife of man she wanted to marry.

Young Girl Trying Hard to Be Brave and Keep Up Her Nerve

By ANN ANONSOL.

SEATTLE, March 24.—After talking to Ruth Garrison for an hour and a half I made up my mind that if I were handling the case, I'd spank her and send her back to school.

After that, I'd turn the full course of the law on Storrs, the man for whom one woman has given her life and another has given, perhaps a sweeter thing, her girlhood and her freedom.

Ruth Garrison is a mere youngster, trying hard to be plucky and brave and to keep her "nerve."

"People think I am hard-hearted and cold," she said to me with a quiver of her chin, "just because I don't break down and cry. I can't let go, or I should go crazy. I don't dare let go for one minute."

When I first saw Ruth she had just come out from an interview with an old friend of her family. She was evidently shaken and her eyes showed distinct signs of tears. She dropped into a Morris chair in the jail matron's room and wearily closed her eyes.

Though only a very few tears squeezed through her tightly closed lids, her body was racked with sobs. But her composure came almost as quickly as her crying had done. She wiped her eyes and smoothed back her hair.

"I feel—oh, I don't know how I feel," said the 18-year-old confessed slayer. "It's all so strange—like a bad dream that I would wake out of and find everything was all right again. I told my sister yesterday that I felt like a perfect baby, starting all over again."

"Ruth, didn't you ever stop to think that morning of what the consequences would be?"

"No, I didn't have time to think," she replied. "It just popped into my head and it all happened before I had a single minute to think of a thing. It was all so rapid, I never thought of a thing but carrying it through.

"Has he really arrived in town," she asked me.

I told her that he had, and so mutely did her eyes appeal for more news of him, that I added that he had asked to see her but that they would not let him.

"If you had the thing to do all over again, Ruth, do you think you would do the same thing?" I asked her, in an endeavor to have her say she was sorry.

"Good gracious, I should say not. Mercy, No!" she said, most vehemently.

She was just the bad girl, who had broken her own doll because she couldn't get his dress to go on when she wanted it to.

MAKES UP OWN ROOM.

When her friend had arrived before me, Ruth had been in the midst of cleaning her room, which is a little round room in the western corner. She and I went together into this room, and she made up her bed with clean sheets.

Since Eve made her first bed, she put the pillow in her mouth when she pulled on the clean slip. Ruth, however, tried to tuck the pillow under her arm pits and pull the slip on at the same time—rather a mean co-ed-fully. I offered to hold the pillow for her.

"I don't like to put that pillow in my mouth," she explained.

A malted milk, which she drank last night, was the only food she had taken up to noon today.

"I just can't force the food down my

PHILIPPINE GUESTS COME FOR LUNCHEON

Members of the Commission on Philippine Affairs, which arrived in San Francisco yesterday, will be guests at a luncheon to be given in their honor in the main dining room of the Hotel Oakland tomorrow by the Oakland Advertising Club and the Chamber of Commerce. As the occasion falls on the regular luncheon day of the club, it was decided to make the reception a joint affair.

The commission, which is touring the United States for the purpose of studying social, industrial and educational development, will be met in San Francisco tomorro wforenoon by a committee representing the Oakland Chamber of Commerce and escorted to this city.

After the luncheon the visitors will be taken by representatives of the Chamber of Commerce in automobiles for a trip through Oakland, Piedmont and Berkeley. At 3 o'clock the distinguished guests will be accompanied to the University of California, where the officials of the university have arranged for their reception.

ARRIVE IN SAN FRANCISCO.

The mission sent to the United States by the Philippine Independence Commission, numbering about fifty men, arrived in San Francisco late yesterday aboard the United States Transport Sherman. Although their purpose in coming here is primarily to lay the foundation for Philippine autonomy, the members of the commission were not free to go express, and declared that their coming is for the purpose of furthering the co-operation of this country in industrial expansion and to convey to the United States assurance of the confidence and esteem of the Philippine people. They claimed the distinction of being the first people to pay their respects to Uncle Sam under the new world order.

Among the members of the mission are many who were educated in the United States and their arrival in San Francisco was to them much in the nature of a home-coming. As the transport steamed into port these members pointed out enthusiastically to their colleagues the landmarks.

TRADE WITH LOCAL PORT.

To all the members of the mission the cities of the San Francisco bay are better known than any other American cities, by reason of the fact that San Francisco bay is the port through which flows the great and increasing trade with the Philippines. As the years go by and this trade increases, members of the mission declared, these cities will become still better known in that country, and ever nearer and nearer as the means of transportation are improved.

The Sherman halted briefly in the bay when a government launch puffed alongside bearing a distinguished committee of federal and city representatives selected to receive these "accidentals of the Orient," as the Filipinos are becoming known. The mission was escorted on board the launch, which steamed to the landing in the Ferry Building, where the mayor, a civic delegation and a committee representing the Chamber of Commerce met the visitors and conducted them to the Hotel St. Francis.

The purpose of the visit to the United States is explained as follows by Rafael Palma, secretary of the Interior in the Philippine Cabinet:

It will also have for its object the establishment of such relations between America and the Philippine Islands as will render firm and stable the mutual understanding and confidence which exist between them, and to place their mutual commercial relations upon broad and everlasting foundations.

Two Ships Sink After Collision; Crews Are Saved

The schooner Kitsap, formerly Alameda-owned, on her way from Honolulu to another port to load a cargo for this port, was in collision with the steamer Wailele off the island of Maui, both ships sinking, according to a cablegram from Honolulu today. No particulars of the disaster were given. The crews, however, are reported saved.

The Wailele was a wooden steamer, 515 tons register, built at Fairhaven, California, fifteen years ago. She was owned by the Inter Island Navigation Company of Honolulu and used as a passenger and freight steamer among the islands.

The Kitsap was built at North Bend, Oregon, and was formerly owned and operated in this port. She was the former barkentine Gardiner City. She was rigged as a barge some time ago. The Port Blakeley Mill Company purchased her and re-rigged her as a schooner. A cargo of 550,000 feet of lumber was carried on her last trip from Puget Sound to Honolulu, where she arrived on March 9.

MANY ORIENTALS ENTERING U. S.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—The fact that three to four Japanese manage to reach shore from every vessel arriving at this port from the Orient with Japanese crews was brought to light by the capture of a Japanese firemen who attempted to swim from the Korea Maru on Saturday night. The government, by letters seized from his person, has come into possession of information concerning a plot to smuggle Orientals into this country.

Two Japanese were seen to leave the Korea by means of the hawser by a watchman on the pier. He gave the alarm. Two customs men and other watchmen manned a boat and started in pursuit. One Japanese was dragged into the rowboat. The other is believed to have been drowned.

Letters addressed to Japanese here asking shelter until he could be sent to Vancouver were found on the man taken prisoner.

OPENING DAY OF SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

Today is the first of the seven days' campaign in Oakland for a fund of $20,000 to carry on the Salvation Army work in the Eastbay district. The feature of the day was a huge mass-meeting at Ye Liberty Theater this morning with Mrs. R. C. Young, who heads the women workers, in charge.

An extended program was given. Among the features were addresses by Miss Auda Due, leading lady of Ye Liberty Theater, and others, a solo by Signor Aressoni, accompanied by Clarence Reynolds from the T. and D. Theater, and an outline of the campaign by Brigadier Stilwell of the Salvation Army.

The members of the women's army have undertaken to bring the campaign to the attention of the Oakland householders and Mrs. R. C. Young, the commander, announced yesterday the following assignments: Hill district, Adams Point and Lower Piedmont, Mrs. Careline H. Hill; North Oakland, Miss Bessie J. Wood; Central Oakland, from the bay to the lake, Mrs. Thomas P. Hogan; Piedmont, Mrs. A. W. Foshay; annexed district, Mrs. C. E. Wilson; East Oakland, Mrs. W. E. Gibson; cooperating, Mrs. Newton Rose, Mrs. C. R. Armstrong, Mrs. Charles D. Haines.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION.

Urging support of the Salvation Army Drive is urged on the people of Oakland by Mayor John L. Davie in the following proclamation:

"Oakland, California.
"March 24, 1919.

"To the People of Oakland—

"Throughout our country the week March 24 to 31 has been set aside for the purpose of raising funds to aid the Salvation Army and their well-known work.

"If there ever was a doubt in the minds of our people as to the sincerity, bravery and excellent purpose of this organization, it has certainly been thrown aside since the boys returning from the front have related the thrilling stories of the great good the Salvation Army has done 'over there.' Upon the very front line trenches and every place where the soldiers were called upon to serve, the representatives of the Salvation Army were there rendering aid under the very shell fire which killed our boys and many of the Salvation Army workers also.

"This noble service in the great war has awakened a keen spirit in America in support of this organization, which has been engaged in humanitarian work throughout our country and whose purpose is to serve in peace as well as in war. In the back alleys and slums of our large centers of population this organization takes an interest in the unfortunates about whom no one else is particularly concerned.

"In recognition of their great service to our boys, who are strong in their praise of the Salvation Army, and also realizing the great opportunity for their continued humanitarian efforts in the reconstruction period, the people of this country will undoubtedly come forward willingly to help this cause.

"As mayor of the city of Oakland, I respectfully call upon the people of this city to aid in this drive, which will be in no way a gift or compensation for services rendered by the Salvation Army, but rather a stronger fortification for them to go forward and continue the noble wrok which has placed them at the head of humanitarian organizations.

"Yours very truly,
"JOHN L. DAVIE, Mayor."

Everett Ames Is Pneumonia Victim

Everett Ames, well known business man of Portland, Oregon, died early Sunday morning from pneumonia, after a week's illness. Ames was a member of the San Francisco firm of Ames, Harris & Merrill and for the past ten years he had been manager of the Portland branch of the business. Everett Ames, son of Mrs. J. P. Ames of Oakland and the late J. P. Ames, lived in Oakland until ten years ago. He was a graduate of the University of California. In 1902 he married Miss Lulu Everett of Oakland. After the entrance of the United States into war, Ames gave most of his time to war work—having charge of Liberty loan drives for Portland. He is survived by his widow Lulu Everett Ames, two sons, Everett and James; his mother, Mrs. J. P. Ames of Oakland; two brothers, James P and Fletcher Ames, and a sister, Elsa Ames.

Five Months Are Devoted to Plans For His Suicide

BERKELEY, March 24.—After planning his suicide in minute detail for more than five months, O. E. Roadhouse, former mining engineer of Nevada, took his life yesterday at his home, 1913 Home street, by inhaling gas.

In his room was found a letter written last October in which he expressed his intention of ending his life. The farewell missive was addressed to "my dear sister, cousins, mother, friends, wife and sweethearts," with a half page or more devoted to the various persons whom he wished to remember.

Ill health and marital troubles are believed to have caused Roadhouse to end his life. He was divorced some months ago, his former wife residing in San Francisco.

Roadhouse was 39 years old and had resided in Berkeley for the past three months. His body was found last evening by Alex McKesson, owner of the house where Roadhouse roomed, after the odor of escaping gas had filled the home.

INTERVENTION IN SIBERIA IS URGED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—Recently associated with the Czecho-Slovak command in Russia, General Robert C. Paris of the French army arrived in this city yesterday on his way home to urge immediate allied intervention in Siberia. The general is accompanied by his aid, Lieutenant Jean Dubos.

Unless the entente powers send sufficient forces into Siberia at once, the Bolshevik will overwhelm that country, thereby giving Germany an unshakable grip on Russia, General Paris declared. He said the Czechs, having lost half their strength, and worn and without support, were withdrawing, leaving Siberia helpless. Conditions were growing steadily worse when the general left.

In the opinion of the French officer, the allies can decide the fate of Russia. Ten divisions, he said, could reach Moscow through Siberia and re-establish order in that country.

General Paris pictured an appalling state of political and industrial unrest in Russia. Because of the reign of terror under Trotzky and Lenine, the country is in a turmoil, he said. Peasants are hesitating to sow any more grain than they themselves need, as they fear its seizure by the Bolshevik. Owing to the shortage of seed grain, which has been used for food, Russia will be almost without crops in 1919, and this condition will extend into 1920, even if the country is restored to peace, according to the general.

COAST WILL SEEK RAIL REDUCTIONS

The trans-continental rail rate situation which has prompted some shippers in the bay section to announce that they will withdraw their interests to the Atlantic unless the rates are substantially reduced, is to be discussed at a meeting of shipping, ship brokerage and banking interests in San Francisco in the next two days. Similar discussions are to be held in Seattle, Portland, Tacoma and Los Angeles, which also are affected by the present situation, it was announced.

The shippers are endeavoring to secure a reduction to the pre-war basis of the trans-continental rates on eighty-eight different commodities, shipping men here announced. According to an executive of the Anglo-Oriental Steamship Company, the situation has brought about a congestion of 150,000 tons of freight at the port of New York, while freight shipping from Pacific Coast points to the Orient practically is at a standstill.

Representatives of all of the cities affected are in conference with the railroad administration in Washington and will remain until a promised new schedule of rates is announced. If this is unsatisfactory, they will file a written protest with the administration.
